2. Revenue and Cesses due to Government.—The total amount of revenue and cesses, arrear and current, due to Government from the estates under Board's management was Rs. 52,02,377, of which Rs. 51,57,758 was paid and Rs. 355 remitted, leaving a balance of Rs. 44,264. The greater part of the balance, namely Rs. 28,107, was due from the Pachete estate in Manbhum; in the previous year a sum of Rs. 28,108 had been left outstanding in the same way; but both sums were paid up after the close of the year in which they fell due. Rupees 1,673 remained due from the Malighati estate in Midnapore, which was unable to realize its rents in full on account of the failure of the harvests; but the estate is solvent and its resources are ample for requirements during the current year, and it was consequently not thought advisable to break in upon the reserve of Government securities which the estate possesses, in order to meet the Government demand. Rupees 4,210 due from the Patkum estate, which was taken in charge during the year, could not be paid on account of litigation which impeded collections. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board that, considering the general shortness of crops, the balances remaining unpaid were not unduly heavy.

3. Rent and Cesses due to superior landlords.—The current demand of rents and cesses due to superior landlords from estates that were under the Board's management throughout the year amounted to Rs. 3,19,973 and the arrear demand was Rs. 58,376, making a total of Rs. 3,78,349. Rupees 3,15,304 were paid on account of both current and arrear demand and Rs. 576 remitted, leaving a balance of Rs. 62,469, the payments being 98·5 per cent. of the current and 83·3 per cent. of the gross demand, against 101·5 and 85·7 per cent. respectively in the preceding year. As in previous years, the greater portion of the balance, that is, Rs. 39,774, was due from the Satkhira estate. Of this amount, Rs. 9,157, which was due as rent of patni taluks held in co-parcenary, was not paid, as the co-sharers in the taluks did not pay their share before the sale day, and about Rs. 10,000 is due to a number of landlords, against most of whom the estate has counter-claims as under-tenants, and who do not attend either to receive payments or to adjust their accounts. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that the settlement of the accounts of this estate will be soon completed. In the Paigambarpur estate in Darbhanga, owing to want of funds, no money could be paid to superior landlords, and the outstanding balance amounted to Rs. 7,475 at the close of the year. In this estate the failure of the crops was very great, and out of a total demand of Rs. 1,43,617, both arrear and current, only Rs. 24,410 was collected during the year.

4. Collections of rents and cesses.—The following statement shows the demand, collections, and balances of rent and cesses due to the estates during the five years ending 1896-97:—

Year.	Demand.			Collections.			Percentage of—		Remissions.	Balances.
	Arrear.	Current.	Total.	Arrear.	Current.	Total.	Current collections on current demand.	Total collection on current demand.

Though the percentage of total collections of rents and cesses on the current demand during the year under report was slightly better than in the previous year, being 95·5 against 95·3, the results were worse than in any of the preceding years, relatively to the entire demand. The percentage of current collections on the current demand for all estates was only 61·9 per cent. and for estates in charge throughout the year 65 per cent. In the Presidency Division only 44·6 per cent. of the current demand was collected. Among the 22 estates having a rent-roll of over Rs. 50,000, the Government standard of 90 per cent. was attained only in the Magan Das Rai estate in Chittagong, where 93·9 per cent. of the current demand was collected. The proportion of current collections to current demand in the Paigambarpur estate in Darbhanga was 25·4 per cent., in the Kasimbazar estate in Murshidabad, 33·7 per cent., in the Chandra Kumar estate in Shahabad, 35·2 per cent., and in the Satkhira estate 37·2 per cent. The Lieutenant-Governor, however, agrees with the Board in thinking that no blame should be imputed to the local officers concerned in view of the unfavourable agricultural conditions of the year. His Honour observes that in districts in which there was the most serious failure of crops, proper leniency was shown in the collection of rents, while in those in which the failure was not so great and the tenants having received high prices for their produce were able to pay their rents, payment was so far as possible insisted on.

The balances of rent and cesses due to the estates amounted altogether to Rs. 68,26,546 against Rs. 60,04,245 in the previous year. The increase of Rs. 8,22,301 in the balance is chiefly in the Patna Division for estates which were under management for part of the year, the balances in the Hatwa estate alone amounting to Rs. 9,89,143. The Lieutenant-Governor has observed with pleasure that the balances in estates which were under the Board's management for the whole year have decreased from Rs. 56,72,007 to Rs. 54,15,243, the decrease being mainly due to the remissions granted during the year, which amounted to Rs. 4,00,845. Nearly 11½ lakhs of the balance have been collected since the close of the year, chiefly in the Burdwan, Syudpur, and Khagra estates.

As has been stated above, the Board have added a new Appendix III to their report showing a classification of the balances of the estates in which the arrear is more than 25 per cent. of the current demand. The occurrence of a general scarcity has considerably retarded the scrutiny of accounts and the realization of arrears, but the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that the orders of Government on these matters have not been overlooked; and will await the report promised by the Board on the steps taken by the managers of the estates in question to carry out these orders. In the meantime His Honour notices, from a perusal of the Appendix now submitted, that the balances may in many cases be considerably reduced, and in some cases wiped out altogether by the remission of the amounts which are entered as either legally inadmissible or as irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the tenants or to some other adequate cause. Thus in the Burdwan Division the Malighati estate shows a balance of Rs. 37,395, of which Rs. 20,916 is reported to be impossible of realization, though legally recoverable, and claims to Rs. 3,002 are either barred by limitation or legally indefensible. In the case of the Satkhira estate in the Presidency Division, Rs. 64,277 out of a balance of Rs. 2,34,711 is shown as irrecoverable on account of the poverty of the tenants, while their objections to the payment of Rs. 3,963 are reported to be valid. In the Rajshahi Division, the Sankarpur estate shows a balance of Rs. 26,601, the whole of which is said to be impossible of realization because of the poverty of the tenants. The Tikari estate in the Patna Division has a balance of Rs. 4,96,431, of which Rs. 1,62,115 is reported to be irrecoverable owing to the poverty of the tenants and Rs. 3,627 to be barred by limitation, while for a sum of Rs. 71,263, which is claimed as an arrear due, the tenants are not legally liable. The Chandra Kumar estate in the same Division has a balance of Rs. 81,313, of which Rs. 10,245 is barred by limitation and Rs. 27,035 is irrecoverable on account of the poverty of the tenants. The Hatwa estate, which came under the management of the Court of Wards during the year under report, shows a balance of Rs. 9,89,143, or more than twice the current demand of Rs. 4,20,703. It is reported that the tenants deny their liability to pay Rs. 1,71,566, and that their objections are valid in respect to Rs. 1,68,911, and invalid in respect to Rs. 2,655, and that a sum of Rs. 8,17,577 is legally recoverable from the tenants, who are able to pay. In the Shewhur estate, which shows a balance of Rs. 60,141, more than one-sixth of the amount is barred by limitation. In the Sukraj Rai estate in the Bhagalpur Division more than one quarter of the balance is shown as either barred by limitation or otherwise irrecoverable according to law. There are eight estates under the Board's management in the district of Palamau. In the case of six of these estates the entire balances are shown to be irrecoverable on account of the poverty of the tenantsor other adequate causes, and in regard to a seventh estate, Majhiawan, Rs. 1,732 out of a balance of Rs. 1,846 is stated to be irrecoverable for similar reasons.

5. Debts due by estates.—The debts due by estates which were under the Board's management for the entire year amounted at the commencement of the year to Rs. 32,19,267. Additional liabilities to the extent of Rs. 2,41,631 were ascertained or incurred during the year and added to the original debts, making a total of Rs. 34,60,898. The payments amounted to Rs. 3,11,850, and there was a further reduction of Rs. 671 by compromise, leaving a balance of Rs. 31,48,377 outstanding at the close of the year. The total amount of debts due by estates taken in charge or released was Rs. 9,48,560, of which Rs. 3,39,798 was paid, and Rs. 11,439 reduced by compromise, leaving a balance of Rs. 5,97,323. The increase in the amount of debts due by these estates is due mainly to the heavy encumbrances, amounting to over three lakhs, on the Nawada estate which was taken in charge during the year.

6. Management charges and rates.—The cost of management, excluding the cost of construction and repairs of office buildings, during the year under report was 8·1 per cent. of the total current demand for rent and cesses, against 7·8 per cent. in 1895-96. As in previous years, the percentage is highest in the Orissa Division, being 17·1 against 13·9 per cent. in 1895-96, the increase being chiefly in the Kanika estate and due to the payment of the arrear salaries of the collecting staff for 17 months from October 1895. It is not explained why these arrears had been allowed to accumulate. In the Burdwan Division the percentage is low, owing to the fact that the Burdwan Raj estate collects the greater portion of its large demand under the patni system ; in the year under review it was 3·8 per cent. The percentage in the Patna Division was very high, being 16·3 against 13·9 in the previous year. The increase appears to be due to the payment to the collecting staff of the Tikari estate of the commission of previous years. For estates that were under the Board's management for a part of the year, the management charges were very high, the percentage being 18·1 against 4·8 in 1895-96. The marked variations in the percentage of the cost of management in different Divisions are attributed by the Board to corresponding variations in local circumstances and peculiarities. The Lieutenant-Governor is, however, glad to note that the Board intend to ask the Commissioners to carefully scrutinise the budgets and schemes of the estates under their management, so as to secure, if possible, reduction and greater uniformity in the management charges.

The amount estimated as being required from all estates on account of the management rate under Act X of 1892 was Rs. 1,53,700, and there was an estimated deficit of Rs. 7,279 at the close of the previous year. In order to make good this deficit, it was found necessary to raise the rate payable by estates with incomes of not more than 5 lakhs of rupees from $2\frac{3}{4}$ to $2\frac{7}{8}$ per cent. on collections. Nevertheless the result was still a deficit of Rs. 21,314, partly on account of an increase in the charges in Government offices, but chiefly because the gross receipts from all estates, which form the basis on which the rate is assessed, fell short of the estimated collections by over three lakhs of rupees. The arrear demand at the close of the year was Rs. 35,307. The greater portion of the balance has been recovered since the close of the year. Under the rules framed under Act X of 1892, the rate is payable half-yearly in advance, so that if the rules had been strictly observed, there would have been no arrears.

The rate for the professional audit of accounts of estates with annual rent and cess demands of Rs. 50,000 and upwards was fixed in 1896-97 on the same scale as in the previous year. The demand on account of this rate was Rs. 20,230, but the actual charges were Rs. 16,615, leaving a surplus of Rs. 3,615 on the year's operations, besides a surplus of Rs. 321 left at the close of 1895-96.

It was pointed out in last year's Resolution that it was doubtful whether the practice of carrying on a running account of the rates from year to year was correct, as when some estates are released and others taken in charge, balances due to the former on account of advance realizations swell the credit of the remaining estates. The Board's attention is again invited to this point.

7. The following statement shows the expenditure during the last five years on the various descriptions of improvements:—

Year.	Subscriptions and donations to schools.	Subscriptions and donations to dispensaries	Maintenance in efficient condition of estates buildings, and other immoveable property.	Improvement of land and property and benefit of ward.	Survey and settlements.	Total.

1896-97	52,941	44,700	3,80,093	1,78,152	1,13,114	7,78,000
1895-96	52,306	38,699	4,11,238	1,85,880	1,69,240	8,55,363
1894-95	50,217	38,504	1,64,808	1,43,208	1,64,705	5,65,502
1892-93	64,050	30,524	2,16,870	1,57,782	97,104	5,72,329

The total expenditure on all heads of improvements, inclusive of that on surveys and settlements, shows a decrease of Rs. 77,263 as compared with the previous year. The decrease is chiefly due to a decreased outlay on buildings as well as on survey and settlements. The expenditure under the head of improvement of land and property also shows a decrease of Rs. 5,728. A comparative statement showing the expenditure under this head in the different

Divisions during the year under report, as well as in the previous year, is given below :—

Division	Expenditure on account of improvement of property during 1895-96.	Expenditure on account of improvement of property during 1896-97.
	Rs.	Rs.
Burdwan	25,488	36,290
Presidency	42,517	35,131
Rajshahi	5,034	9,192
Dacca	8,744	4,056
Chittagong	8,780	12,588
Patna	59,611	27,825
Bhagalpur	8 918	20,189
Orissa	14,031	22,849
Chota Nagpur	10,757	10,032
Total ...	1,83,880	1,78,152

There has been an increase in five Divisions, namely, Burdwan, Rajshahi, Chittagong, Bhagalpur and Orissa. In the Patna Division there is a very large decrease, which is reported to be due to a much smaller sum having been spent on gi'andazi works by the Tikari estate during the year under report as compared with that expended in the previous year. The total outlay in all the estates under this head during the year was Rs. 1,78,152, or 1·85 per cent. on the current rent and cess demand, against 1·96 per cent. in the previous year. In paragraph 10 of Government Resolution No. 895T.R., dated the 9th October 1896, it was directed that in the case of solvent Wards' estates, at least 3 per cent. of the rental, or such larger percentage on the surplus that remains after payment of Government revenue, cost of management, &c., as the Board may determine, should be set aside by the Board for agricultural and sanitary improvements, and that every failure or neglect to expend on improvements the amounts so allotted should be explained by the managers in their annual reports. These orders have not been carried out. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to invite the special attention of the Board to the Government orders quoted above, and trusts that the Board will in future see that in all solvent estates a fair share of the income is spent for the improvement of the property and for the benefit of the tenantry. The action taken to give effect to the orders contained in paragraphs 9 and 10 of the Resolution of the 9th October 1896, should now be reported, and special reference to the subject should be made in future Annual Reports.

The Burdwan Raj Estate continued to maintain the farm at Pala under the supervision of the Director of Land Records and Agriculture. An attempt was made for the first time to cultivate Naini Tal potatoes in the Sundarbans portion of the Bhawanipur estate, and was successful, while in the Maldwar and Madhupur estates similar experiments met with but partial success. In the Talipabad and Dakhin Shabazpur estates it was found that the Naini Tal potato could indeed be grown in the high lands of the estates, but not with profit.

8. Educati n.—The total amount of subscriptions and donations by Wards' estates to schools amounted to only Rs. 52,941, or a little more than one-half per cent. on the current annual demand of Rs. 95,98,063. The expenditure under this head is not adequate. As pointed out in last year's Resolution, Government contributes one per cent. of the annual demand on its own estates to education; there is no sufficient reason why the Court of Wards as a model landlord should not do the same, at least in solvent estates.

9. Survey and Settlement.—The survey and settlement of the Burdwan Raj khas mahals and the Srirampur estates were completed during the year. The revision of the records of the Sarail estate was completed by the submanager of the estate under the supervision of the Collector of Tippera, with the result that the total rental as at first fixed was reduced from Rs. 2,49,575 to Rs. 2,14,401. Excluding the estates which are within the scope of the general survey and settlement operations in Chittagong, Orissa and North Bihar, there were thirteen estates under survey and settlement: in six of these, aggregating 1,103·30 square miles in area, the operations were under the Director of Land Records. It is noticeable where, as in the Burdwan Raj khas mahals, Tikari, Dakhin Shabazpur, Shankarpur, Kanika and Chittagong Wards' Estates, surveys and records-of rights have been made, that the percentages of collections on the demand compare very favourably with those on estates that have not been surveyed. The Lieutenant-Governor, in a separate Resolution on the Annual Report of the Director of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, has noticed that the arrangements for the maintenance of the survey and settlement records exist, in some cases, only on paper, and trusts that in future years the Board and the local officers concerned will insist on their being carried out in practice.

10. Certificates.—The statement below illustrates the working of the certificate procedure during the year 1896-97 and four preceding years:—

Division.	Number pending from last year.	Number filed during the year.	Total.	Disposed of during the year.	Pending more than six months.	Pending less than six months.	Total.	Amount of demand covered by the certificates.	Total amount realized by certificates.

NOTE.—The difference between the number of certificates pending at the close of 1895-96 and the number shown as pending at the commencement of 1896-97 is due to the exclusion of 774 certificates on account of certain released estates.

The increase in the number of the certificates filed in the Presidency Division was chiefly due to the increase in the Sarail portion of the Kasimbazar estate, where the tenants had combined against the payment of rent. In Patna, Rajshahi and Chittagong, it was due to the progress made in the preparation of records-of-rights of Wards' Estates in these Divisions, thus rendering it allowable to issue certificates for arrears of rent in them. The orders of Government prohibit the issue of certificates in Wards' Estates in which records-of-rights do not exist. In the remaining Divisions, the decrease in the number of institutions is attributed to a stricter observance of these orders. The total amount realized by certificates was 43·5 per cent. of the demand covered by them, against 45·5 per cent. in the previous year. The average amount covered by each certificate was about Rs. 31, as against Rs. 39 in 1895-96. The number of disposals fell short of the number of institutions in the Presidency, Rajshahi, Dacca, Chittagong and Patna Divisions, and the total number of certificates, including those pending from previous years, shows an increase of 320.

11. Civil suits.—The following statement shows the particulars of civil suits for the recovery of rent and cesses due to the estates:—

Division.	Number of suits pending from last year.	Number filed during the year.	Total.	Disposed of during the year.	Pending more than six months.	Pending less than six months.	Total.	Amount of demand covered by the suits.	Amount decreed.	Amount recovered.

NOTE.—The difference between the number of civil suits pending at the close of 1895-96 and the number shown as pending at the commencement of 1896-97 is due to the exclusion of 163 suits on account of six released estates and the omission of 66 suits in the previous year's statement.

There was a decrease both in the number of civil suits instituted and the demand covered by them; of the demand 46·4 per cent. was realized. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board in thinking that sufficient attention is not paid to the prompt execution of decrees, and has no doubt that they will stimulate the managers of estates to greater energy in this part of their work.

Certificates were filed and civil suits were instituted for an amount equal only to 11·7 per cent. of the balances due to all estates.

12. Condition of the tenantry.—The year under report was a year of general scarcity and distress which extended to most of the estates under the Board's management. Where there was very serious or total failure of crops, the tenants as a matter of course suffered, and were unable to pay their rents, but where the failure was not so great and the tenantry had surplus produce to dispose of over what was required for their own consumption, they benefited pro tanto by the high prices that prevailed. In Rangpur and in the Chandra Kumar estate in Shahabad, the condition of the tenants is reported to have been good, and it is reported to have been fair in the Talipabad estates in Dacca and in the Tikari and Chandragarh estates in Gaya. The manager of the Khagra estate reports that the majority of the tenants of that estate are better off than the raiyats in other parts of Bihar. On the other hand, the raiyats of Midnapore have been reduced to poverty through repeated loss of their paddy crops. Many of the tenants of the Kasimbazar estate in Murshidabad, Birbhum and Burdwan had great difficulty in paying their rents. The Collector of Patna, owing to the distressed condition of the raiyats, could not collect more than Rs. 70,906 out of a demand, current and arrear, amounting to Rs. 1,82,593. In the Shewhur estate in Muzaffarpur Rs. 24,410 only were realized out of a total demand of Rs. 1,43,617, and in the district of Saran, out of a demand of over thirteen lakhs in estates under the management of the Court of Wards, less than two and a half lakhs was collected. In the Chota Nagpur Division Rs. 6,83,842 only were realized out of a total demand of Rs. 12,98,825. The Lieutenant Governor agrees with the Board in thinking that the local officers would not have been justified in pressing for a higher percentage of collections than has been obtained.

13. Estates with a rent-roll of Rs. 50,000 and upwards.—In Part II of the report a short history is given of the management during the year of each estate with a rent-roll of half a lakh or upwards. The Burdwan Raj estate continued to be managed with vigour and success by Raja Ban Behari Kapur, who was on tour for 134 days during the year. A settlement of ghatwali lands in Bankura amounting to 1,35,412 bighas, was concluded during the year, the land being settled with 2,250 ghatwals or sardars at an annual rental of Rs. 37,417. The current demand of the estate was Rs. 46,20,857, and the arrear demand Rs. 24,64,468, making a total of Rs. 70,85,325, out of which Rs. 47,44,045, or 102·6 per cent. on the current demand, was collected. Excluding remissions, the outstanding balance is reported to have been Rs 22,88,630, of which Rs. 10,30,000 was collected after the close of the year by the enforcement of the procedure for the sale of patni taluks, and claims to Rs. 10,20,805 are good and in course of realization, the recovery of the remainder being considered doubtful or hopeless. The Board appear to be mistaken in saying that the unrealized arrears do not exceed 25 per cent. of the current demand; they amount to Rs. 12,58,630, and the current demand to Rs. 46,20,857. Moreover, the comparison should be made on the arrears outstanding in khas mahals only, and not on the total outstanding balances due to the estate. The Manager should be called upon to submit the statement prescribed in paragraph 4 of last year's Resolution, and to report the results of the steps he may have taken to clear the accounts of irrecoverable and fictitious balances. The cost of management propor of this estate was, as already remarked, on account of its exceptional circumstances, only 3·7 per cent. on the current demand. The College at Burdwan and the Higher English school at Kalna, maintained by the estate, did very well during the year. The Raj charitable dispensaries at Burdwan and Kalna, at Kujang in Cuttack and at Sujamutha in Midnapore, worked well. The amount spent on improvements was Rs. 32,738, as against Rs. 21,494 in the previous year; the additional amount was spent chiefly on the excavation and re-excavation of tanks and the sinking of wells, and on the repair of embankments. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with satisfaction that expenditure on works of improvement has increased, but agrees with the Commissioner in thinking that the outlay on agricultural and sanitary improvements is not sufficient for so vast an estate. If the directions of Government that at least 3 per cent. of the rental should be spent on improvements had been carried out, more than Rs. 1,38,000 would have been spent in this estate. It would not, however, be right to calculate the amount of the reasonable expenditure under this head on receipts from the portion of the Raj that are let out in patni

In the Tikari estate, irrecoverable balances to the extent of Rs. 66,804 were written off, leaving an outstanding balance of Rs. 4,96,431. Of this amount, Rs. 91,297 is reported to be irrecoverable, Rs. 33,967 to be doubtful of recovery, and Rs. 3,71,167 to be in process of recovery. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that all bad and irrecoverable demands may be written off without delay, and that an earnest endeavour may be made for the prompt realization of so much as is recoverable. The management charges of the Tikari estate were very high, being 18·6 per cent. on the current demand, against 12·6 per cent. in the previous year. The increase is reported to be due to the payment of commission earned by the establishment in villages managed direct. A higher class English school and a charitable dispensary were maintained at Tikari. The outlay on works of improvement decreased from Rs. 35,174 in 1895-96 to Rs. 19,220 in the year under report; it is not stated why less gilandazi work was done than in the previous year.

The arrear demand of the Kasimbazar estate was very large, being Rs 5,14,852, and the current demand was Rs. 3,71,768. The collections amounted to Rs. 4,43,408, or 119·2 per cent on the current demand, against 99·3 per cent. in the preceding year. The result is satisfactory, but the Lieutenant Governor hopes that with good crops the arrears will be materially reduced during the current year. The expenditure on works of improvement was Rs. 19,127, against Rs. 20,543 in the previous year.

The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that Rs. 10,788 was spent in the Khagra estate in Purnea during the year on works of improvement, against Rs. 2,377 in the previous year, and considers that this reflects credit on the Manager, Mr. Rolt. His Honour, however, regrets to find that in the Satkhira estate Rs. 274 only was spent under this head. The estate is certainly not in a flourishing condition, but the reason why so insignificant an amount was spent on improvements should be explained. An explanation should also be given of a similar state of things in the Narhan estate in Darbhanga, where the law expenses amounted to Rs. 15,365 during the year, while Rs. 1,230 only was spent on works of improvement, and that chiefly on the construction of one well. His Honour is glad to note that in the Bhawanipur estate in the 24 Parganas, Rs. 15,730 was spent on works of improvement, chiefly in raising embankments, clearing jungle, &c., in the Sundarbans lots, excavating and re-excavating tanks, and repairing of village roads.

The collections in the Dakhin Shahbazpur estate were satisfactory; but the outlay on improvements during the year was Rs. 2,602 only, as against Rs. 5,101 in 1895-96. The cause of the decrease should be explained. His Honour is glad to observe that a sum of Rs. 5,081 was spent on works of improvement in the Sankarpur estate in Dinajpur.

The collections in the Shewhur estate in Muzaffarpur, as stated already, were 80·6 per cent. on the current demand, and in the Paigambarpur estate in Darbhanga, 42·7 per cent. Considering that the crops had failed in these parts, the collections were as high as could have been reasonably expected.

14. Part III of the Board's report deals with estates taken in charge and released in 1896-97. It is reported that 15 estates were taken in charge during the year, and 18 were released. The important estate of Hatwa in Saran was taken in charge by the Court of Wards in October 1896, on the death of Maharaja Sir Krishna Pertap Sahi Bahadur, K.C.I.E., the late proprietor. He left a widow, a minor son, four years old, and an infant daughter. The estate being impartible devolved upon the minor son; it consists of lands and houses in the districts of Saran, Gorakhpur, Shahabad, Muzaffarpur and Champaran, and of house property in Benares and Patna. The moveable property consists of cash, Government Currency Notes and Government Promissory Notes amounting to Rs. 54,40,817, as well as jewellery, gold and silver utensils, embroidered robes, valuable shawls, live-stock, carriages, furniture, tents, &c. The total estimated receipts of the estate from all sources, including interest on Promissory Notes and loans, amount to Rs. 11,83,935. Rupees 11,47,467 represent the income from landed property alone, the Government revenue payable by the estate being Rs. 1,99,573. The Maharani, widow of the late Maharaja, and the Manager, Mr. Buskin, were appointed joint-guardians of the minor.

The estate of Deo in Gaya was restored to the proprietor, Raja Bhikum Narayan Singh Bahadur. It had been administered by the Court of Wards since March 1886 under a special law, Act IX of 1886, which extended to it the provisions of the Chota Nagpur Encumbered Estates Act, VI of 1876 At the time charge was taken, the rental of the estate was Rs. 1,44,353, but portions of the estate were sold to liquidate debts, and, at the date of release, the rental had been reduced to Rs. 73,208. The debt of the estate, when taken in charge, was Rs. 14,26,494, out of which Rs. 88,560 was disallowed, Rs. 18,503 is a nominal debt due to the Raja's mother, and the rest was paid off out of the proceeds of sales, or reduced by compromise. A cash balance of Rs. 1,933 was made over to the Raja when his estate was released. The management of the estate was very successful. The majority of estates released were released with a larger rent-roll than they possessed at the date of the assumption of charge and with their debts liquidated. The administration of the Turkoa estate in Midnapore was most successful; when it was taken in charge in 1876, it had a rent-roll of Rs. 31,432, and a debt of more than Rs. 8,000. When it was released in December 1896, its debt had been paid off, its rent-roll increased to Rs. 42,714 (a portion of the increase being due to the property added to the estate on the death of the minor's mother), Rs. 45,802 had been invested in landed property, and Rs. 1,35,002 in Government Securities The villages, which had no reliable records and in which the relation with the tenants was not satisfactory, had been surveyed and settled under the Bengal Tenancy Act. The management of the Barutter Hinghly estate in the same district, on the other hand, should never have been undertaken; it had to be given up during the year, nearly four years before the minor proprietor attained his majority. The rental was Rs. 6,024 at the date of assumption of charge, but had been reduced to Rs. 5,720 at the date of its release. The estate is situated partly within and partly adjoining the swampy circuits in the Contai subdivision, and consists of four small and scattered revenue-paying mahals and certain under-tenures and rent-free holdings. The larger portion of the estate is liable to inundation and loss of crops, and could not have been efficiently managed without a resident manager, whom it was too poor to support.

15. Encumbered Estates in Chota Nagpur.—The number of estates managed under Act VI of 1876 during the year was 61, against 54 in the previous year. The following statement shows the collection of rents and cesses due to the estates:—

In all the districts, the payments of the debts fell short of the amounts provided in the sanctioned schome. The short payments have been satisfactorily explained by the Commissioner.

16. The high standard of careful and efficient management of estates under the Court of Wards noticed by Government in commenting on previous reports was maintained during the year. The names of the Officers specially commended by the Board in paragraph 25 of their report will be communicated to the Appointment Department of this Government.

2. Customs duty.—The subjoined statement compares the gross and net customs duty, inclusive of the duty on imported salt, collected during the last five years, and in the years before and after the remission of the import duties in March 1882:—

The total net duty collected fell from Rs. 4,12,51,355 in the previous year to Rs. 3,89,37,261, showing a decrease of Rs. 23,14,094, or 5·6 per cent. The decrease occurred chiefly under the head of import duty on general merchandise, and is attributed to the reduction, from the 3rd February 1896, of the rate of duty on cotton piece-goods from 5 to 3½ per cent., and to the abolition of the import duty on cotton twist and yarn and sewing thread. The decrease of nearly 8 lakhs in export duty was caused by the smaller quantity of grain exported owing to the famine. The charges of the year, inclusive of refunds and drawbacks, amounted to Rs. 12,15,472, against Rs 12,81,266 in the previous year. The total net revenue of the year, including receipts other than duty, amounted to Rs. 3,84,29,248 against Rs. 4,07,44,170, a decrease of more than 5 per cent.

The total value of the foreign import trade in merchandise rose from Rs. 27,19,18,165 to Rs. 30,28,02,344, showing an advance of Rs. 3,08,84,179, or 11 per cent. This increase, which occurred chiefly in free goods, is due to the abolition of the duty on cotton yarns. The import of treasure rose by 30 per cent. owing to the heavier shipments of gold from the United Kingdom, and of silver from Ceylon, South Australia, Mauritius and the Strait Settlements. There was an increase of nearly 3 per cent. in the value of stores imported on behalf of Government, which is ascribed to larger receipts of books and printed matter, machinery and mill-work, instruments and apparatus, and cotton and woollen goods. The total value of the foreign export trade carried on in Indian produce, which had of late years been advancing, decreased by 2·2 per cent. owing to smaller shipments of indigo to France and Austria, of lac to the United States, and of rice to Ceylon. In the coasting trade, the imports of merchandise showed a rise of Rs. 66,83,350, or 10 per cent., but this advance occurred in Indian articles only, while the imports of foreign merchandise declined. On the other hand, the exports of merchandise in the coasting trade fell off by Rs. 78,66,207, or 10 per cent., foreign goods, chiefly grey and white cotton piece-goods, accounting for Rs. 10,21,655, and grain, pulse, manufactured jute and tea for Rs. 68,44,552. of this decrease. Including Government transactions, the total value of the trade of the Province stood at Rs. 95,34,57,341, against Rs. 92,92,04,859 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 2,42,52,482, or 2·6 per cent.

5. Trade of Calcutta with foreign countries.—The United Kingdom, as usual, appears at the head of the list of countries with which the foreign trade of Calcutta was carried on, absorbing 58·57 per cent. of the entire trade, a percentage higher than that of the two preceding years, but lower than that in 1893-94. The increase occurred chiefly in the imports of merchandise (especially cotton goods) and treasure. Germany takes the place occupied in the previous year by the United States, coming second with a percentage of 6·70 against 6·35 in 1895-96; its imports show an improvement of 14 per cent., due chiefly to sugar, but also to woollens, liquors, glassware, and metals; while larger shipments of raw jute, hides and seeds produced an increase of 9 per cent. in the exports to that country. The percentage of the United States, which stands third in the list, shows a fall from 7·16 to 5·96. The decline was entirely in exports and is ascribed to the heavy shipments of hides and skins and lac in the previous year; imports showing an increase of 3 per cent. owing to the receipt of 394,134 cwt. of wheat shipped from San Francisco to supply the deficit in food-grains in this country. Next to the United States comes China, with a percentage of 5·50 against 5·69: there was a decrease in the merchandise imported from that country, but a more than proportionate increase in the amount of treasure received, while the exports show a rise owing to an increase in the shipments of cotton twist and raw cotton and jute. The trade with the Treaty Ports of China, however, declined considerably under the heads of opium, jute manufactures and cotton twist. The total value of the trade of Calcutta with the Straits Settlements fell off in the past year by 3 per cent., the decrease occurring in the importation of tin, lac, and sugar, and the exportation of opium and jute manufactures. The share of France in the trade is shown as 2·48 per cent. against 2·75 per cent. in 1895-96, imports and exports alike showing a decrease, the former owing to the receipt of a smaller quantity of silk, piece-goods and liquors, the latter to smaller shipments of indigo, raw silk, and lac. The trade with Australia decreased by 5 per cent., the reason being the reduced importation of treasure and the export of Indian produce. The trade with Ceylon improved by 57 per cent. in imports owing to larger receipts of cocoanut-oil, spices, shells, and copra (dried cocoanut), but the smaller shipments of rice from Bengal caused a decrease in the value of exports. A decline of 8 per cent. appears in the total value of the trade with Austria-Hungary, which was caused by smaller shipments of indigo, raw jute, raw cotton, and lac. With Belgium, the trade increased by 6·3 per cent., a larger quantity of metals being imported, and of oil-seeds, jute manufactures, and manure exported. Italy shows a decrease of 7 per cent. in total trade, owing to reduced exports of raw cotton and silk and hides and skins. There was an improvement of nearly 20 per cent. in the trade with Mauritius, imports increasing by 37 and exports by 12 per cent. Sugar is the only article imported from this colony, and there was a marked increase in the amount of refined sugar received during the year: the quantity of rice exported was 1,016 cwt. less than in the preceding year, but the higher prices caused a considerable increase in the total value.

6. Shipping in Calcutta.—The proportion of the foreign trade of Calcutta, carried through the Suez Canal, stood at 76·9 per cent., against 74 per cent. in the previous year. The table below compares the total shipping entering inwards and clearing outwards without touching at any other ports, and the aggregate tonnage in the past two years:—

	1895-96.		1896-97.
	Number.	Tonnage.	Number.	Tonnage.

These figures show a falling off of 7 steam vessels, 12 sailing vessels, and 13 native crafts, representing a decline of 41,203 in tonnage.

7. Imports into Calcutta.—The total values of the principal articles of merchandise imported into the port during the last two years were as follows:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.
	Rs.	Rs.
Cotton goods	12,63,00,058	14,45,92,629
Twist and yarn	86,28,857	91,17,985

Mineral oil	1,84,99,500	1,58,02,535

Salt	47,54,262	53,77,553
Hardware and cutlery	45,50,712	49,65,588

The remission of duty on cotton twist and yarns and the imposition of a reduced duty on piece-goods and other cotton manufactures accounts for the considerable increase in the quantity of these articles that was imported. The effect of the famine in reducing the demand for clothing was not generally realised until late in 1896, and by that time large orders had been sent to Lancashire and had to be completed. Metals advanced by ·3 per cent. only, there being a marked decrease in the importation of wrought copper from the United Kingdom, China, and Japan, although there was an increase in the amount imported from Australia (caused by the unusually large demand for copper by the Mint throughout the year) and from other countries. There was a falling off of 13·8 per cent. in mineral oil, owing mainly to smaller receipts from the United States. Russian oil shows a slight decrease, but quantity imported was double of that received from the United States. The Collector remarks on the appearance of Sumatra oil in the market. It is about 2 annas a case cheaper than Russian oil; the quantity is good, and as soon as the packing is improved, it is expected to be a formidable competitor. The improvement of 28·5 per cent. in machinery and mill-work is almost wholly attributable to the large extensions in the jute manufacturing trade during the year. There was an increase of 25·4 per cent. in the total imports of woollen goods, but the Collector of Customs explains that, after a bad season, such as that of 1895-96, this cannot be regarded as a sign that business has improved. Sugar shows a decrease of ·46 per cent. owing to smaller receipts from Hong Kong, Java, and the Straits Settlements. There was an advance of 7·4 per cent. in the total imports of ale, beer, and porter, and of 2·6 per cent. in spirits; while the importation of wines decreased by 9 per cent. More brandy, whisky, and gin were imported, and liqueurs show a slight increase, but there was a remarkable decrease in the imports of champagne, claret, port and sherry. Wines other than these, however, increased by 7,125 gallons or 17·8 per cent., the largest imports being shown by Australian wines, which appear to be rapidly coming into favour. The falling off of 13·9 per cent. in the imports of salt represents a marked decline in shipments from the United Kingdom, Germany, and the Persian Gulf, counterbalanced to some extent by the imports of Red Sea salt, which is imported in the form of crystals and crushed in Calcutta. As the process of crushing is inexpensive, this salt can be placed in the market at a cost considerably below that of Hamburg or Liverpool salt. Hard ware and cutlery show an increase of 9·1 per cent., all of which came from the United Kingdom, while the imports from Germany and Austria-Hungary, the chief Continental sources of supply, fell off appreciably. In regard to other articles, the rise of 23 per cent. in agricultural implements, due to the demand for use on famine relief works, is noticeable, as well as the fall of 34·9 per cent. in umbrellas, which is due partly to famine and high prices affecting the demand, and partly also to the fact that umbrella cloth and fittings can be imported and made up locally, so as to undersell the imported article by about 30 per cent. The imports of matches fell by 40 per cent., owing to large stocks of Swedish matches being held in the country, and to the fact that these are both cheaper and better than those made in Japan. The trade in country-made matches is said to be practically extinct.

On the whole, the total value of the imports, including treasure, but excluding Government transactions, rose from Rs. 28,18,46,990 to Rs. 31,90,39,573, showing an increase of Rs. 3,71,92,583, or 13 per cent. The increase occurred both under merchandise (Rs. 3,30,07,374 or 12 per cent) and treasure (Rs. 41,85,209, or 31 per cent.).

8. Exports from Calcutta.—The total value of exports from Calcutta to foreign countries, including treasure, but excluding Government transactions, declined from Rs. 45,69,38,422 to Rs. 44,96,22,021, or by Rs. 73,16,401. The values of the trade in the principal exports in 1895-96 and 1896-97 is compared in the table below:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.
	Rs.	Rs.
Jute, raw	9,27,61,410	9,96,51,492

Raw cotton	97,03,885	82,20,501
Silk, raw	61,67,336	49,50,709

The exports of raw jute declined by 4·7 per cent., but in consequence of high prices, the value of the trade was greater than in any of the previous three years. The exports to China, France, and Germany, show an increase, the decrease in the amount shipped to other countries varying between ·8 and 72·3 per cent. An increase of 8·6 per cent. occurred in the exports of opium, but in consequence of the lower prices obtained at the Calcutta sales, the total value decreased by Rs. 7,76,700. The increase of 9·8 per cent. in tea is due to larger consignments sent to all the importing countries except Australia. The trade with the United Kingdom, where by far the largest quantity of Indian tea is consumed, increased by 9·5 per cent., while that with the United States and other countries, advanced by 36·4 and 82·1 per cent. respectively. The average price per pound in Calcutta was 8 annas 8 pies, against 8 annas 9 pies in 1895-96. The total exports of tea from Ceylon increased during the year by 11·6 per cent., and Ceylon tea appears to a considerable extent to have supplanted Indian tea in Australia. Transshipments of Indian tea, on the other hand, from the United Kingdom to the United States and Canada increased during the year by 35·8 per cent., a result which is, no doubt, attributable, as the Collector of Customs says, to the exertions of the representatives of the Tea Associations. Among oil-seeds, linseed, the principal article of export, shows a slight decrease of ·71 per cent. in comparison with 1895-96, owing chiefly to reduced shipments to the United Kingdom, which is being now supplied, it is said, from the Black Sea ports and South America. The exports of rice decreased by 37 per cent., in consequence of the famine in Upper India and Bihar. Ceylon and the United Kingdom, which are the principal markets for Bengal rice, took 68·3 per cent. and 39·9 per cent. respectively, less than in 1895-96; while Natal and the East Coast of Africa took larger quantities on account of the Indian immigrants and labourers settled there. In the total exports of indigo to foreign countries, there was a falling off of 2·4 per cent., due to a diminished supply to France, Germany, Holland, and Russia, though there was an advance in the amount shipped to the United Kingdom, the chief importing country, and the United States. The exports of raw hides declined by 5·9 per cent., but the value of the total trade, owing to the brisk demand and short supplies and consequent rise in prices was the highest yet recorded. The trade was, however, disturbed during the last quarter of the year by the prohibition of importation into certain countries on account of the outbreak of plague in Bombay and Karachi. An abnormal decrease of 92 per cent. occurred in the export of wheat, the exports to Belgium, France, and Germany ceasing altogether, while the exports to the United Kingdom, which is the principal market for Indian wheat, decreased by 92·6 per cent. The Collector of Customs writes:—

"The short outturn of this crop during the past year, and the general scarcity of supplies, owing to previous unsatisfactory harvests, combined with the increasing demand for local consumption, kept up prices considerably above exporting limits. This condit on of the market continued up to June, after which the gloomy agricultural outlook and rising prices stopped shipments altogether. The same causes led to the importation, it is believed for the first time, of 20,000 tons of Californian wheat."

The exports of lac increased in quantity, but decreased in value in consequence of the lower prices resulting from the existence of heavy stocks and the absence of a demand for the finer qualities. Raw cotton and raw silk both show a decline, the year not having been favourable for these products.

9. Treasure.—The importation of gold increased by over 35½ lakhs, and that of silver by more than 6¼ lakhs. There were no exports of gold during the year, but the exports of silver rose by nearly 21⅓ lakhs.

10. Subordinate Ports.—The figures for the port of Chittagong show that the value of the foreign trade fell during the year from Rs. 1,10,44,711 to Rs. 75,39,602, a decrease of nearly 31·7 per cent., which occurred under both imports (53 per cent.) and exports (22·7 per cent.). The falling off under the former was due to smaller receipts of railway materials, chiefly rolling-stock, while smaller shipments of raw jute and rice account for the decrease in exports. The exportation of rice from the port to both foreign and Indian ports fell off by 90 per cent., the cause assigned being the poorness of the crops in the district of Chittagong and the neighbouring districts. There were, as usual, no imports and exports of treasure. The coasting trade also decreased both in imports and exports, but the amount of customs duty collected rose from Rs. 7,00,824 in 1895-96 to Rs. 7,80,919. The total value of the trade, both foreign and coasting, at the Orissa ports, as compared with 1895-96, rose at Balasore from Rs. 1,16,45,152 to Rs. 1,26,61,352, but fell at Cuttack from Rs. 33,08,365 to Rs. 26,09,033, and at Puri from Rs. 7,04,706 to Rs. 4,59,818. The net amount of customs duty, inclusive of the duty on imported salt, collected at the Orissa ports, decreased from Rs 4,88,479 in 1895-96 to Rs. 4,00,625, or by 18 per cent. The decrease is shared by all the districts, though in import duty, Balasore shows an increase. The trade at Narayanganj, which is entirely carried on with the Coast Ports, decreased in value from Rs. 69,46,929 in the previous year to Rs. 55,88,341, showing a decrease of Rs. 13,58,588, or of 19·5 per cent., which was chiefly due to the smaller trade in raw jute. Salt and kerosine oil are the only duty-paying articles imported at Narayanganj; the duty on the former rose from Rs. 1,41,962 to Rs. 4,37,951, owing to larger imports from Chittagong, where the price was cheaper, but the imports of the latter were considerably less than in the previous year. There were no exports of rice and paddy to any foreign ports, and the trade with the Indian ports was insignificant.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor's thanks are due to the Board of Revenue for their supervision of the Customs Department during the year, and to Mr. E. N. Baker for his efficient administration of the Department, and for the full and interesting report submitted by him. The names of the Officers, who have been favourably mentioned by the Board, will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports rose from 37,761 cwts. in the first week of October 1896 to 54,563 cwts. in the period under report. The port of Demerara is credited with 31,104 cwts. against nil in the week ending 7th October 1896, but there were no exports to Mauritius and Muscat, which took 19,056 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The despatches to Ceylon showed an increase of 6,547 cwts., and those to the United Kingdom a decrease of 1,234 cwts. The exports of miscellaneous food-grains decreased from 3,651 cwts. to only 37 cwts. owing to the absence of shipments to Mauritius.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the first week of October 1897 amounted to only 378 cwts. against 4,903 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The exports of gram and pulse declined from 5,126 cwts. to 746 cwts., the decrease being due to the cessation of exports to Bombay and Madras, and to a general decline in the quantities sent to other Indian ports

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

Reporter on Economic Products.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Parts I, II, III & IV of the Dictionary are ready at the Office of the Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs. 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made); packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets, &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross-references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product, even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal 8vo. pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G.; Vol. IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI (which consist of four parts), Part I, contains letters P to R. The whole work completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI); but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the Vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and, as such, will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

CHAPTER I.

Short title, extent and commencement.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Chota Nagpur Commutation Act, 1897;

(2) It extends to the districts of Hazaribagh, Lohardaga, Palamau and Singhbhum, in the Chota Nagpur Division; and

(c) "conditions" include rakumata and abwabs which, by custom, are payable by raiyats to their landlords, and

(d) "agricultural year" means the year prevailing in a local area for agricultural purposes.

(2) If it appears to the Local Government to be doubtful what year prevails in any particular area for agricultural purposes, the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare upon what dates such year shall be deemed to commence and terminate respectively.

(Chota Nagpur Commutation Act.— Chapter II.— Commutation and Record of Predial Conditions or Services.—Sections 4-6.)

CHAPTER II.

COMMUTATION AND RECORD OF PREDIAL CONDITIONS OR SERVICES.

Voluntary commutation of predial conditions or services.

4. (1) When any land is held subject to any predial conditions or services, the tenant of such land, or the person who has the right to the benefit of such conditions or services, may apply in writing to the Revenue-officer for commutation of such conditions or services.

(2) The Revenue-officer shall thereupon cause a notice to be served on each of the other persons who, under sub-section (1), would have a right to make such application, and shall fix a day for considering the application; and on such day, or on any day thereafter to which the hearing may be adjourned, shall proceed to enquire into the matter and to determine the amount which, in his judgment, is fairly and equitably payable in commutation of such conditions or services.

(3) In calculating the said amount, the Revenue-officer shall have regard to the conditions or services to which the tenant is liable in accordance with ancient custom, and the money value of such conditions or services at the time of making such calculation:

Provided that, in the case of conditions or services other than rakumats, the amount payable in commutation shall not exceed one-fourth of the annual rent payable by the tenant.

Power to order record of predial conditions or services, with or without commutation.

5. (1) The Local Government may, in any case in which it is, in its opinion, expedient so to do, make an order directing either—

(a) that a record of all predial conditions or services to which the lands within any local area or any estate, tenure or part thereof are subject shall be prepared, and a commutation of such conditions or services made, by a Revenue-officer; or

(b) that a record as aforesaid be made by a Revenue-officer without commutation of such conditions or services as aforesaid.

(2) A notification in the Calcutta Gazette of an order under this section shall be conclusive evidence that the order has been duly made.

(3) The record of conditions or services shall be prepared in accordance with rules made under section 13.

Preparation of record.

6. (1) Whenever an order is made under section 5, the Revenue-officer shall thereupon proceed to prepare a record containing the following particulars, namely:—

(a) the name of each tenant;

(b) the name of his landlord;

(c) the rent payable for the lands held by him at the time the record is being prepared;

(d) the predial conditions or services to which all or any of such lands are subject;

(e) the amount which, in the judgment of the Revenue-officer, may fairly be deemed payable in commutation of such conditions or services, and

(f) such other particulars as may from time to time be prescribed by the Board of Revenue.

(2) In calculating the amount payable in commutation of such conditions or services, the Revenue-officer shall be guided by the provisions of section 4, sub-section (3).

Publication of record.

7. (1) When the Revenue-officer has prepared a record under section 6, he shall cause a draft of the same to be locally published in the manner and for the period prescribed in the rules made under section 13, and shall receive and consider any objections which may be made to any entry therein or to any omission therefrom during the period of publication.

(2) When objections have been considered and disposed of in accordance with the rules made under section 13, the record shall be finally framed and published in the manner prescribed by those rules.

(3) Separate drafts or records may be published under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) for different local areas, estates, tenures or parts thereof.

Appeals from orders of Revenue-officers.

8. (1) An appeal from any order of a Revenue-officer under this Chapter shall lie to the Deputy Commissioner, or, if the Revenue-officer is himself the Deputy Commissioner, then to the Commissioner of the Division.

(2) When an appeal has been disposed of by the Deputy Commissioner under sub-section (1), an appeal from his order shall lie to the Commissioner.

(3) The provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure relating to appeals shall, as nearly as may be, apply to all appeals under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2). XIV of 1882.

(4) Where the Commissioner concurs with the Deputy Commissioner the order shall be final, but in other cases an appeal shall lie to the Board of Revenue from the order of the Commissioner.

(5) Every appeal under sub-section (1) must be presented within three months, and every appeal under sub-section (2) or sub-section (4) must be presented within one month, from the date of the order appealed against.

Revision by Commissioner or Board.

9. The Commissioner or the Board of Revenue may direct the revision of any record prepared under this Chapter, or any portion of such record, at any time within two years from the date of the final publication of the record, but not so as to affect any decision from which an appeal has been preferred under section 8:

Provided that no such direction shall be made until reasonable notice has been given to the parties concerned to appear and be heard in the matter.

(Chota Nagpur Commutation Act.—Chapter II.—Commutation and Record of Predial Conditions or Services.—Chapter III.—Rules.—Sections 10-13.)

Commencement and effect of commutation.

10. (1) When the commutation of any predial conditions or services is settled under this Chapter for any local area or estate, tenure or part thereof, the settlement shall take effect from the beginning of the agricultural year next after the final publication of the record; and from that time the imposition of any predial conditions or services on any tenants of the local area or estate, tenure or part thereof shall be illegal, and all stipulations and reservations for rendering or requiring such conditions or services within the local area or estate, tenure or part thereof shall be void.

(2) The amount determined by a Revenue-officer under this Chapter to be payable by a tenant in commutation of predial conditions or services shall be deemed to be part of the rent payable by the tenant, and shall be recoverable accordingly.

Expenses of voluntary commutation.

11. (1) The Revenue-officer may require any person applying for commutation under section 4 to deposit in advance the whole or any part of the estimated amount of the expenses to be incurred thereunder.

(2) When in any case the proceedings under section 4 have been completed, the Revenue-officer shall apportion the total expenses thereof between the landlord and tenant in such proportion as, having regard to all the circumstances, he may deem fit, and the amounts so apportioned shall be recoverable as an arrear of land-revenue.

(3) If the amount deposited by any person in pursuance of sub-section (1) exceeds the sum apportioned to him under sub-section (2), the excess shall, when the proceedings have been completed, be refunded to him.

Expenses of record and compulsory commutation.

12. (1) The expenses incurred by the Government in carrying out in any local area or any estate, tenure or part thereof any order made under section 5, or such part of those expenses as the Local Government may direct, shall be defrayed by the landlords and tenants of land in that local area, estate, tenure or part, in such proportions as the Local Government, having regard to all the circumstances, may determine.

(2) The portion of the aforesaid expenses which any person is liable to pay shall be recoverable by the Government as if it were an arrear of land-revenue due in respect of the said local area, estate, tenure or part.

Explanation.—The word "tenure" in this section includes all revenue-free and rent-free tenures and holdings within a local area, estate or tenure.

CHAPTER III.

RULES.

Power to make rules.

13. The Local Government may from time to time, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, make rules—

(1) to regulate the procedure to be followed by Revenue-officers in the discharge of any duty imposed upon them by or under

(Chota Nagpur Commutation Act.—Chapter III.—Rules.—Section 14.)

(2) to prescribe the mode of service of notices under section 4;

(3) to prescribe the manner of preparing records under Chapter II;

(4) to prescribe the manner in which and the period for which draft records shall be published under section 7, and the manner in which objections to a draft record shall be disposed of;

(5) to prescribe the manner in which records shall be finally published under section 7, and

(6) generally, for the guidance of Revenue-officers in carrying out the provisions of Chapter II.

Procedure for making and publishing rules.

14. (1) The Local Government shall, before making rules under section 13, publish a draft of the proposed rules for the information of persons likely to be affected thereby.

(2) The publication shall be made in such manner as may, in the opinion of the Local Government, be sufficient for giving information to persons interested:

Provided that every such draft shall be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

(3) There shall be published with the draft a notice specifying a day, not earlier than one month after the date of publication, on or after which the draft will be taken into consideration.

(4) The Local Government shall consider any objection or suggestion which may be received by it from any person with respect to the draft before the day so specified.

(5) The publication in the Calcutta Gazette of a rule purporting to be made under this Act shall be conclusive evidence that it has been duly made.

(6) All rules made under this Act may from time to time be amended, added to, or cancelled by the Local Government.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

SINCE the Stamp Act of 1879 was passed the stamp law has been amended by ten different enactments. The present Bill proposes to repeal and re-enact in a consolidated form the whole of these enactments. It also proposes to introduce certain amendments where the working of the stamp law had disclosed defects. Alterations are printed in italics, and the material amendments which it is proposed to introduce are referred to in the notes on clauses given below. For facility of reference a comparative table is appended to this statement, showing how each section of the Indian Stamp Act, 1879, has been dealt with in the present Bill.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2 (2) and (3).—The definitions of "bill of exchange" and "bill of exchange payable on demand" are taken from the English Stamp Act, 1891 (54 and 55 Vict., c. 39). It will be noted that (as is the case in England) they include many instruments which could not be classed as "bills of exchange" within the definition given by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, but which for stamp purposes ought to fall within the same category.

(7) The definition of "cheque" has been altered to bring it into accord with the definition given by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881.

(11) The definition of "duly stamped" has been amended. The former definition seems scarcely applicable where the instrument was first executed abroad and afterwards stamped in British India.

(13) A definition of "instrument" has been added.

(18) The definition of "policy of insurance" has been amended so as to make it cover policies of every description.

(20) The definition of "power-of-attorney" has been amended so as to make it clear that it relates only to powers-of-attorney and does not include all contracts creating the relationship of principal and agent.

(22) In the definition of "receipt" the word "advertisement" is left out, as the machinery of the Act is not applicable to advertisements acknowledging receipt of money.

The definitions of "vessel," "writing" and "schedule" have been omitted as unnecessary, being now provided for in the General Clauses Act, 1897.

Clause 3.—The general exemption on behalf of Government contained in Schedule II of the Act of 1879 has now been inserted in the body of the Act as a proviso to this clause.

Clause 4.—A proviso has been added to this clause to make it clear that the option given to the parties to elect which instrument shall be considered as the principal instrument is not to be used for the purpose of evading stamp duty.

Clause 8.—A penalty clause taken from the English Act has been added.

Clause 9.—A paragraph has been added to this clause to provide for the composition or consolidation of duties.

Clause 12.—The present law leaves it doubtful how adhesive stamps ought to be cancelled. A paragraph has been added to indicate a proper manner for the cancellation of such stamps.

Clause 20.—Section 19 of the Act of 1879 has been omitted, as the fall of the exchange value of the rupee has rendered it inapplicable. The present clause puts all foreign currency on the same footing, and the second paragraph provides a simple machinery for fixing the rate of exchange for the purpose of stamp duty.

Clause 24.—An Explanation and Illustration have been added to this clause to remove doubts as to its construction.

Clause 25.—The drafting of this clause has been altered so as to make it applicable to annuities commencing at an indefinite future time.

Clause 29.—Sub-clause (h) of this clause has been amended so as to enable a Revenue-authority or Civil Court directing a partition, to remit at discretion the stamp duty payable on the portion of an estate which remains undivided, in consequence of some shareholders electing to continue to hold jointly.

Clause 33.—A paragraph has been added to this clause to provide for the interpretation of the terms " public offices " and " persons in charge of public offices."

Clause 34.—This clause has been added, because under the present law an audit officer of public accounts, before whom an unstamped receipt is produced, must impound the instrument, and has no power to require the substitution of a duly stamped receipt.

Clause 35.—A proviso has been added which prevents the exclusion of receipts from being admitted as evidence against the person by whose fault they are unstamped. A further proviso has been added to this clause to provide that the omission of a Government officer to see that an instrument is duly stamped shall not prejudice the rights of the parties to have the document admitted in evidence.

Clause 37.—This clause has been inserted to provide for the case where by inadvertence a stamp of improper description has been used.

Clause 39.—Power is given to the Collector to Act, in cases where he thinks fit to do so, without application made.

Clause 44.—A paragraph has been added to this clause to provide that, where a party to a suit has been obliged to pay stamp duty through the default of the other party, the duty so paid may be recovered as costs and need not be made the subject of a separate suit.

Clause 45.—This clause has been amended so as to give the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority power to remit as well as to refund penalties. It further provides for the refund of any excess duty which may have been paid. The effect of the clause will be to give an informal right of appeal from the Collector to the Chief Revenue-authority.

Clause 48.—This clause provides a simple procedure for the recovery of duties and penalties.

Clause 49.—The drafting of this clause has been altered so as to make its provisions clearer and to bring it more nearly into accord with the corresponding provisions of the English Stamp Duties Management Act, 1891 (54 and 55 Vict., c. 38).

Clause 50.—This clause is a redraft of the proviso to section 51 of the Act of 1879.

Clause 51.—This clause gives a new power to make allowances for stamp paper on printed forms used by incorporated companies where such forms have ceased to be required.

Clause 54.—A proviso has been added to this clause to make special provision for the case of licensed vendors of stamps.

Clause 55.—This clause is new and is intended to give facilities to Companies in respect of renewals of debentures.

Clause 56.—A paragraph has been added to make it clear that in all cases a Collector is subject to the Chief Controlling Revenue-authority.

Clause 61.—This clause has been amended so as to give to Appellate Courts revisionary powers in respect of decisions of criminal as well as of civil and revenue courts in the cases referred to.

Clause 64.—A clause has been added to cover acts which may not fall within the scope of the preceding clauses, but which nevertheless are done with the intent to defraud the Government of duty.

Clause 69.—This clause has been amended so as to make it clear that any one, whether licensed or not, can sell one-anna adhesive stamps. A corresponding provision has been made in clause 74.

Clause 73.—This clause intended to give Collectors power to trace unduly stamped documents is taken from the English Act.

NOTES TO SCHEDULE I.

GENERAL.—The arrangement of articles is more strictly alphabetical. The exemptions are printed under the Articles to which they relate, instead of being contained in a separate schedule, and exemptions of a general character, which have from time to time been made by notification are now embodied in the schedule itself. A few exemptions of documents executed in connexion with the business of public departments, have been removed from the Act and will be notified among the exemptions made by executive authority.

Article 1.—Acknowledgment of a debt. The attested acknowledgment of a debt is clearly in the nature of a bond and should be stamped as such.

Article 6.—Agreement to mortgage. A mortgage by deposit of title-deeds, commonly called an equitable mortgage, operates as an agreement to mortgage and is better described under that head. The duty is taken from the English Act.

Article 13.—Bills of Exchange. The exemption from stamp duty of Bills of Exchange payable on demand for less than twenty rupees has been omitted. There is no such exemption in England. As regards bills payable otherwise than on demand no alteration has been made in the duty, but the table of duties has been worked out at greater length for convenience of reference.

Article 15.—Bond. A similar table has been worked out with reference to bonds.

Article 17.—Instrument of Cancellation. This article is new.

Article 21.—Cheque. The exemption from stamp duty of cheques under twenty rupees has been omitted. There is no such exemption in England.

Article 23.—Conveyance. The duty has not been altered, but the table of duties has been worked out at greater length for convenience of reference.

Article 24.—Copy or Extract. Provision has been made for stamping duplicate receipts when signed or attested.

Article 27.—Debenture. This article is new; debentures at present come under the general conditions of Bonds, but it has been considered more convenient to deal with them under a separate article.

Article 32.—Instrument of Further Charge. This article has been altered so as to impose the higher duty in cases in which possession is given in pursuance of the instrument of further charge.

Article 35.—A provision for a proper duty on perpetual leases has been added.

Article 40.—Mortgage deed. An addition has been made to this article, taken from the English Stamp Act, 1891, to provide for cases of mortgage by further assurance. An exemption has been added to make it clear, that ordinary pawn transactions are not liable to stamp duty. The explanation regarding possession is intended to prevent evasion of the higher duty on mortgages with possession.

Article 41.—Mortgage of Crop. This is a new article, but it represents an existing notification reducing the duty in the case of mortgage of crops.

Article 47.—Policies of Insurance. The drafting of this article has been altered to make its provisions clearer.

Article 48.—Power-of-attorney. It has been found that sales and mortgages are sometimes effected through the medium of powers-of-attorney. Provision has been made that in this case they should pay the same duty as conveyances. A slight extension is also made of clause (a) of the article.

Article 49.—Promissory Notes. A promissory note payable on demand is in the nature of a continuing security and in England pays the same duty as a bill or note not payable on demand. The same rule is now made applicable to India.

Article 57.—The limitation of the duty is made to extend to the case of a surety executing a bond to secure due execution of a contract.

Article 58.—Settlement. The revocation of a settlement is now specially charged with the same duty as the revocation of any other trust. A provision is made which has the effect of exempting from section 27 of the Act a class of documents in which it is contrary to religious duty to express the value of the thing conveyed.

Article 59.—Share Warrants. This article is taken from section 35 of the Indian Companies Act, 1882. It more appropriately comes under this Act. The duty is expressed more simply, and is the same in amount.

Article 62.—Transfer. A special provision has been made in this article for the transfer of debentures which are marketable securities. The article has no application to debentures payable to bearer.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Bill was introduced in the Council of the Governor General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations on the 15th October, 1897.

NO. 17 OF 1897.

A Bill to amend the Indian Penal Code in relation to Extra-territorial Offences.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the Indian Penal Code in relation to extra-territorial offences; It is hereby enacted as follows:

XLV of 1860.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Penal Code Amendment Act, 1898; and Short title and commencement.

(2) It shall come into force at once.

2. Section 4 of the Indian Penal Code is hereby repealed, and the following is substituted therefor, namely:

XLV of 1860.

Substitution of new section for section 4, Act XLV, 1860.

'4. The provisions of this Code apply to any offence committed by—

Extension of Code to extra-territorial offences.

[32 & 33 Vict., c. 98, s. 1.]

(1) any Native Indian subject of Her Majesty in any place without and beyond British India;

[28 & 29 Vict., c. 17, s. 1.]

(2) any other British subject within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India;

[24 & 25 Vict., c. 67, s. 22 and I. P. C, s. 4.]

(3) any servant of the Queen, whether a British subject or not, within the territories of any Native Prince or Chief in India.

Explanation.—In this section the word "offence" includes every act committed outside British India which, if committed in British India, would be punishable under this Code.

Illustrations.

(a) A, a coolie, who is a Native Indian subject, commits a murder in Uganda. He can be tried and convicted of murder in any place in British India in which he may be found.

(b) B, a European British subject, commits a rape in tribal territory on the British side of the Afghan frontier. He can be tried and convicted of rape in any place in British India in which he may be found.

(c) C, a foreigner who is in the service of the Punjab Government, commits a murder in Jhind. He can be tried and convicted of murder at any place in British India in which he may be found.

(d) D, a British subject living in Indore, instigates E to commit a murder in Bombay. D is guilty of abetting murder.'

3. After section 108 of the Indian Penal Code the following shall be added, namely:

Abetment in British India of offences outside it.

"108A. A person abets an offence within the meaning of this Code who, in British India, abets the commission of any act without and beyond British India which would constitute an offence if committed in British India.

[24 & 25 Vict., c, 67, s. 22.]

Abetment in British India of offences outside it.

Illustration.

A, in British India, instigates B, a foreigner in Goa, to commit a murder in Goa. A is guilty of abetting murder."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

The Indian Penal Code was enacted in 1860 under the powers conferred by s. 43 of the Government of India Act, 1833 (3 & 4 Will. 4, c. 85)—see Reg. v. Elmstone (1878), 7 Bom. Cr. Ca. at p. 100.

2. Since that date Parliament has bestowed on the Indian Legislature various powers of legislating for extra-territorial offences, but no corresponding amendment has been made in the Indian Penal Code. To a large, but not to the full, extent those powers have been taken advantage of by s. 8 of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879 (XXI of 1879). It seems desirable that the Code itself should specify the extent of its extra-territorial operation. At present this is done only in a fragmentary and misleading manner, and, as something more than mere consolidation is required, the present Bill has been prepared. It is proposed eventually to consolidate the various enactments which have from time to time been passed to amend the Code, but it is better to keep amendment distinct from consolidation.

3. The English theory of the territoriality of crime is purely a doctrine of the common law and probably owes its origin to the old rules of criminal pleading. It is not accepted by other nations—see Hall's International Law, Ed. 3, p. 206, and the judgment of West, J., in Reg. v. Moorga Chetty (1881), I. L. R. 5 Bom., at p. 362. Having regard to the circumstances of India, Parliament has departed from the English rule, and has authorised the Indian Legislature to deal in certain cases with extra-territorial offences. It seems right that these powers should be exercised to their full extent, and the present Bill will effect that object. Even then certain anomalies will remain, but they can be removed only by further Parliamentary legislation.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 2.—This clause proposes to repeal s. 4 of the Code and to substitute a new section therefor.

Clause (1) of the new section follows the words of s. 1 of the Indian Councils Act, 1869 (32 & 33 Vict., c. 98), and corresponds with s. 8 (1) of the Foreign Jurisdiction and Extradition Act, 1879 (XXI of 1879).

Clause (2) follows the words of s. 1 of the Government of India Act, 1865 (28 & 29 Vict., c. 17), by using the term "British subject," and will extend the operation of s. 8 (2) of Act XXI of 1879, which applies only to European British subjects. There are many British subjects who are neither European British subjects as defined by the Act, nor Native Indian subjects, e.g., Cingalese, Tasmanians and inhabitants of the Straits Settlements.

As regards clause (3), by s. 22 of the Indian Councils Act, 1861 (24 & 25 Vict., c. 67), the Indian Legislature is empowered to legislate for "all servants of the Government of India within the dominions of Princes and States in alliance with Her Majesty." By s. 4 of the Indian Penal Code the provisions of the Code are extended to every servant of the Queen "within the dominions of any Prince or State in alliance with the Queen, by virtue of any treaty or engagement heretofore entered into with the East India Company, or which may have been or may hereafter be made in the name of the Queen by any government of India.' Neither the Indian Act nor the English Statute draws any distinction between Government servants who are British subjects and those who are not. The words "whether a British subject or not" have, therefore, been inserted in the Bill to negative the decision in Empress v. Natwarai (1891) I L. R. 16 Bom. 178, where it was held that a servant of Government who was the subject of a Native State, could not be tried in British India for an offence committed outside. The necessary consequential amendments will be made in the Code of Criminal Procedure.

The expression "India" is defined by s. 3 (27) of the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), and coincides with the definition given by the Interpretation Act, 1889 (52 & 53 Vict., c. 63).

Clause 3.—This clause is intended to carry out a suggestion of the Bombay Government consequent on a decision of the Bombay High Court to the effect that a person in British India who instigated a Portuguese to commit a murder in Goa, was guilty of no offence—see Queen Empress v. Gunpatrao (1894), I. L. R. 19 Bom. 105. Presumably, if the murderer had been a Native Indian subject, the present law would have reached him; but the point was not discussed. The Indian Legislature has power to legislate for all persons in British India, and there is no reason why British India should be an Alsatia for the instigators of crime.

Postponement issue of process.

202. (1) If the Chief Presidency Magistrate, or any other Presidency Magistrate whom the Local Government may from time to time authorise in this behalf, or any Magistrate of the first or second class, sees reason to distrust the truth of a complaint of an offence of which he is authorised to take cognizance, he may, when the complainant has been examined, record his reasons for distrusting the truth of the complaint, and may then postpone the issue of process for compelling the attendance of the person complained against, and either inquire into the case himself or direct a previous local investigation to be made by any officer subordinate to such Magistrate, or by a police-officer, or by such other person, not being a Magistrate or police-officer, as he thinks fit, for the purpose of ascertaining the truth or falsehood of the complaint.

(2) If such investigation is made by some person not being a Magistrate or a police-officer, he shall exercise all the powers conferred by this Code on an officer in charge of a police-station, except that he shall not have power to arrest without warrant.

(3) This section applies to the police in the towns of Calcutta and Bombay.

Dismissal of complaint.

203. The Magistrate before whom a complaint is made or to whom it has been transferred may dismiss the complaint if, after examining the complainant and considering the result of the investigation (if any) made under section 202, there is in his judgment no sufficient ground for proceeding. In such case he shall briefly record his reasons for so doing.

CHAPTER XVII.

OF THE COMMENCEMENT OF PROCEEDINGS BEFORE MAGISTRATES.

Issue of process.

204. (1) If, in the opinion of a Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence, there is sufficient ground for proceeding, and the case appears to be one in which, according to the fourth column of the second schedule, a summons should issue in the first instance, he shall issue his summons for the attendance of the accused. If the case appears to be one in which, according to that column, a warrant should issue in the first instance, he may issue a warrant, or, if he thinks fit, a summons, for causing the accused to be brought or to appear at a certain time before such Magistrate or some other Magistrate having jurisdiction.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the provisions of section 90.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XVII.—Of the Commencement of Proceedings before Magistrates.—Section 205.—Chapter XVIII.—Of Inquiry into Cases triable by the Court of Session or High Court.—Sections 206-212.)

(3) When by any law for the time being in force any process-fees or other fees are payable, no summons shall be issued until the fees are paid, and if such fees are not paid within a reasonable time, the Magistrate may dismiss the case.

Magistrate may dispense with personal attendance of accused.

205. (1) Whenever a Magistrate issues a summons, he may, if he sees reason so to do, dispense with the personal attendance of the accused, and permit him to appear by his pleader.

(2) But the Magistrate inquiring into or trying the case may, in his discretion, at any stage of the proceedings, direct the personal attendance of the accused, and, if necessary, enforce such attendance in manner hereinbefore provided.

CHAPTER XVIII.

OF INQUIRY INTO CASES TRIABLE BY THE COURT OF SESSION OR HIGH COURT.

Power to commit for trial.

206. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 443, any Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate, Subdivisional Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, or any Magistrate empowered in this behalf by the Local Government, may commit any person for trial to the Court of Session or High Court for any offence triable by such Court.

(2) But, save as herein otherwise provided, no person triable by the Court of Session shall be committed for trial to the High Court.

Procedure in inquiries preparatory to commitment.

207. The following procedure shall be adopted in inquiries before Magistrates where the case is triable exclusively by a Court of Session or High Court, or, in the opinion of the Magistrate, ought to be tried by such Court.

Taking of evidence produced.

208. (1) The Magistrate shall, when the accused appears or is brought before him, proceed to hear the complainant (if any), and take in manner hereinafter provided all such evidence as may be produced in support of the prosecution or in behalf of the accused, or as may be called for by the Magistrate.

(2) The accused shall be at liberty to cross-examine the witnesses for the prosecution, and in such case the prosecutor may re-examine them.

(3) If the complainant or officer conducting the prosecution, or the accused, applies to the Magistrate to issue process to compel the attendance of any witness or the production of any document or other thing, the Magistrate shall issue such process unless, for reasons to be recorded, he deems it unnecessary to do so.

Process for production of further evidence.

(4) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to require a Presidency Magistrate to record his reasons.

When accused person to be discharged.

209. (1) When the evidence referred to in section 208, sub-sections (1) and (3) has been taken, and he has examined the accused for the purpose of enabling him to explain any circumstances appearing in the evidence against him, such Magistrate shall, if he finds that there are not sufficient grounds for committing the accused person for trial, record his reasons and discharge him, unless it appears to the Magistrate that such person should be tried before himself or some other Magistrate, in which case he shall proceed accordingly.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless.

When charge is to be framed.

210. (1) When, upon such evidence being taken and such examination (if any) being made, the Magistrate finds that a primâ facie case has been made out and that there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, he shall frame a charge under his hand, declaring with what offence the accused is charged.

Charge to be explained, and copy furnished, to accused.

(2) As soon as the charge has been framed, it shall be read and explained to the accused, and a copy thereof shall, if he so requires, be given to him free of cost.

List of witnesses for defence on trial.

211. (1) The accused shall be required at once to give in, orally or in writing, a list of the persons (if any) whom he wishes to be summoned to give evidence on his trial.

Further list.

(2) The Magistrate may, in his discretion, allow the accused to give in any further list of witnesses at a subsequent time; and, where the accused is committed for trial before the High Court, nothing in this section shall be deemed to preclude the accused from giving, at any time before his trial, to the Clerk of the Crown a further list of the persons whom he wishes to be summoned to give evidence on such trial.

Power of Magistrate to examine such witnesses

212. The Magistrate may, in his discretion, summon and examine any witness named in any list given in to him under section 211.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XVIII.—Of Inquiry into Cases triable by the Court of Session or High Court.—Sections 213-219.)

Order of commitment.

213. (1) When the accused, on being required to give in a list under section 211, has declined to do so, or when he has given in such list and the witnesses (if any) included therein whom the Magistrate desires to examine have been summoned and examined under section 212, the Magistrate may make an order committing the accused for trial by the High Court or the Court of Session (as the case may be), and (unless the Magistrate is a Presidency Magistrate) shall also record briefly the reasons for such commitment.

(2) If the Magistrate, after hearing the witnesses for the defence, is satisfied that there is no sufficient cause to justify the commitment of the accused, he may cancel the charge and discharge the accused.

Person charged outside presidency-towns jointly with European British subject.

214. If any person (not being an European British subject) is accused before a Magistrate other than a Presidency Magistrate of having committed an offence conjointly with an European British subject who is about to be committed for trial, or to be tried, before the High Court on a similar charge arising out of the same transaction, and the Magistrate finds that there are sufficient grounds for committing the accused for trial, he shall commit him for trial before the High Court, and not before the Court of Session.

Quashing commitments under section 213 or 214.

215. A commitment once made under section 213 or section 214 by a competent Magistrate or by a Court of Session under section 477, or by a Civil or Revenue Court under section 478, can be quashed by the High Court only, and only on a point of law.

Summons to witnesses for defence when accused is committed.

216. When the accused has given in any list of witnesses under section 211 and has been committed for trial, the Magistrate shall summon such of the witnesses included in the list, as have not appeared before himself, to appear before the Court to which the accused has been committed:

Provided that, where the accused has been committed to the High Court, the Magistrate may, in his discretion, leave such witnesses to be summoned by the Clerk of the Crown, and such witnesses may be summoned accordingly:

Refusal to summon unnecessary witness unless deposit made.

Provided also that if the Magistrate thinks that any witness is included in the list for the purpose of vexation or delay, or of defeating the ends of justice, the Magistrate may require the accused to satisfy him that there are reasonable grounds for believing that the evidence of such witness is material, and, if he is not so satisfied, may refuse to summon the witness (recording his reasons for such refusal), or may before summoning him require such sum to be deposited as such Magistrate thinks necessary to defray the expense of obtaining the attendance of the witness and all other proper expenses.

Bond of complainants and witnesses.

217. (1) Complainants and witnesses for the prosecution and defence, whose attendance before the Court of Session or High Court is necessary and who appear before the Magistrate, shall execute before him bonds binding themselves to be in attendance when called upon at the Court of Session or High Court, to prosecute or to give evidence, as the case may be.

Detention in custody in case of refusal to attend or to execute bond.

(2) If any complainant or witness refuses to attend before the Court of Session or High Court, or execute the bond above directed, the Magistrate may detain him in custody until he executes such bond, or until his attendance at the Court of Session or High Court is required, when the Magistrate shall send him in custody to the Court of Session or High Court, as the case may be.

Commitment when to be notified.

218. (1) When the accused is committed for trial, the Magistrate shall issue an order to such person as may be appointed by the Local Government in this behalf, notifying the commitment, and stating the offence in the same form as the charge, unless the Magistrate is satisfied that such person is already aware of the commitment and the form of the charge;

Charge, etc., to be forwarded to High Court or Court of Session.

and shall send the charge, the record of the inquiry and any weapon or other thing which is to be produced in evidence, to the Court of Session or (where the commitment is made to the High Court) to the Clerk of the Crown or other officer appointed in this behalf by the High Court.

English translation to be forwarded to High Court.

(2) When the commitment is made to the High Court and any part of the record is not in English, an English translation of such part shall be forwarded with the record.

Power to summon supplementary witnesses.

219 (1) The Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, summon and examine supplementary witnesses after the commitment and before the commencement of the trial, and bind them over in manner hereinbefore provided to appear and give evidence.

(2) Such examination shall, if possible, be taken in the presence of the accused, and, where the Magistrate is not a Presidency Magistrate, a copy of the evidence of such witnesses shall, if the accused so require, be given to him free of cost.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceeding in Prosecutions.—Chapter XVIII—Of Inquiry into Cases triable by the Court of Session or High Court.—Section 220.—Chapter XIX.—Of the Charge.—Section 221-224.)

Custody of accused pending trial.

220. Until and during the trial, the Magistrate shall, subject to the provisions of this Code regarding the taking of bail commit the accused, by warrant, to custody.

CHAPTER XIX.

OF THE CHARGE.

Form of Charges.

Charge to state offence.

221. (1) Every charge under this Code shall state the offence with which the accused is charged.

Specific name of offence sufficient description.

(2) If the law which creates the offence gives it any specific name, the offence may be described in the charge by that name only.

How stated where offence has no specific name.

(3) If the law which creates the offence does not give it any specific name, so much of the definition of the offence must be stated as to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

(4) The law and section of the law against which the offence is said to have been committed shall be mentioned in the charge.

What implied in charge.

(5) The fact that the charge is made is equivalent to a statement that every legal condition required by law to constitute the offence charged was fulfilled in the particular case.

Language of charge.

(6) In the presidency-towns the charge shall be written in English; elsewhere it shall be written either in English or in the language of the Court.

Previous conviction when to be set out.

(7) If the accused has been previously convicted of any offence, and it is intended to prove such previous conviction for the purpose of effecting the punishment which the Court is competent to award, the fact, date and place of the previous conviction shall be stated in the charge. If such statement is omitted, the Court may add it at any time before sentence is passed.

Illustrations.

(a) A is charged with the murder of B. This is equivalent to a statement that A's act fell within the definition of murder given in sections 299 and 300 of the Indian Penal Code; that it did not fall within any of the general exceptions of the same Code; and that it did not fall within any of the five exceptions to section 300, or that, if it did fall within Exception I, one or other of the three provisoes to that exception applied to it. XLV of 1860.

(b) A is charged, under section 326 of the Indian Penal Code, with voluntarily causing grievous hurt to B by means of an instrument for shooting. This is equivalent to a statement that the case was not provided for by section 335 of the Indian Penal Code, and that the general exceptions did not apply to it. XLV of 1860.

(c) A is accused of murder, cheating, theft, extortion, adultery or criminal intimidation, or using a false property-mark. The charge may state that A committed murder, or cheating, or theft, or extortion, or adultery, or criminal intimidation, or that he used a false property-mark, without reference to the definitions of those crimes contained in the Indian Penal Code; but the sections under which the offence is punishable must, in each instance, be referred to in the charge. XLV of 1860.

(d) A is charged, under section 184 of the Indian Penal Code, with intentionally obstructing a sale of property offered for sale by the lawful authority of a public servant. The charge should be in those words.

Particulars as to time, place and person.

222. The charge shall contain such particulars as to the time and place of the alleged offence, and the person (if any) against whom, or the thing (if any) in respect of which, it was committed, as are reasonably sufficient to give the accused notice of the matter with which he is charged.

When manner of committing offence must be stated.

223. When the nature of the case is such that the particulars mentioned in sections 221 and 222 do not give the accused sufficient notice of the matter with which he is charged, the charge shall also contain such particulars of the manner in which the alleged offence was committed as will be sufficient for that purpose.

Illustrations.

(a) A is accused of the theft of a certain article at a certain time and place. The charge need not set out the manner in which the theft was effected.

(b) A is accused of cheating B at a given time and place. The charge must set out the manner in which A cheated B.

(c) A is accused of giving false evidence at a given time and place. The charge must set out that portion of the evidence given by A which is alleged to be false.

(d) A is accused of obstructing B, a public servant, in the discharge of his public functions at a given time and place. The charge must set out the manner in which A obstructed B in the discharge of his functions.

(e) A is accused of the murder of B at a given time and place. The charge need not state the manner in which A murdered B.

(f) A is accused of disobeying a direction of the law with intent to save B from punishment. The charge must set out the disobedience charged and the law infringed.

Words in charge taken in sense of law under which offence is punishable.

224. In every charge words used in describing an offence shall be deemed to have been used in the sense attached to them respectively by the law under which such offence is punishable.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XIX.—Of the Charge.—Sections 225-232.)

Effect of errors.

225. (1) No error in stating either the offence or the particulars required to be stated in the charge, and no omission to state the offence or those particulars, shall be regarded at any stage of the case as material, unless the accused was in fact misled by such error or omission, and it has occasioned a failure of justice.

(2) Any objection to a charge for want of particularity or for otherwise not conforming to the requirements of this Chapter shall be taken at the earliest opportunity, and, if not so taken, no finding, sentence or order shall be reversed or altered on appeal or revision by any superior Court on the ground of the informality or insufficiency of the charge.

Illustrations.

XLV of 1860. (a) A is charged, under section 242 of the Indian Penal Code, with "having been in possession of counterfeit coin, having known at the time when he became possessed thereof that such coin was counterfeit," the word "fraudulently" being omitted in the charge. Unless it appears that A was in fact misled by this omission, the error shall not be regarded as material.

(b) A is charged with cheating B, and the manner in which he cheated B is not set out in the charge, or is set out incorrectly. A defends himself, calls witnesses, and gives his own account of the transaction. The Court may infer from this that the omission to set out the manner of the cheating is not material.

(c) A is charged with cheating B, and the manner in which he cheated B is not set out in the charge. There were many transactions between A and B, and A had no means of knowing to which of them the charge referred, and offered no defence. The Court may infer from such facts that the omission to set out the manner of the cheating was, in this case, a material error.

(d) A is charged with the murder of Khoda Baksh on the 21st January, 1882. In fact, the murdered person's name was Haidar Baksh, and the date of the murder was the 20th January, 1882. A was never charged with any murder but one, and had heard the inquiry before the Magistrate, which referred exclusively to the case of Haidar Baksh. The Court may infer from these facts that A was not misled, and that the error in the charge was immaterial.

(e) A was charged with murdering Haidar Baksh on the 20th January, 1882, and Khoda Baksh (who tried to arrest him for that murder) on the 21st January, 1882. When charged for the murder of Haidar Baksh, he was tried for the murder of Khoda Baksh. The witnesses present in his defence were witnesses in the case of Haidar Baksh. The Court may infer from this that A was misled and that the error was material.

Procedure on commitment without charge or with imperfect charge.

226. When any person is committed for trial without a charge, or with an imperfect or erroneous charge, the Court, or, in the case of a High Court, the Clerk of the Crown, may frame a charge, or add to or otherwise alter the charge, as the case may be, having regard to the rules contained in this Code as to the form of charges.

Court may alter charge.

227. (1) Any Court may alter or add to any charge at any time before judgment is pronounced, or, in the case of trials before the Court of Session or High Court, before the verdict of the jury is returned or the opinions of the assessors are expressed.

(2) Every such alteration shall be read and explained to the accused.

When trial may proceed immediately after alteration.

228. If the charge framed or alteration made under section 226 or section 227 is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is not likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused in his defence or the prosecutor in the conduct of the case, the Court may, in its discretion, after such charge or alteration has been framed or made, proceed with the trial as if the new or altered charge had been the original charge.

When new trial may be directed, or trial suspended.

229. If the new or altered charge is such that proceeding immediately with the trial is likely, in the opinion of the Court, to prejudice the accused or the prosecutor as aforesaid, the Court may either direct a new trial or adjourn the trial for such period as may be necessary.

Stay of proceedings if prosecution of offence in altered charge requires previous sanction.

230. If the offence stated in the new or altered charge is one for the prosecution of which previous sanction is necessary, the case shall not be proceeded with until such sanction is obtained, unless sanction has been already obtained for a prosecution on the same facts as those on which the new or altered charge is founded.

Recall of witnesses when charge altered.

231. Whenever a charge is altered or added by the Court after the commencement of the trial, the prosecutor and the accused shall be allowed to recall or re-summon, and examine with reference to such alteration, any witness who may have been examined, and also to call any further witness whom the Court may think to be material.

Effect of material error.

232. (1) If any Appellate Court, or the High Court in the exercise of its powers of revision or of its powers under Chapter XXVII, is of opinion that any person convicted of an offence was misled in his defence by the absence of a charge or by an error in the charge, it shall direct a new trial to be had upon a charge framed in whatever manner it thinks fit.

(2) If the Court is of opinion that the facts of the case are such that no valid charge could be preferred against the accused in respect of the facts proved, it shall quash the conviction.

Illustration.

A is convicted of an offence, under section 196 of the Indian Penal Code, upon a charge which omits to state that he knew the evidence, which he corruptly used or XLV of 1860.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XIX.—Of the Charge.—Sections 233-235.)

attempted to use as true or genuine, was false or fabricated. If the Court thinks it probable that A had such knowledge, and that he was misled in his defence by the omission from the charge of the statement that he had it, it shall direct a new trial upon an amended charge; but if it appears probable from the proceedings that A had no such knowledge, it shall quash the conviction.

Joinder of Charges.

Separate charges for distinct offences.

233. For every distinct offence of which any person is accused there shall be a separate charge, and every such charge shall be tried separately, except in the cases mentioned in sections 234, 235, 236 and 239.

Illustration.

A is accused of a theft on one occasion, and of causing grievous hurt on another occasion. A must be separately charged and separately tried for the theft and causing grievous hurt.

Three offences of same kind within year may be charged together.

234. (1) When a person is accused of more offences than one of the same kind committed within the space of twelve months from the first to the last of such offences, he may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, any number of them not exceeding three.

(2) Offences are of the same kind when they are punishable with the same amount of punishment under the same section of the Indian XLV of 1860. Penal Code or of any special or local law.

(3) When the accused is charged with criminal breach of trust or criminal misappropriation of money, it shall not be necessary to specify the particular items misappropriated or the exact dates of misappropriation.

Trial for more than one offence.

235. (1) If, in one series of acts so connected together as to form the same transaction, more offences than one are committed by the same person, he may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, every such offence.

Offence falling within two definitions.

(2) If the acts alleged constitute an offence falling within two or more separate definitions of any law in force for the time being by which offences are defined or punished, the person accused of them may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, each of such offences.

Acts constituting one offence, but constituting when combined a different offence.

(3) If several acts, of which one or more than one would by itself or themselves constitute an offence, constitute when combined a different offence, the person accused of them may be charged with, and tried at one trial for, the offence constituted by such acts when combined, or for any offence constituted by any one, or more, of such acts.

(4) Nothing contained in this section shall XLV of 1860. affect the Indian Penal Code, section 71.

to sub-section (1)—

(a) A rescues B, a person in lawful custody, and in so doing causes grievous hurt to C, a constable in whose custody B was. A may be charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 225 and 333 of the Indian Penal XLV of 1860. Code.

(b) A commits house-breaking by day with intent to commit adultery, and commits, in the house so entered, adultery with B's wife. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 454 and 497 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

(c) A entices B, the wife of C, away from C, with intent to commit adultery with B, and then commits adultery with her. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 498 and 497 of the Indian Penal Code.

(d) A has in his possession several seals, knowing them to be counterfeit and intending to use them for the purpose of committing several forgeries punishable under section 466 of the Indian Penal Code. A may be XLV of 1860. separately charged with, and convicted of, the possession of each seal under section 473 of the Indian Penal Code.

(e) With intent to cause injury to B, A institutes a criminal proceeding against him, knowing that there is no just or lawful ground for such proceeding; and also falsely accuses B of having committed an offence, knowing that there is no just or lawful ground for such charges. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, two offences under section 211 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

(f) A, with intent to cause injury to B, falsely accuses him of having committed an offence, knowing that there is no just or lawful ground for such charge. On the trial, A gives false evidence against B, intending thereby to cause B to be convicted of a capital offence. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 211 and 194 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

(g) A, with six others, commits the offences of rioting, grievous hurt and assaulting a public servant endeavouring in the discharge of his duty as such to suppress the riot. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 147, 325 and 152 of the Indian XLV of 1860. Penal Code.

(h) A threatens B, C and D at the same time with injury to their persons with intent to cause alarm to them. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, each of the three offences under section 506 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860

(i) A wrongfully strikes B with a cane. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 352 and 323 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

(j) Several stolen sacks of corn are made over to A and B, who know they are stolen property, for the purpose of concealing them. A and B thereupon voluntarily assist each other to conceal the sacks at the bottom of a grain-pit. A and B may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 411 and XLV of 1860. 414 of the Indian Penal Code.

(k) A exposes her child with the knowledge that she is thereby likely to cause its death. The child dies in consequence of such exposure. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 317 XLV of 1860. and 304 of the Indian Penal Code.

(l) A dishonestly uses a forged document as genuine evidence, in order to convict B, a public servant, of an XLV of 1860. offence under section 167 of the Indian Penal Code A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 471 (read with 466) and 196 of the same Code.

to sub-section (3)—

(m) A commits robbery on B, and in doing so voluntarily causes hurt to him. A may be separately charged with, and convicted of, offences under sections 323, 392 and 394 of the Indian Penal Code. XLV of 1860.

Where it is doubtful what offence has been committed.

236. If a single act or series of acts is of such a nature that it is doubtful which of several offences the facts which can be proved will constitute, the accused may be charged with having committed all or any of such offences, and any number of such charges may be tried at once; or he may be charged in the alternative with having committed some one of the said offences.

Illustrations.

(a) A is accused of an act which may amount to theft, or receiving stolen property, or criminal breach of trust or cheating. He may be charged with theft, receiving stolen property, criminal breach of trust and cheating, or he may be charged with having committed theft, or receiving stolen property, or criminal breach of trust or cheating.

(b) A states on oath before the Magistrate that he saw B hit C with a club. Before the Sessions Court A states on oath that B never hit C. A may be convicted of intentionally giving false evidence, although it cannot be proved which of these contradictory statements was false.

When a person is charged with one offence, he can be convicted of another.

237. (1) If, in the case mentioned in section 236, the accused is charged with one offence, and it appears in evidence that he committed a different offence for which he might have been charged under the provisions of that section, he may be convicted of the offence which he is shown to have committed, although he was not charged with it.

(2) When the accused is charged with an offence, he may be convicted of having attempted to commit that offence, although the attempt is not separately charged.

Illustration.

A is charged with theft. It appears that he committed the offence of criminal breach of trust, or that of receiving stolen goods. He may be convicted of criminal breach of trust, or of receiving stolen goods (as the case may be), though he was not charged with such offence.

When offence proved included in offence charged.

238. (1) When a person is charged with an offence consisting of several particulars, a combination of some only of which constitutes a complete minor offence, and such combination is proved, but the remaining particulars are not proved, he may be convicted of the minor offence, though he was not charged with it.

(2) When a person is charged with an offence and facts are proved which reduce it to a minor offence, he may be convicted of the minor offence, although he is not charged with it.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise a conviction of any offence referred to in section 198 or section 199 when no complaint has been made as required by that section.

Illustrations.

(a) A is charged, under section 407 of the Indian Penal Code, with criminal breach of trust in respect of property entrusted to him as a carrier. It appears that he did commit criminal breach of trust under section 406 in respect of the property, but that it was not entrusted to him as a carrier. He may be convicted of criminal breach of trust under section 406. XLV of 1860.

(b) A is charged, under section 325 of the Indian Penal Code, with causing grievous hurt. He proves that he acted on grave and sudden provocation. He may be convicted under section 335 of that Code. XLV of 1860.

What persons may be charged jointly.

239. When more persons than one are accused of the same offence or of different offences commited in the same transaction, or when one person is accused of committing any offence, and another of abetment of, or attempt to commit, such offence, they may be charged and tried together or separately, as the Court thinks fit; and the provisions contained in the former part of this chapter shall apply to all such charges.

Illustrations.

(a) A and B are accused of the same murder. A and B may be charged and tried together for the murder.

(b) A and B are accused of a robbery, in the course of which A commits a murder with which B has nothing to do. A and B may be tried together on a charge, charging both of them with the robbery, and A alone with the murder.

(c) A and B are both charged with a theft, and B is charged with two other thefts committed by him in the course of the same transaction. A and B may be both tried together on a charge, charging both with the one theft, and B alone with the two other thefts.

Withdrawal of remaining charges on conviction on one of several charges.

240. When a charge containing more heads than one is made against the same person, and when a conviction has been had on one or more of them, the complainant, or the officer conducting the prosecution, may, with the consent of the Court, withdraw the remaining charge or charges, or the Court of its own accord may stay the inquiry into, or trial of, such charge or charges. Such withdrawal shall have the effect of an acquittal on such charge or charges, unless the conviction be set aside, in which case the said Court (subject to the order of the Court setting aside the conviction) may proceed with the inquiry into or trial of the charge or charges so withdrawn.

CHAPTER XX.

OF THE TRIAL OF SUMMONS-CASES BY MAGISTRATES.

Procedure in summons-cases.

241. The following procedure shall be observed by Magistrates in the trial of summons-cases.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XX.—Of the Trial of Summons-cases by Magistrates.—Sections 242-250.)

Substance of accusation to be stated.

242. When the accused appears or is brought before the Magistrate, the particulars of the offence of which he is accused shall be stated to him, and he shall be asked if he has any cause to show why he should not be convicted; but it shall not be necessary to frame a formal charge.

Conviction on admission of truth of accusation.

243. If the accused admits that he has committed the offence or offences of which he is accused or any of them, his admission shall be recorded as nearly as possible in the words used by him; and, if he shows no sufficient cause why he should not be convicted, the Magistrate may convict him accordingly.

Procedure when no such admission is made.

244. (1) If the accused does not make such admission, the Magistrate shall proceed to hear the complainant (if any), and take all such evidence as may be produced in support of the prosecution, and also to hear the accused and take all such evidence as he produces in his defence.

(2) The Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, on the application of the complainant or accused, issue process to compel the attendance of any witness or the production of any document or other thing.

(3) The Magistrate may, before summoning any witness on such application, require that his reasonable expenses, incurred in attending for the purposes of the trial, be deposited in Court.

Acquittal.

245. (1) If the Magistrate upon taking the evidence referred to in section 244 and such further evidence (if any) as he may, of his own motion, cause to be produced, and (if he thinks fit) examining the accused, finds the accused not guilty, he shall record an order of acquittal.

Sentence.

(2) If he finds the accused guilty, he shall pass sentence upon him according to law.

Finding not limited by complaint or summons.

246. A Magistrate may, under section 243 or section 245, convict the accused of any offence triable under this chapter which from the facts admitted or proved he appears to have committed, whatever may be the nature of the complaint or summons.

Non-appearance of complainant

247. If the summons has been issued on complaint, and upon the day appointed for the appearance of the accused, or any day subsequent thereto to which the hearing may be adjourned, the complainant does not appear, the Magistrate shall, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, acquit the accused, unless for some reason he thinks proper to adjourn the hearing of the case to some other day.

Withdrawal of complaint.

248. If a complainant, at any time before a final order is passed in any case under this chapter, satisfies the Magistrate that there are sufficient grounds for permitting him to withdraw his complaint, the Magistrate may permit him to withdraw the same, and shall thereupon acquit the accused.

Power to stop proceedings when no complainant.

249. In any case instituted otherwise than upon complaint, a Presidency Magistrate, a Magistrate of the first class, or, with the previous sanction of the District Magistrate, any other Magistrate, may, for reasons to be recorded by him, stop the proceedings at any stage without pronouncing any judgment either of acquittal or conviction, and may thereupon release the accused.

Frivolous or vexatious accusations. [Act X of 1882, s. 560.]

250. (1) If, in any case instituted by complaint as defined in this Code, or upon information given to a police-officer or to a Magistrate, a person is accused before a Magistrate of any offence triable by a Magistrate, and the Magistrate by whom the case is instituted discharges or acquits the accused and is satisfied that the accusation against him was frivolous or vexatious, the Magistrate may, in his discretion, by his order of discharge or acquittal, direct the person upon whose complaint or information the accusation was made to pay to the accused, or to each of the accused where there are more than one, such compensation, not exceeding fifty rupees, as the Magistrate thinks fit:

Provided that, before making any such direction, the Magistrate shall—

(a) record and consider any objection which the complainant or informant may urge against the making of the direction, and,

(b) if the Magistrate directs any compensation to be paid, state in writing, in his order of discharge or acquittal, his reasons for awarding the compensation.

(2) Compensation of which a Magistrate has ordered payment under sub section (1) shall be recoverable as if it were a fine:

Provided that, if it cannot be recovered, the imprisonment to be awarded shall be simple, and for such term not exceeding thirty days, as the Magistrate directs,

(3) A complainant or informant who has been ordered under sub-section (1) by a Magistrate of the second or third class to pay compensation to an accused person may appeal from the order, in so far as the order relates to the payment of the compensation, as if such complainant or informant had been convicted on a trial held by such Magistrate.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXI.—Of the Trial of Warrant-cases by Magistrates.—Sections 251-259.)

(4) Where an order for payment of compensation to an accused person is made in a case which is subject to appeal under sub section (3), the compensation shall not be paid to him before the period allowed for the presentation of the appeal has elapsed, or, if an appeal is presented, before the appeal has been decided.

(5) At the time of awarding compensation in any subsequent civil suit relating to the same matter, the Court shall take into account any compensation paid or recovered under this section.

CHAPTER XXI.

OF THE TRIAL OF WARRANT CASES BY MAGISTRATES.

Procedure in warrant-cases

251. The following procedure shall be observed by Magistrates in the trial of warrant-cases.

Evidence for prosecution.

252. (1) When the accused appears or is brought before a Magistrate, such Magistrate shall proceed to hear the complainant (if any) and take all such evidence as may be produced in support of the prosecution.

(2) The Magistrate shall ascertain, from the complainant or otherwise, the names of any persons likely to be acquainted with the facts of the case and to be able to give evidence for the prosecution, and shall summon to give evidence before himself such of them as he thinks necessary.

Discharge of accused.

253. (1) If, upon taking all the evidence referred to in section 252, and making such examination (if any) of the accused as the Magistrate thinks necessary, he finds that no case against the accused has been made out which, if unrebutted would warrant his conviction, the Magistrate shall discharge him.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to prevent a Magistrate from discharging the accused at any previous stage of the case if, for reasons to be recorded by such Magistrate, he considers the charge to be groundless.

Charge to be framed when offence appears proved.

254 If, when such evidence and examination have been taken and made, the Magistrate is of opinion that there is ground for presuming that the accused has committed an offence triable under this chapter, which such Magistrate is competent to try, and which, in his opinion, could be adequately punished by him, he shall frame in writing a charge against the accused.

Plea.

255. (1) The charge shall then be read and explained to the accused, and he shall be asked whether he is guilty or has any defence to make.

(2) If the accused pleads guilty, the Magistrate shall record the plea, and may in his discretion convict him thereon.

Defence.

256 (1) If the accused refuses to plead or does not plead, or claims to be tried, he shall be called upon to enter upon his defence and to produce his evidence, and shall, at any time while he is making his defence, be allowed to recall and cross-examine any witness for the prosecution present in the Court or its precincts who has not previously been cross-examined as to the facts constituting the charge.

(2) If the accused puts in any written statement, the Magistrate shall file it with the record.

Process for compelling production of evidence at instance of accused.

(2) When the accused has cross examined or had the opportunity of cross examining any witness, the attendance of such witness shall not be compelled under this section unless the Magistrate is satisfied that it is necessary for the purposes of justice.

(3) The Magistrate may, before summoning any witness on such application, require that his reasonable expenses incurred in attending for the purposes of the trial be deposited in Court.

Acquittal.

258 (1) If in any case under this chapter in which a charge has been framed the Magistrate finds the accused not guilty, he shall record an order of acquittal.

Conviction.

(2) If in any such case the Magistrate finds the accused guilty, he shall pass sentence upon him according to law.

Absence of complainant.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

269. (1) The Local Government may, with the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council, by order in the official Gazette, direct that the trial of all offences, or of any particular class of offences, before any Court of Session, shall be by jury in any district, and may, with the like sanction revoke or alter such order.

(2) The Local Government may by general or special order in the official Gazette direct at what place or places the Court of Session shall hold its sitting, and may from time to time rescind or alter any order so made; but until such order be made, the Courts of Session shall hold their sittings as heretofore.

(3) The Local Government, by like order, may also declare that, in the case of any district in which the trial of any offence is to be by jury, the trial of the offence shall, if the Judge, on application made to him or of his own motion, so directs, be by jurors summoned from a special jury list, and may revoke or alter such order.

(4) When the accused is charged at the same trial with several offences of which some are and some are not triable by jury, he shall be tried by jury for such of those offences as are triable by jury, and by the Court of Session, with the aid of the jurors as assessors, for such of them as are not triable by jury.

C.—Choosing a Jury.

274. (1) In trials before the High Court the jury shall consist of nine persons.

Number of jury.

(2) In trials by jury before the Court of Session the jury shall consist of such uneven number, not being less than three, or more than nine, as the Local Government, by order applicable to any particular district or to any particular class of offences in that district, may direct.

(g) his inability to understand the language in which the evidence is given, or when such evidence is interpreted the language in which it is interpreted;

279. (1) Every objection taken to a juror shall be decided by the Court, and such decision shall be recorded and be final.

Supply of place of juror against whom objection allowed.

Provided that no objection to such juror or other person is taken under section 278 and allowed.

280. (1) When the jurors have been chosen, they shall appoint one of their number to be foreman.

(2) The foreman shall preside in the debates of the jury, deliver the verdict of the jury, and ask any information from the Court that is required by the jury or any of the jurors.

282. (1) If, in the course of a trial by jury, at any time before the return of the verdict, any juror, from any sufficient cause, is prevented from attending throughout the trial, or if any juror absents himself, and it is not practicable to enforce his attendance, or if it appears that any juror is unable to understand the language in which the evidence is given, or, when such evidence is interpreted, the language in which it is interpreted, a new juror shall be added, or the jury shall be discharged and a new jury chosen.

Discharge of jury in case of sickness of prisoner.

283. The Judge may also discharge the jury whenever the prisoner becomes incapable of remaining at the bar.

D.—Choosing Assessors.

284. When the trial is to be held with the aid of assessors, two or more shall be chosen, as the Judge thinks fit, from the persons summoned to act as such.

Procedure when assessor is unable to attend.

285. (1) If, in the course of a trial with the aid of assessors, at any time before the finding, any assessor is, from any sufficient cause, prevented from attending throughout the trial, or absents himself, and it is not practicable to enforce his attendance, the trial shall proceed with the aid of the other assessor or assessors.

(2) If all the assessors are prevented from attending, or absent themselves, the proceedings shall be stayed, and a new trial shall be held with the aid of fresh assessors.

E.—Trial to Close of Cases for Prosecution and Defence.

Opening case for prosecution.

286. (1) When the jurors or assessors have been chosen, the prosecutor shall open his case by reading from the Indian Penal Code or other law the description of the offence charged, and stating shortly by what evidence he expects to prove the guilt of the accused. XLV of 1860.

289. (1) When the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution and the examination (if any) of the accused are concluded, the accused shall be asked whether he means to adduce evidence.

(2) If he says that he does not, the prosecutor may sum up his case; and, if the Court considers that there is no evidence that the accused committed the offence, it may then, in a case tried with the aid of assessors, record a finding, or, in a case tried by a jury, direct the jury to return a verdict, of not guilty.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXIII.—Of Trials before High Courts and Courts of Session.—Sections 290-297.)

(3) If the accused, or any one of several accused, says that he means to adduce evidence, and the Court considers that there is no evidence that the accused committed the offence, the Court may then, in a case tried with the aid of assessors, record a finding, or, in a case tried by a jury, direct the jury to return a verdict, of not guilty.

(4) If the accused, or any one of several accused, says that he means to adduce evidence, and the Court considers that there is evidence that he committed the offence, or if, on his saying that he does not mean to adduce evidence, the prosecutor sums up his case and the Court considers that there is evidence that the accused committed the offence, the Court shall call on the accused to enter on his defence.

Defence.

290. The accused or his pleader may then open his case, stating the facts or law on which he intends to rely, and making such comments as he thinks necessary on the evidence for the prosecution. He may then examine his witnesses (if any) and after their cross-examination and re-examination (if any) may sum up his case.

Right of accused as to examination and summoning of witnesses.

291. The accused shall be allowed to examine any witness not previously named by him, if such witness is in attendance; but he shall not, except as provided in sections 211 and 231, be entitled of right to have any witness summoned, other than the witnesses named in the list delivered to the Magistrate by whom he was committed for trial.

Prosecutor's right of reply.

292. If the accused, or any of the accused, has stated, when asked under section 289, that he means to adduce evidence, the prosecutor shall be entitled to reply. But if the accused does not then so state, the prosecutor shall not be entitled to reply.

View by jury or assessors.

293. (1) Whenever the Court thinks that the jury or assessors should view the place in which the offence charged is alleged to have been committed, or any other place in which any other transaction material to the trial is alleged to have occurred, the Court shall make an order to that effect, and the jury or assessors shall be conducted in a body, under the care of an officer of the Court, to such place, which shall be shown to them by a person appointed by the Court.

(2) Such officer shall not except with the permission of the Court, suffer any other person to speak to, or hold any communication with, any of the jury or assessors, and, unless the Court otherwise directs, they shall, when the view is finished, be immediately conducted back into Court.

When juror or assessor may be examined.

294. If a juror or assessor is personally acquainted with any relevant fact, it is his duty to inform the Judge that such is the case, whereupon he may be sworn, examined, cross-examined and re-examined in the same manner as any other witness.

Jury or assessors to attend at adjourned sitting.

295. If a trial is adjourned, the jury or assessors shall attend at the adjourned sitting, and at every subsequent sitting, until the conclusion of the trial.

Locking up jury.

296. The High Court may, from time to time, make rules as to keeping the jury together during a trial before such Court lasting for more than one day; and, subject to such rules, the presiding Judge may order whether and in what manner the jurors shall be kept together under the charge of an officer of the Court, or whether they shall be allowed to return to their respective homes.

F.—Conclusion of Trial in cases tried by Jury.

Charge to jury.

297. In cases tried by jury, when the case for the defence and the prosecutor's reply (if any) are concluded, the Court shall proceed to charge the jury, summing up the evidence for the prosecution and defence, and laying down the law by which the jury are to be guided.

Duty of Judge.

298. (1) In such cases it is the duty of the Judge—

(a) to decide all questions of law arising in the course of the trial, and especially all questions as to the relevancy of facts which it is proposed to prove, and the admissibility of evidence or the propriety of questions asked by or on behalf of the parties; and, in his discretion, to prevent the production of inadmissible evidence, whether it is or is not objected to by the parties;

(b) to decide upon the meaning and construction of all documents given in evidence at the trial;

(c) to decide upon all matters of fact which it may be necessary to prove in order to enable evidence of particular matters to be given;

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXIII.—Of Trials before High Courts and Courts of Session.—Sections 299-306.)

(d) to decide whether any question which arises is for himself or for the jury, and upon this point his decision shall bind the jurors.

(2) The Judge may, if he thinks proper, in the course of his summing up, express to the jury his opinion upon any question of fact, or upon any question of mixed law and fact, relevant to the proceeding.

Illustrations.

(a) It is proposed to prove a statement made by a person not being a witness in the case, on the ground that circumstances are proved which render evidence of such statement admissible.

It is for the Judge, and not for the jury, to decide whether the existence of those circumstances has been proved.

(b) It is proposed to give secondary evidence of a document the original of which is alleged to have been lost or destroyed.

It is the duty of the Judge to decide whether the original has been lost or destroyed.

Duty of jury.

299. It is the duty of the jury—

(a) to decide which view of the facts is true and then to return the verdict which under such view ought, according to the direction of the Judge, to be returned ;

(b) to determine the meaning of all technical terms (other than terms of law) and words used in an unusual sense which it may be necessary to determine, whether such words occur in documents or not ;

(c) to decide all questions which according to law are to be deemed questions of fact ;

(d) to decide whether general indefinite expressions do or do not apply to particular cases, unless such expressions refer to legal procedure or unless their meaning is ascertained by law, in either of which cases it is the duty of the Judge to decide their meaning.

Illustrations.

A is tried for the murder of B.

It is the duty of the Judge to explain to the jury the distinction between murder and culpable homicide, and to tell them under what views of the facts A ought to be convicted of murder, or of culpable homicide, or to be acquitted.

It is the duty of the jury to decide which view of the facts is true, and to return a verdict in accordance with the direction of the Judge, whether that direction is right or wrong, and whether they do or do not agree with it.

(b) The question is whether a person entertained a reasonable belief on a particular point.—whether work was done with reasonable skill or due diligence.

Each of these is a question for the jury.

Retirement to consider.

300. In cases tried by jury, after the Judge has finished his charge, the jury may retire to consider their verdict.

Except with the leave of the Court, no person other than a juror shall speak to, or hold any communication with, any member of such jury.

Delivery of verdict.

301. When the jury have considered their verdict the foreman shall inform the Judge what is their verdict, or what is the verdict of a majority.

Procedure where jury differ.

302. If the jury are not unanimous, the Judge may require them to retire for further consideration. After such a period as the Judge considers reasonable, the jury may deliver their verdict, although they are not unanimous.

Verdict to be given on each charge.
Judge may question jury.

303. (1) Unless otherwise ordered by the Court, the jury shall return a verdict on all the heads of charge on which the accused is tried, and the Judge may ask them such questions as are necessary to ascertain what their verdict is.

Questions and answers to be recorded.

(2) Such questions and the answers to them shall be recorded.

Amending verdict.

304. When by accident or mistake a wrong verdict is delivered, the jury may, before or immediately after it is recorded, amend the verdict, and it shall stand as ultimately amended.

Verdict in High Court when to prevail.

305. (1) When in a case tried before a High Court the jury are unanimous in their opinion, or when as many as six are of one opinion and the Judge agrees with them, the Judge shall give judgment in accordance with such opinion.

(2) When in any such case the jury are satisfied that they will not be unanimous, but six of them are of one opinion, the foreman shall so inform the Judge.

Discharge of jury in other cases.

(3) If the Judge disagrees with the majority, he shall at once discharge the jury.

(4) If there are not so many as six who agree in opinion, the Judge shall, after the lapse of such time as he thinks reasonable, discharge the jury.

Verdict in Court of Session when to prevail.

306. (1) When in a case tried before the Court of Session the Judge does not think it necessary to express disagreement with the verdict of the jurors or of a majority of the jurors, he shall give judgment accordingly.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXIII.—Of Trials before High Courts and Courts of Session.—Sections 307-311.)

(2) If the accused is acquitted, the Judge shall record judgment of acquittal. If the accused is convicted, the Judge shall pass sentence on him according to law.

Procedure where Sessions Judge disagrees with verdict.

307. (1) If in any such case the Sessions Judge disagrees with the verdict of the jurors, or of a majority of the jurors, on all or any of the heads of charge on which the accused has been tried, and is clearly of opinion that it is necessary for the ends of justice to submit the case to the High Court, he shall submit the case accordingly, recording the grounds of his opinion, and, when the verdict is one of acquittal, stating the offence which he considers to have been committed.

(2) Whenever the Judge submits a case under this section, he shall not record judgment of acquittal or of conviction on any of the charges on which the accused has been tried, and subject thereto it shall, after considering the entire evidence and after giving due weight to the opinions of the Sessions Judge and the jury, either remand the accused to custody or admit him to bail.

(3) In dealing with the case so submitted the High Court may exercise any of the powers which it may exercise on an appeal; but it may acquit or convict the accused of any offence of which the jury could have convicted him upon the charge framed and placed before it; and, if it convicts him, may pass such sentence as might have been passed by the Court of Session.

G.—Re-trial of Accused after Discharge of Jury.

Re-trial of accused after discharge of jury.

308. Whenever the jury is discharged the accused shall be detained in custody or on bail (as the case may be), and shall be tried by another jury, unless the Judge considers that he should not be re-tried, in which case the Judge shall make an entry to that effect on the charge, and such entry shall operate as an acquittal.

H.—Conclusion of Trial in Cases tried with Assessors.

Delivery of opinions of assessors.

309. (1) When, in a case tried with the aid of assessors, the case for the defence and the prosecutor's reply (if any) are concluded, the Court may sum up the evidence for the prosecution and defence, and shall then require each of the assessors to state his opinion orally, and shall record such opinion.

Judgment.

(2) The Judge shall then give judgment, but in doing so shall not be bound to conform to the opinions of the assessors.

(3) If the accused is convicted, the Judge shall pass sentence on him according to law.

I.—Procedure in Case of Previous Conviction.

Procedure in case of previous conviction.

310. In the case of a trial by jury or with the aid of assessors, where the accused is charged with an offence committed after a previous conviction, for any offence, the procedure laid down in sections 271, 286, 305, 306 and 309 shall be modified as follows:—

(a) the part of the charge stating the previous conviction shall not be read out in Court, nor shall the accused be asked whether he has been previously convicted as alleged in the charge unless and until he has either pleaded guilty to, or been convicted of, the subsequent offence:

(b) if he pleads guilty to, or is convicted of, the subsequent offence, he shall then be asked whether he has been previously convicted as alleged in the charge:

(c) when the trial is held with the aid of assessors, judgment in writing need not be given until the question of previous conviction has been disposed of:

(d) if he answers that he has been so previously convicted, the Judge may proceed to pass sentence on him accordingly; but, if he denies that he has been so previously convicted, or refuses to, or does not, answer such question, the jury, or the Court and the assessors (as the case may be), shall then hear evidence concerning such previous conviction, and in such case (where the trial is by jury) it shall not be necessary to swear the jurors again.

When evidence of previous conviction may be given.

311. Notwithstanding anything in the last preceding section, evidence of the previous conviction may be given at the trial for the subsequent offence, if the fact of the previous conviction is relevant under the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872. [Act X of 1882, s. 310 last para.] I of 1872.

(1) The Sessions Judge shall ordinarily, three days at least before the day which he may from time to time fix for holding the sessions, send a letter to the District Magistrate requesting him to summon as many persons named in the said revised list or the said special list as seem to the Sessions Judge to be needed for trials by jury and trials with the aid of assessors at the said sessions, the number to be summoned not being less than double the number required for any such trial.

Power to summon another set of jurors or assessors.

330. (1) The Court of Session may, for reasonable cause, excuse any juror or assessor from attendance at any particular session.

(2) Such fine shall be levied by the District Magistrate by attachment and sale of any moveable property belonging to such juror or assessor within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court making the order.

(3) For good cause shewn, the Court may remit or reduce any fine so imposed.

(2) But it may, from time to time, in the case of the High Court at Fort William with the consent of the Governor General in Council, and in all other cases with the consent of the Local Government, hold sittings at such other places within the local limits of its appellate jurisdiction as the High Court appoints.

CHAPTER XXIV.

GENERAL PROVISIONS AS TO INQUIRIES AND TRIALS.

Tender of pardon to accomplice.

337. (1) In the case of any offence triable exclusively by the Court of Session or High Court, the District Magistrate a Presidency Magistrate, any Magistrate of the first class inquiring into the offence, or, with the sanction of the District Magistrate, any other Magistrate, may, with the view of obtaining the evidence of any person supposed to have been directly or indirectly concerned in, or privy to, the offence under inquiry, tender a pardon to such person on condition of his making a full and true disclosure of the whole of the circumstances within his knowledge relative to such offence, and to every other person concerned, whether as principal or abettor, in the commission thereof.

(2) Every person accepting a tender under this section shall be examined as a witness in the case.

(3) Such person, if not on bail, shall be detained in custody until the termination of the trial by the Court of Session or High Court, as the case may be.

(4) Every Magistrate, other than a Presidency Magistrate, who tenders a pardon under this section shall record his reasons for so doing; and, when any Magistrate has made such tender and examined the person to whom it has been made, he shall not try the case himself, although the offence which the accused appears to have committed may be triable by such Magistrate.

Power to direct tender of pardon.

338. At any time after commitment, but before judgment is passed, the Court to which the commitment is made may, with the view of obtaining on the trial the evidence of any person supposed to have been directly or indirectly concerned in, or privy to, any such offence, tender, or order the committing Magistrate or the District Magistrate to tender, a pardon on the same condition to such person.

Commitment of person to whom pardon has been tendered.

339. (1) Where a pardon has been tendered under section 337 or section 338, and any person who has accepted such tender has, either by wilfully concealing anything essential or by giving false evidence, not complied with the condition on which the tender was made, he may be tried for the offence in respect of which the pardon was so tendered, or for any other offence of which he appears to have been guilty in connection with the same matter.

(2) The statement made by a person who has accepted a tender of pardon may be given in evidence against him when the pardon has been withdrawn under this section.

(3) No prosecution for the offence of giving false evidence in respect of such statement shall be entertained without the sanction of the High Court.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXIV.—General Provisions as to Inquiries and Trials.—Sections 340-345.)

(See definition of accused.)

Right of accused to be defended.

340. Every person accused before any Criminal Court may of right be defended by a pleader.

Procedure where accused does not understand proceedings.

341. If the accused, though not insane, cannot be made to understand the proceedings, the Court may proceed with the inquiry or trial; and, in the case of a Court other than a High Court, if such inquiry results in a commitment, or if such trial results in a conviction, the proceedings shall be forwarded to the High Court with a report of the circumstances of the case, and the High Court shall pass thereon such order as it thinks fit.

Power to examine the accused.

342. (1) For the purpose of enabling the accused to explain any circumstances appearing in the evidence against him, the Court may, at any stage of any inquiry or trial, without previously warning the accused, put such questions to him as the Court considers necessary, and shall, for the purpose aforesaid, question him generally on the case after the witnesses for the prosecution have been examined, and before he is called on for his defence.

(2) The accused shall not render himself liable to punishment by refusing to answer such questions, or by giving false answers to them; but the Court and the jury (if any) may draw such inference from such refusal or answers as it thinks just.

(3) The answers given by the accused may be taken into consideration in such inquiry or trial, and put in evidence for or against him in any other inquiry into, or trial for, any other offence which such answers may tend to show he has committed.

(4) No oath shall be administered to the accused.

No influence to be used to induce disclosures.

343. Except as provided in sections 337 and 338, no influence, by means of any promise or threat or otherwise, shall be used to an accused person to induce him to disclose or withhold any matter within his knowledge.

Power to postpone or adjourn proceedings.

344. (1) If, from the absence of a witness, or any other reasonable cause, it becomes necessary or advisable to postpone the commencement of, or adjourn, any inquiry or trial, the Court may, if it thinks fit, by order in writing, stating the reasons therefor, from time to time, postpone or adjourn the same on such terms as it thinks fit, for such time as it considers reasonable, and may by a warrant remand the accused if in custody:

Remand.

(2) Every order made under this section by a Court other than a High Court shall be in writing signed by the presiding Judge or Magistrate.

Procedure of Provincial Magistrate in cases which he cannot dispose of.

346. (1) If, in the course of an inquiry or a trial before a Magistrate in any district outside the presidency-towns, the evidence appears to him to warrant a presumption that the case is one which should be tried or committed for trial by some other Magistrate in such district, he shall stay proceedings and submit the case, with a brief report explaining its nature, to any Magistrate to whom he is subordinate or to such other Magistrate, having jurisdiction, as the District Magistrate directs.

(2) The Magistrate to whom the case is submitted may, if so empowered, either try the case himself, or refer it to any Magistrate subordinate to him having jurisdiction, or commit the accused for trial.

347. (1) If in any inquiry before a Magistrate, or in any trial before a Magistrate before signing judgment, it appears to him at any stage of the proceedings that the case is one which ought to be tried by the Court of Session or High Court, and if he is empowered to commit for trial, he shall stop further proceedings and commit the accused under the provisions hereinbefore contained.

(2) If such Magistrate is not empowered to commit for trial, he shall proceed under section 346.

Procedure when Magistrate cannot pass sentence sufficiently severe.

(2) The Magistrate to whom the proceedings are submitted may, if he thinks fit, examine the parties and recall and examine any witness who has already given evidence in the case, and may call for and take any further evidence, and shall pass such judgment, sentence or order in the case as he thinks fit, and as is according to law:

Provided that he shall not inflict a punishment more severe than he is empowered to inflict under sections 32 and 33.

(b) the High Court or, in cases tried by Magistrates subordinate to the District Magistrate, the District Magistrate may, whether there be an appeal or not, set aside any conviction passed on evidence not wholly recorded by the Magistrate before whom the conviction was had, if such Court or District Magistrate is of opinion that the accused has been materially prejudiced thereby, and may order a new inquiry or trial.

(2) Nothing in this section applies to cases in which proceedings have been stayed under section 346.

Detention of offenders attending Court.

351. (1) Any person attending a Criminal Court, although not under arrest or upon a summons, may be detained by such Court for the purpose of examination for any offence of which such Court can take cognizance and which, from the evidence, may appear to have been committed, and may be proceeded against as though he had been arrested or summoned.

(2) When the detention takes place in the course of an inquiry under Chapter XVIII, or after a trial has been begun, the proceedings in respect of such person shall be commenced afresh and the witnesses re-heard.

Courts to be open.

352. The place in which any Criminal Court is held for the purpose of inquiring into or trying any offence shall be deemed an open Court, to which the public generally may have access, so far as the same can conveniently contain them:

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VI.—Proceedings in Prosecutions.—Chapter XXV.—Of the Mode of taking and recording Evidence in Inquiries and Trials.—Sections 356-361.)

(2) Such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Magistrate with his own hand, and shall form part of the record.

(3) If the Magistrate is prevented from making a memorandum as above required, he shall record the reason of his inability to do so, and shall cause such memorandum to be made in writing from his dictation in open Court, and shall sign the same; and such memorandum shall form part of the record.

356. (1) In all other trials before Courts of Session and Magistrates (other than Presidency Magistrates) and in all inquiries under Chapters XII and XVIII, the evidence of each witness shall be taken down in writing in the language of the Court, by the Magistrate or Sessions Judge, or in his presence and hearing and under his personal direction and superintendence, and shall be signed by the Magistrate or Sessions Judge.

Evidence given in English.

(2) When the evidence of such witness is given in English, the Magistrate or Sessions Judge may take it down in that language with his own hand, and, unless the accused is familiar with English, or the language of the Court is English, an authenticated translation of such evidence in the language of the Court shall form part of the record.

(3) In cases in which the evidence is not taken down in writing by the Magistrate or Sessions Judge, he shall, as the examination of each witness proceeds, make a memorandum of the substance of what such witness deposes; and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Magistrate or Sessions Judge with his own hand, and shall form part of the record.

(4) If the Magistrate or Sessions Judge is prevented from making a memorandum as above required, he shall record the reason of his inability to make it.

357. (1) The Local Government may direct that in any district or part of a district, or in proceedings before any Court of Session, or before any Magistrate or class of Magistrates, the evidence of each witness shall, in the cases referred to in section 356, be taken down by the Sessions Judge or Magistrate with his own hand and in his mother tongue, unless he is prevented by any sufficient reason from taking down the evidence of any witness, in which case he shall record the reason of his inability to do so, and shall cause the evidence to be taken down in writing from his dictation in open Court.

(2) The evidence so taken down shall be signed by the Sessions Judge or Magistrate, and shall form part of the record:

Provided that the Local Government may direct the Sessions Judge or Magistrate to take down the evidence in the English language, or in the language of the Court, although such language is not his mother-tongue.

358. In cases of the kind mentioned in section 355, the Magistrate may, if he thinks fit, take down the evidence of any witness in the manner provided in section 356, or, if within the local limits of the jurisdiction of such Magistrate the Local Government has made the order referred to in section 357, in the manner provided in the same section.

359. (1) Evidence taken under section 356 or section 357 shall not ordinarily be taken down in the form of question and answer, but in the form of a narrative.

(2) The Magistrate or Sessions Judge may, in his discretion, take down, or cause to be taken down, any particular question and answer.

360. (1) As the evidence of each witness taken under section 356 or section 357 is completed, it shall be read over to him in the presence of the accused, if in attendance, or of his pleader, if he appears by pleader, and shall, if necessary, be corrected.

(2) If the witness deny the correctness of any part of the evidence when the same is read over to him, the Magistrate or Sessions Judge may, instead of correcting the evidence, make a memorandum thereon of the objection made to it by the witness, and shall add such remarks as he thinks necessary.

(3) If the evidence be taken down in a language different from that in which it has been given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the evidence so taken down shall be interpreted to him in the language in which it was given, or in a language which he understands.

(2) When the whole is made conformable to what he declares is the truth, the record shall be signed by the accused and the Magistrate or Judge of such Court, and such Magistrate or Judge shall certify under his own hand that the examination was taken in his presence and hearing, and that the record contains a full and true account of the statement made by the accused.

(3) In cases in which the examination of the accused is not recorded by the Magistrate or Judge himself he shall be bound, unless he is a Presidency Magistrate, as the examination proceeds to make a memorandum thereof in the language of the Court, or in English if he is sufficiently acquainted with the latter language; and such memorandum shall be written and signed by the Magistrate or Judge with his own hand, and shall be annexed to the record. 424. The rules contained in Chapter XXVI as to the judgment of a Criminal Court of original jurisdiction shall apply, so far as may be practicable, to the judgment of any Appellate Court other than a High Court;

(2) No order under this section shall be made to the prejudice of the accused unless he has had an opportunity of being heard either personally or by pleader in his own defence.

(3) Where the sentence dealt with under this section has been passed by a Magistrate acting otherwise than under section 34, the Court shall not inflict a greater punishment for the offence which, in the opinion of such Court, the accused has commited, than might have been inflicted for such offence by a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class.

440. No party has any right to be heard either personally or by pleader before any Court when exercising its powers of revision:

441. When the record of any proceeding of any Presidency Magistrate is called for by the High Court under section 435, the Magistrate may submit with the record a statement setting forth the grounds of his decision or order and any facts which he thinks material to the issue; and the Court shall consider such statement before over-ruling or setting aside the said decision or order.

High Court's order to be certified to lower Court or Magistrate.

442. When a case is revised under this chapter by the High Court, it shall, in manner hereinbefore provided, certify its decision or order to the Court by which the finding, sentence or order revised was recorded or passed, and the Court or Magistrate to which the decision or order is so certified shall thereupon make such orders as are conformable to the decision so certified; and, if necessary, the record shall be amended in accordance therewith.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VIII.—Special Proceedings.—Chapter XXXIII.—Criminal Proceedings against Europeans and Americans.—Sections 447-451.)

When commitment is to be to Court of Session and when to High Court.

447. (1) When an European British subject is accused of an offence before a Magistrate, and such offence cannot, in the opinion of such Magistrate, be adequately punished by him, and is not punishable with death or with transportation for life, such Magistrate shall, if he thinks that the accused ought to be committed, commit him to the Court of Session, or, in the case of a Presidency Magistrate, to the High Court.

(2) When the offence which appears to have been committed is punishable with death or with transportation for life, the commitment shall be to the High Court.

448. Where any person committed to the High Court under section 447 is charged with several offences of which one is punishable with death or transportation for life and the others with a less punishment, and the High Court considers that he should not be tried for the offence punishable with death or transportation, the High Court may nevertheless try him for the other offences.

(2) If, at any time after the commitment and before signing judgment the presiding Judge thinks that the offence which appears to be proved cannot be adequately punished by such a sentence, he shall record his opinon to that effect and transfer the case to the High Court. Such Judge may either himself bind over, or direct the committing Magistrate to bind over, the complainant and witnesses to appear before the High Court.

(2) When any such trial before a Court of Session would in the ordinary course be with the aid of assessors, the European British subject accused, or, where there are several European British subjects accused, all of them jointly, may, instead of claiming to be tried by a mixed jury under sub-section (1), require that not less than half the number of the assessors shall be Europeans or Americans or both Europeans and Americans.

451. (1) In trials of European British subjects before a District Magistrate, any such subject may, in a summons-case before he is heard in his defence under section 244, or in a warrant-case before he enters on his defence under section 256, claim that the trial shall be by a jury composed in manner prescribed by section 450.

(2) If a claim is made under sub-section (1) in a summons-case at the time when the Magistrate proceeds under section 244 to hear the accused, or in a warrant-case at the time when the Magistrate calls upon the accused under section 256 to enter upon the defence, the Magistrate shall forthwith issue the necessary orders for the trial by a jury as aforesaid

(3) If such a claim is made at an earlier stage of the proceedings, the Magistrate shall issue such orders whenever it appears to him from the evidence recorded that there will be a sufficient case to go before a jury.

(4) In every such case the Magistrate shall notwithstanding anything contained in section 242, before issuing any orders as aforesaid, frame a formal charge.

(5) The provisions of sections 211, 216, 217 219 and 220 shall, so far as may be, apply for the purpose of securing the attendance of the complainant, the accused and the witnesses at every trial to be held under this section.

(6) The provisions of this Code relating to the procedure in a trial by jury before a Court of Session shall, as nearly as may be, apply to every trial under this section as if the District Magistrate were a Sessions Judge and the accused had been committed to his Court for trial.

(7) All Courts may construe any of the provisions referred to in sub-section (5) or sub-section (6), in so far as they are made applicable by those sub-sections, with such verbal alterations not affecting the substance as may be necessary or proper to adapt the same to the matter before them.

(8) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of the Magistrate to commit an accused person for trial under section 347 or section

[Act X of 1882, s. 451 B.]

Transfer to another Court in certain cases.

(9) If an accused person claims to be tried by jury under this section and in the opinion of the District Magistrate there is reason to believe that a jury composed in manner prescribed by section 450 cannot be constituted for the trial before himself, or cannot be so constituted without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which under the circumstances of the case would be unreasonable, he may, instead of issuing orders for the trial before himself under this section transfer the case for trial to such other District Magistrate or to such Sessions Judge as the High Court may, from time to time, by rules made by it in this behalf and approved by the Local Government, or by special order, direct.

(10) When a case is transferred under this section to a Sessions Judge or District Magistrate, he shall with all convenient speed try it with the same powers (including the power of commitment) and according to the same procedure as if he were a District Magistrate acting under this section.

Trial of European British subject and Native jointly accused.

452. In any case in which an European British subject is accused jointly with a person not being an European British subject, and such European British subject is committed for trial before a High Court or Court of Session, such subject and person may be tried together, and the procedure on the trial shall be the same as it would have been had the European British subject been tried separately:

When Native may claim separate trial.

Provided that, if the European British subject requires under section 450 to be tried by a mixed jury, or by a mixed set of assessors, and the person not being an European British subject requires that he shall be tried separately, the latter person shall be tried separately in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XXIII.

Procedure on claim of person to be dealt with as European British subject.

453. (1) When any person claims to be dealt with as an European British subject, he shall state the grounds of such claim to the Magistrate before whom he is brought for the purposes of the inquiry or trial; and such Magistrate shall inquire into the truth of such statement, and allow the person making it a reasonable time within which to prove that it is true, and shall then decide whether he is or is not an European British subject, and shall deal with him accordingly. If any such person is convicted by such Magistrate and appeals from such conviction, the burden of proving that the Magistrate's said decision was wrong shall lie upon him.

(2) When any such person is committed by the Magistrate for trial before the Court of Session, and such person before such Court claims to be dealt with as an European British subject, such Court shall, after such further enquiry, if any, as it thinks fit, decide whether he is or is not an European British subject, and shall deal with him accordingly. If he is convicted by such Court and appeals from such conviction, the burden of proving that the Court's said decision was wrong shall lie upon him.

(3) When the Court before which any person is tried decides that he is not an European British subject, such decision shall form a ground of appeal from the sentence or order passed in such trial.

Failure to plead status a waiver.

454. (1) If an European British subject does not claim to be dealt with as such by the Magistrate before whom he is tried or by whom he is committed, or if, when such claim has been made before, and disallowed by, the committing Magistrate, it is not again made before the Court to which such subject is committed, he shall be held to have relinquished his right to be dealt with as such European British subject and shall not assert it in any subsequent stage of the same case.

(2) Unless the Magistrate has reason to believe that any person brought before him is not an European British subject, the Magistrate shall ask such person whether he is such a subject or not.

Trial under this chapter of person not an European British subject.

455. Where a person who is not an European British subject is dealt with as such under this chapter, and does not object, the inquiry, commitment, trial or sentence (as the case may be) shall not, by reason of such dealing, be invalid.

Right of European British subject unlawfully detained to apply for order to be brought before High Court.

456. When any European British subject is unlawfully detained in custody by any person, such European British subject or any person on his behalf may apply to the High Court which would have jurisdiction over such European British subject in respect of any offence committed by him at the place where he is detained or to which he would be entitled to appeal from any conviction for any such offence, for an order directing the person detaining him to bring him before the High Court to abide such further order as it may pass.

Procedure on such application.

457. The High Court, if it thinks fit, may, before issuing such order, inquire, on affidavit or otherwise, into the grounds on which it is applied for, and grant or refuse such application; or it may issue the order in the first instance, and, when the person applying for it is brought before it, it may make such further order in the case as it thinks fit, after such inquiry (if any) as it thinks necessary.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VIII.—Special Proceedings.—Chapter XXXIII.—Criminal Proceedings against Europeans and Americans.—Sections 458-463.—Chapter XXXIV.—Lunatics.—Section 464.)

Territories throughout which High Court may issue such orders.

458. The High Court may issue such orders throughout the territories within the local limits of its appellate criminal jurisdiction, and such other territories as the Governor General in Council may direct.

Application of Acts conferring jurisdiction on Magistrates or Courts of Session.

459. (1) Unless there is something repugnant in the context, all enactments heretofore or hereafter made by the Governor General in Council, which confer on Magistrates or on the Court of Session jurisdiction over offences, shall be deemed to apply to European British subjects, although such persons be not expressly referred to therein.

(2) Nothing in his section shall be deemed to authorise any Court to exceed the limits prescribed by this chapter as to the amount of punishment which it may inflict on an European British subject, or to confer jurisdiction on any Magistrate or any Judge presiding in a Court of Session, not being a Justice of the Peace.

Jury for trial of Europeans or Americans.

460. In every case triable by jury or with the aid of assessors, in which an European (not being an European British subject) or an American is the accused person, or one of the accused persons, not less than half the number of jurors or assessors shall, if practicable and if such European or American so claims, be Europeans or Americans.

Jury when European or American charged jointly with one of another race.

461. Whenever an European or American is charged before the Court of Session jointly with a person not an European or American and in compliance with a claim made under section 460 is tried by a jury, or with the aid of a set of assessors, of which at least one-half consists of Europeans and Americans, the latter person shall, if he so claims, be tried separately.

Summoning and empanelling jurors under section 450, 451, or 460.

462. (1) When a trial is to be held before the Court of Session in which the accused person, or one of the accused persons, is entitled to be tried by a jury constituted under the provisions of section 450 or section 460, or before the Court of a District Magistrate or Sessions Judge proceeding under section 451, the Court shall, three days at least before the day fixed for holding such trial, cause to be summoned, in the manner hereinbefore prescribed, as many European and American jurors as are required for the trial.

(2) The Court shall also, at the same time, in like manner, cause to be summoned the same number of other persons named in the revised list, unless such number of such other persons has been already summoned for trials by jury at that session.

(3) From the whole number of persons returned the jurors who are to constitute the jury shall be chosen by lot in the manner prescribed in section 276, until a jury containing the proper number of Europeans or Americans, or a number approaching thereto as nearly as practicable, has been obtained:

Provided that, in any case in which the proper number of Europeans and Americans cannot otherwise be obtained, the Court may, in its discretion, for the purpose of constituting the jury, summon any person excluded from the list on the ground of his being exempted under section 320.

Conduct of criminal proceedings against European British subjects, etc.

463. Criminal proceedings against European British subjects, Europeans not being European British subjects, and Americans, before the Court of Session and High Court, shall, except as otherwise expressly provided, be conducted according to the provisions of this Code.

CHAPTER XXXIV.

LUNATICS.

Procedure in case of accused being lunatic.

464. (1) When a Magistrate holding an inquiry or a trial has reason to believe that the accused is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, the Magistrate shall inquire into the fact of such unsoundness, and shall cause such person to be examined by the Civil Surgeon of the district or such other medical officer as the Local Government directs, and thereupon shall examine such Surgeon or other officer as a witness, and shall reduce the examination to writing.

(2) If such Magistrate is of opinion that the accused is of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, he shall postpone further proceedings in the case.

The Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

(Part VIII.—Special Proceedings.—Chapter XXXIV.—Lunatics.—Sections 465-471.)

Procedure in case of person committed before Court of Session or High Court being lunatic.

465. (1) If any person committed for trial before a Court of Session or a High Court appears to the Court at his trial to be of unsound mind and consequently incapable of making his defence, the jury, or the Court with the aid of assessors, shall, in the first instance, try the fact of such unsoundness and incapacity, and, if satisfied of the fact, shall pass judgment accordingly, and thereupon the trial shall be postponed.

(2) The trial of the fact of the unsoundness of mind and incapacity of the accused shall be deemed to be part of his trial before the Court.

(3) For purposes of record, the Court may examine such witnesses and take such evidence as it may think fit in manner provided by section 512 of this Code, and any evidence so taken or received shall have the like effect as by that section provided.

Release of lunatic pending investigation or trial.

466. (1) Whenever an accused person is found to be of unsound mind and incapable of making his defence, the Magistrate or Court, as the case may be, if the case is one in which bail may be taken, may release him on sufficient security being given that he shall be properly taken care of and shall be prevented from doing injury to himself or to any other person, and for his appearance when required before the Magistrate or Court or such officer as the Magistrate or Court appoints in this behalf.

Custody of lunatic.

(2) If the case is one in which bail may not be taken or if sufficient security is not given, the Magistrate or Court shall report the case to the Local Government, and the Local Government may order the accused to be confined in a lunatic asylum or other suitable place of safe custody, and the Magistrate or Court shall give effect to such order.

Resumption of inquiry or trial.

467. (1) Whenever an inquiry or a trial is postponed under section 464 or section 465, the Magistrate or Court, as the case may be, may at any time resume the inquiry or trial, and require the accused to appear or be brought before such Magistrate or Court.

(2) When the accused has been released under section 466, and the sureties for his appearance produce him to the officer whom the Magistrate or Court appoints in this behalf, the certificate of such officer that the accused is capable of making his defence shall be receivable in evidence.

Procedure on accused appearing before Magistrate or Court.

468. (1) If, when the accused appears or is again brought before the Magistrate or the Court as the case may be, the Magistrate or Court considers him capable of making his defence, the inquiry or trial shall proceed.

(2) If the Magistrate or Court considers the accused person to be still incapable of making his defence, the Magistrate or Court shall again act according to the provisions of section 464 or section 465, as the case may be.

When accused appears to have been insane.

469. When the accused appears to be of sound mind at the time of inquiry or trial, and the Magistrate is satisfied from the evidence given before him that there is reason to believe that the accused committed an act which, if he had been of sound mind, would have been an offence, and that he was at the time when the act was committed, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing the nature of the act or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the Magistrate shall proceed with the case, and, if the accused ought to be committed to the Court of Session or High Court, send him for trial before the Court of Session or High Court, as the case may be.

Judgment of acquittal on ground of lunacy.

470. Whenever any person is acquitted upon the ground that, at the time at which he is alleged to have committed an offence, he was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing the nature of the act alleged as constituting the offence, or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the finding shall state specifically whether he committed the act or not.

Person acquitted on such ground to be kept in safe custody.

471. (1) Whenever such judgment states that the accused person committed the act alleged, the Magistrate or Court before whom or which the trial has been held shall, if such act would, but for the incapacity found, have constituted an offence, order such person to be kept in safe custody in such place and manner as the Magistrate or Court thinks fit, and shall report the case for the orders of the Local Government.

(2) The Local Government may order such person to be confined in a lunatic asylum, jail or other suitable place of safe custody.

Power of Governor General in Council to order criminal lunatics confined by order of Local Government to be removed from one province to another.

(3) The Governor General in Council may by general or special order direct that any person whom the Local Government has ordered under this chapter to be confined in a lunatic asylum, jail or other place of safe custody shall be removed from the place where he is confined to any lunatic asylum, jail or other place of safe custody in British India. [Act X of 1882, s. 475A.]

Power of Local Government to relieve Inspector General of certain functions.

(4) The Local Government may empower the officer in charge of the jail in which a person is confined under the provisions of section 466 or this section to discharge all or any of the functions of the Inspector General of Prisons under section 472, section 473 or section 474. [Act X of 1882, s. 475B.]

Procedure where lunatic prisoner is reported capable of making his defence.

473. If such person is confined under the provisions of section 466, and such Inspector General or visitors shall certify that, in his or their opinion, such person is capable of making his defence, he shall be taken before the Magistrate or Court, as the case may be, at such time as the Magistrate or Court appoints, and the Magistrate or Court shall deal with such person under the provisions of section 468; and the certificate of such Inspector General or visitors as aforesaid shall be receivable as evidence.

Procedure where lunatic confined under section 466 or 471 is declared fit to be discharged.

474. (1) If such person is confined under the provisions of section 466 or section 471, and such Inspector General or visitors shall certify that, in his or their judgment, he may be discharged without danger of his doing injury to himself or to any other person, the Local Government may thereupon order him to be discharged, or to be detained in custody, or to be transferred to a public lunatic asylum if he has not been already sent to such an asylum; and, in case it orders him to be transferred to an asylum, may appoint a Commission, consisting of a judicial and two medical officers.

(2) Such Commission shall make formal inquiry into the state of mind of such person, taking such evidence as is necessary, and shall report to the Local Government, which may order his discharge or detention as it thinks fit.

Delivery of lunatic to care of relative.

(2) Whenever such person is so delivered, it shall be upon condition that he shall be produced for the inspection of such officer and at such times as the Local Government directs.

(3) The provisions of sections 472 and 474 shall, mutatis mutandis, apply to persons delivered under the provisions of this section; and the certificate of the inspecting officer appointed under this section shall be receivable as evidence.

CHAPTER XXXV.

PROCEEDINGS IN CASE OF CERTAIN OFFENCES AFFECTING THE ADMINISTRATION OF JUSTICE.

Procedure in cases mentioned in section 195

(2) Such Magistrate shall thereupon proceed according to law, and as if upon complaint made, and may, if he is authorised under section 192 to transfer cases, transfer the inquiry or trial to some other competent Magistrate.

(3) Proceedings under this section shall not be questioned by way of revision under Chapter XXXII or otherwise.

477. (1) Subject to the provisions of section 444, a Court of Session may charge a person for any offence referred to in section 195 and committed before it, or brought under its notice in the course of a judicial proceeding, and may commit, or admit to bail and try, such person upon its own charge.

(2) Such Court may direct the Magistrate to cause the attendance of any witnesses for the purposes of the trial.

(2) For the purposes of an inquiry under this section the Civil or Revenue Court may, subject to the provisions of section 443, exercise all the

479. When any such commitment is made by a Civil or Revenue Court, the Court shall send the charge with the order of commitment and the record of the case to the Presidency Magistrate, District Magistrate or other Magistrate authorised to commit for trial, and such Magistrate shall bring the case before the High Court or Court of Session, as the case may be, together with the witnesses for the prosecution and defence.

(2) Nothing in section 443 or section 444 shall be deemed to apply to proceedings under this section.

481. (1) In every such case the Court shall record the facts constituting the offence, with the statement (if any) made by the offender, as well as the finding and sentence.

Procedure where Court considers that case should not be dealt with under section 480.

482. (1) If the Court in any case considers that a person accused of any of the offences referred to in section 480 and committed in its view or presence should be imprisoned otherwise than in default of payment of fine, or that a fine exceeding two hundred rupees should be imposed upon him, or such Court is for any other reason of opinion that the case should not be disposed of under section 480, such Court, after recording the facts constituting the offence and the statement of the accused as hereinbefore provided, may forward the case to a Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the same, and may require security to be given for the appearance of such accused person before such Magistrate, or, if sufficient security is not given, shall forward such person under custody to such Magistrate.

484. When any Court has under section 480 adjudged an offender to punishment for refusing or omitting to do anything which he was lawfully required to do, or for any intentional insult or interruption, the Court may, in its discretion, discharge the offender or remit the punishment on his submission to the order or requisition of such Court, or on apology being made to its satisfaction.

Imprisonment or committal of person refusing to answer or produce document.

485. If any witness or person called to produce a document before a Criminal Court refuses to answer such questions as are put to him or to produce any document in his possession or power which the Court requires him to produce, and does not offer any reasonable excuse for such refusal, such Court may, for reasons to be recorded in writing, sentence him to simple imprisonment, or by warrant under the hand of the presiding Magistrate or Judge commit him to the custody of an officer of the Court, for any term not exceeding seven days, unless in the meantime such person consents to be examined and to answer, or to produce the document. In the event of his persisting in his refusal, he may be dealt with according to the provisions of section 480 or section 482, and, in the case of a Court established by Royal Charter, shall be deemed guilty of a contempt.

(3) An appeal from such conviction by a Court of Small Causes in a presidency-town shall lie to the High Court, and an appeal from such conviction by any other Court of Small Causes shall lie to the Court of Session for the sessions division within which such Court is situate.

(4) An appeal from such conviction by any officer as Registrar or Sub-Registrar appointed as aforesaid may, when such officer is also Judge of a Civil Court, be made to the Court to which it would, under the preceding portion of this section, be made if such conviction were a decree by such officer in his capacity as such Judge, and in other cases may be made to the District Judge, or, in the presidency-towns, to the High Court.

(2) Nothing in section 476 or section 482 shall prevent a Magistrate empowered to commit to the Court of Session or High Court from himself committing any case to such Court, or shall prevent a Presidency Magistrate from himself disposing of any case instead of sending it for inquiry to another Magistrate.

(2) Such allowance shall be payable from the date of the order, or if so ordered from the date of the complaint.

Enforcement of order.

(3) If any person so ordered wilfully neglects to comply with the order, any such Magistrate may, for every breach of the order, issue a warrant for levying the amount due in manner hereinbefore provided for levying fines, and may sentence such person, for the whole or any part of each month's allowance remaining unpaid after the execution of the warrant, to imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month or until payment:

Provided that, if such person offers to maintain his wife on condition of her living with him, and she refuses to live with him, such Magistrate may consider any grounds of refusal stated by her, and may make an order under this section notwithstanding such offer, if he is satisfied that there is just ground for so doing.

(4) No wife shall be entitled to receive an allowance from her husband under this section if she is living in adultery, or if, without any sufficient reason, she refuses to live with her husband, or if they are living separately by mutual consent.

(5) On proof that any wife in whose favour an order has been made under this section is living in adultery, or that without sufficient reason she refuses to live with her husband, or that they are living separately by mutual consent, the Magistrate shall cancel the order.

(6) All evidence under this chapter shall be taken in the presence of the husband or father, as the case may be, or, when his personal attendance is dispensed with, in the presence of his pleader, and shall be recorded in the manner prescribed in the case of summons-cases:

(3) The offender, when so remanded, may be committed to a prison, either for the place in or for which the Court remanding him acts, or for the place where he is bound to appear for judgment, and the warrant of remand shall order that he be brought before the Court before which he was bound to appear for judgment, or to answer as to his conduct since his release.

(2) If such conviction be set aside on appeal or otherwise, such order for police supervision shall become void.

(3) Such order for police supervision may be passed by a Court of Appeal or Revision, but no such order shall be open to appeal or revision unless the conviction and sentence of which it forms a part shall come before such Court in manner hereinbefore provided by this Code.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

It has been usual to consolidate and amend the law relating to Criminal Procedure at the end of successive decades. Thus the first Code of Criminal Procedure Act, XXV of 1861, was succeeded by Act X of 1872 and the latter was followed by Act X of 1882.

Since 1882 there have been passed sixteen Acts all relating to Criminal Procedure and many of them expressly amending the Code of 1882.

Act III of 1884.
" X of 1886.
" V of 1887.
" XIV of 1887.
" I of 1889.
" V of 1889
" XIII of 1889.
" III of 1891.
" IV of 1891.
" X of 1891.
" XII of 1891.
" III of 1894.
" X of 1894.
" IV of 1895.
" V of 1896.
" XIII of 1896.

In addition to this, several matters have been brought to the notice of the Government of India in regard to necessary amendments of the law, which have been deferred until the periodical amendment of the Code shall have been undertaken. The Law Reports also have shown many defects and difficulties in administering the law and occasionally contradictory interpretations by the High Courts in giving it effect.

On these considerations the Government, of India have determined again to consolidate and amend the law relating to Criminal Procedure. Such alterations as have been made in the present law are printed in italics, and the material amendments it is proposed to introduce are referred to in the notes on clauses given below. Where changes have been made in the numbering of existing sections, their former numbers have been given on the margin.

Notes on Clauses.

Clause 1.—It is proposed to enable a Local Government, with the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to extend such portions of the Code as may be necessary to the police of Presidency-towns in addition to those already expressly extended, as some inconvenience has been felt from the restriction imposed by the present law.

Clause 3.—As Joint Sessions Judges and Additional Sessions Judges indicate the same class of judicial officers, it is proposed to abandon the former term.

Clause 4.—The definitions have been arranged alphabetically.

(1) The definition of " accused " has been extended so as to include all persons against whom proceedings may be taken or are sought to be taken under the Code, as for instance, proceedings taken for security for good behaviour or to keep the peace, which closely resemble trials for specific offences to which at present the expression is limited.

The alteration of the definitions of " inquiry (m) " and " trial (j) " restores the definitions of those terms under the former Code of 1872 so as to distinguish between an inquiry and a trial.

The alterations in the other definitions call for no special mention, but certain definitions given in the Code of 1882 are omitted, as they are now included in the General Clauses Act, 1897.

Clause 5.—The amendment makes section 5 more complete so as to make the Code apply to proceedings before the police (investigations), as well as to inquiries and trials which are proceedings before judicial officers.

Clause 10.—This amendment, which has been suggested by the Punjab Government, will enable a Local Government to appoint an additional District Magistrate for a term not exceeding three months to meet an emergency which may require the entire attention of the District Magistrate.

Clause 17 (4).—This is intended to provide for unforeseen accidents which may incapacitate a Sessions Judge.

Clause 21 (e).—It is here proposed to give the Chief Presidency Magistrate the same general powers of control over other Presidency Magistrates as are now vested in a District Magistrate over other Magistrates in the District.

Clause 23.—It is proposed to give the Government of Bengal solé power to appoint Justices of the Peace for Calcutta as is now exercised by the Governments of Madras and Bombay in respect of those Presidency-towns. The power conferred under previous Codes concurrently on the Governor General in Council has not been exercised for many years and need not be retained.

Clause 28.—This amendment is merely a matter of drafting to remedy an inaccuracy of expression brought to notice.

Clause 29.—This amendment will make the section correspond more accurately with the last portion of Schedule II to which it relates.

Clauses 31 and 34.—It is proposed to give an Additional Sessions Judge the same powers as a Sessions Judge in regard to passing orders on a reference from an Assistant Sessions Judge.

Clause 35.—The amendments are calculated to make the law more clear in respect of the difference between separable offences dealt with under section 71, Indian Penal Code, and distinct offences for which separate and additional sentences may be passed beyond the ordinary powers of a Magistrate.

Clause 40.—An illustration has been added to explain more clearly the proper interpretation of this section.

Clause 41.—As many powers may be conferred on Subordinate Magistrates by a District Magistrate, it is proposed to enable such a Magistrate to withdraw all or any of such powers in the same manner as the law now empowers a Local Government.

Clause 42.—This amendment merely reproduces section 128, and will more conveniently in one place set out the obligations of the public to assist a Magistrate and Police-officer on their demand.

Clause 44.—The new clause is necessary in regard to the giving of information of offences committed or intended to be committed in Native States, especially on the borderland of British India.

Clause 54, para. (1), last clause.—This repeats a portion of section 566, which for completeness it is proposed to insert here also.

Para. (3).—This addition has been suggested by the Government of Bombay and is necessary in consequence of the case of Empress v. Bojjigan, I. L. R., 5 Mad. 22, in which it was held that a village-chowkidar was not a Police-officer competent within the terms of this section to arrest without a warrant, and that therefore an escape from such custody, not being from lawful custody, was no offence.

Clause 57.—This section has been recast at the instance of the Government of India and with the approval of the Local Governments so as to provide a procedure which may be applicable to the case of a person resident in a Native State who is accused of having committed a non-cognizable offence in British India.

Clause 61.—This amendment is intended to show that the period of detention in police custody commences from the time that the person arrested is put in charge of a regular police-officer and not of a village police-officer, otherwise the term of lawful detention will have expired in many cases before it has been possible to commence a police investigation.

Clause 69.—This amendment provides for service of summons on a company or other body corporate in such cases as public nuisances under Chapter X.

Clauses 83, 85 and 86.—"District Superintendent of Police" has been added to these sections as matters falling within them properly come before him and need not come only before a Magistrate.

Clause 88, para. (4).—It is here proposed to give discretionary power to sell live stock or property of a perishable nature which may have been attached.

Para. (7).—The inconvenience of not providing for the summary adjudication of claims to property attached has been shown in several reported cases, and there is no reason why a Magistrate should not in this respect have the same power as a Civil Court. Hence this amendment.

Clause 96, para. (2).—The insertion of the words "or parcel or other thing" intended to authorise search-warrants for postal parcels.

Clause 102.—This amendment will make a search-warrant more effective by enabling the search of a person in or about the place on whom there may be reasonable suspicion that any article sought for is concealed.

Clause 106.—As reported cases have been contradictory in regard to the exercise of powers under this section, the doubt has been removed by expressly extending it to Courts of Appeal or Revision. The words "by threatening injury to person or property," which occur after the words "criminal intimidation," have been omitted.

Clause 107.—The amendments express more clearly what has been the general interpretation of this section and what its scope should be.

Clause 109.—In this provision the period of six months has been raised to twelve, which brings the period into accord with that fixed by section 107 of the present Code.

Clause 110.—These amendments have been proposed to make this section more complete. They are taken from clause 2 of the Habitual Offenders Bill, which it is proposed to abandon. Sub-clause (f) reproduces a part of the corresponding section of the Code of 1872, as its omission has been found to be inconvenient.

Clause 117, para. (2).—This amendment will enable a Magistrate in one proceeding to deal with two or more persons associated in the same matter which is under inquiry relating to security for good behaviour or to keep the peace.

Clause 118.—The provisos are intended to admit of an order for police supervision (see clause 565) being passed where that is deemed more appropriate than an order requiring security.

Clause 122.—It is here proposed, by omitting the words "for good behaviour," to extend the power of refusing any surety to cases of security to keep the peace.

Clause 123.—It is proposed to omit the last portion of the first clause and by the addition of another clause to deprive the Superintendent of a Jail of the power of determining the sufficiency of security tendered and thereupon releasing the particular person from prison, as this is inconsistent with section 122 and the Superintendent is not a proper person to determine such a matter. The second clause provides the course to be taken when security is tendered to the Superintendent.

Clause 124.— It is first proposed to limit the exercise of these powers in Presidency-towns to the Chief Presidency Magistrate and next to enlarge the operation of the section to mitigation of the particular order.

Clause 125.—This is merely an extension of the present law in regard to security to an order for police supervision.

Clause 133.—It is proposed to extend to all persons acting under Chapter IX the same protection as is now given only to a Magistrate in regard to requiring the sanction of the Governor General in Council before they can be prosecuted for anything purporting to have been done while so acting. The words "under military law" have been omitted as being unnecessary.

Clause 144.—It is proposed to give a Chief Presidency Magistrate power to act under this section.

Clause 145.—As much inconvenience and difficulty has been experienced in acting under this section in consequence of the expression "tangible immoveable property" substituted in the present law for the terms previously used, it is proposed to revert to the latter; and as the collection of rent is generally the means by which possession of land is asserted and maintained, and is a fruitful source of dispute generally resulting in a breach of the peace, it is proposed to extend the section to such matters.

Reported cases have shown that the time of the possession to be determined by the order of the Magistrate is doubtful. This is now made clear.

It is also proposed to declare that, unless either of the parties has at the hearing disputed the Magistrate's finding that there was a dispute likely to cause a breach of the peace within the terms of the first clause, the matter shall not be raised hereafter so as to affect the final order passed.

Clause 146.—This amendment will remedy a difficulty found to exist regarding the management of property under attachment. It will apply the rule already existing in regard to property attached under section 88.

Clause 147.—As in the amendment of section 145, it is proposed to revert to the terms of the former law in preference to the expression "tangible immoveable property" in the present Code.

The amendment of the proviso reproduces the terms of the Code of 1872, the omission of which is a defect in the present law.

Clause 156, para. (2).—This will enable a Magistrate to order the investigation of a cognizable offence. The present law does not expressly provide for this. The power to pass such an order has been limited to Magistrate empowered, under section 191, to take cognizance of an offence.

Clause 157.—This amendment will require a police-officer who declines to investigate a cognizable offence to inform the complainant so that he may proceed to complain to the Magistrate if so advised.

Clause 160.—The proviso declares the course to be taken by a police-officer in regard to the attendance of a parda lady at an investigation.

Clause 162.—This amendment will make statements recorded by a police-officer part of the diary, and therefore not open to inspection by the accused or his agents.

Clause 164.—The explanation added to this section makes it clear that any Magistrate may record a statement or confession, and that it will not be necessary that he should have jurisdiction to inquire into or try the particular case.

Clause 169, para. (2).—This will make this section more complete.

Clause 174.—It has been represented that it is often not possible for the police-officer in charge of a police station to hold an inquest in consequence of the press of other important work or from local considerations. It is proposed to give Local Governments power to appoint special police officers for such purposes.

Paragraph clause.—This will enable the Local Government to appoint a Medical Officer not in the regular service of Government to hold a post-mortem.

Paragraph clause.—This will provide for inquiries into deaths of prisoners in jail.

Clause 188, para. (3).—Some drafting amendments have been made in this provision to bring it into accord with the Acts of Parliament which give extra-territorial jurisdiction, and provision has been made for requiring the sanction of the Local Government in cases of prosecution for offences committed in places for which there is no Political Agent.

Clause 190, para. (3).—An objection to the proceedings before any particular Magistrate should be taken at the earliest stage and before evidence has been taken. Hence this amendment.

Clause 192.—The power conferred on a District Magistrate in regard to cases before Subordinate Magistrates is here given to a Chief Presidency Magistrate to transfer any case from his Court to that of any other Presidency Magistrate.

Clause 193, last para.—This has been added for administrative convenience.

Clause 194, para. (2).—Act X of 1875, section 144, is here inserted. Section 146, the other unrepealed section of that Act, is sufficiently covered by section 333 of the Code.

Clause 195.—In order to meet conflicting judgments of the High Courts, and because the Registration Act sufficiently deals with such matters, it is proposed to declare that proceedings under that Act do not fall within this section. It is also proposed to bring within section 195 abetments of or attempts to commit any of the offences specified. Lastly, as the High Courts have not been concurrent in regard to the power to extend the period for making a complaint on sanction obtained, it is proposed expressly to give such power, but only to a High Court, for good cause shown.

Clauses 203 and 209.—The additions to these sections are necessary to enable a Court of Revision to act under section 437.

Clause 225, para. (2).—This requires an objection to any matter connected with the charge to be made at the earliest opportunity, and provides also that, if it is not so made, it is barred on appeal or revision.

Clauses 227 and 231.—These amendments will settle the law as laid down in contradictory judgments of the High Courts—see I. L. R., 8 Bom. 200, and I. L. R., 9 All. 525.

Clause 234, para. (a).—This has been inserted to meet the case of a series of embezzlements extending over some time when there is a balance proved to have been embezzled, but the prosecution cannot show the exact amount or date of any particular embezzlement.

Clause 236, illustration (b).—This is proposed to settle the law that contradictory statements by a witness which are irreconcileable constitute the offence of intentionally giving false evidence, though it cannot be proved which of the two statements is false.

Clause 237.—By this it is intended to show that on a charge for a specific offence a man may be convicted of an attempt to commit that offence without a charge of such attempt.

Clause 256.—It is here intended to prevent a second cross-examination when there has been already a cross-examination on the facts constituting the charge before it has been drawn up, and thus to prevent a common abuse of this privilege.

Clause 257.—The discretion to be given to a Magistrate under this amendment is proposed with the same object.

Clause 260, sub-clause (l).—This will include amongst cases triable summarily cases under the Cattle-trespass Act, 1871, which it has been held are not so triable.

Para. (a).—This applies mutatis mutandis to the course to be taken in cases coming within section 209.

Clause 269, para. (a).—This will empower a Local Government to prescribe generally or specially in what place or places a Court of Session shall be held.

Clause 292.—This is intended to prevent a right of reply on the part of the prosecution where the only evidence tendered by the defence has been on the cross-examination of a witness for the prosecution. On this point the judgments of the High Courts have differed.

Clause 310.—The new sub-clause (c) is intended to settle a doubt which has been expressed, by declaring that in a case tried with the assistance of assessors it is unnecessary to record and deliver a judgment on the substantive charge before proceeding to try a charge of aggravation of the offence or offences charged and found by reason of any previous conviction or convictions.

Clause 318.—It is proposed to limit to six months the term for which a High Court may sentence a juror for failure without lawful excuse to attend or for departure without permission of the Court, and also expressly to declare that such Court may, in its discretion, remit any fine or imprisonment inflicted.

Clause 320, sub-clause (d).—Police-officers have been added to the list of those exempt from attendance as jurors or assessors. It will be for consideration whether Legal Practitioners should not also be exempt as in England.

Clause 332.—Discretion to remit or reduce any fine or imprisonment imposed on a juror or assessor failing without lawful excuse to attend or departing without permission is given to a Court of Session as is already given in ordinary cases of contempt of Court by section 484.

Clause 345.—Offences under sections 325, 428, 429, and 430, Indian Penal Code, have been added to the list of those which may, with the permission of the Court, be compounded.

Para. (5).—It is proposed that after a commitment to the Court of Session or when after a conviction an appeal has been preferred, no offence shall be compounded without leave of the Court to which the case has been committed or before which the appeal is to be heard.

Clause 380, sub-clause (e).—This has been added so as to make it clear that a Court of Session in a case so referred is competent to direct the case to be committed for trial to that Court if it is of opinion that the sentence which can be passed on the case so referred is inadequate or that it is otherwise desirable for the ends of justice that such a trial shall be held.

Clause 388 (2).—This is intended to apply to such a case as that of an order for compensation under section 560 in which an alternative sentence of imprisonment cannot be passed until it has been found that the amount cannot be recovered by distress, as in the case of a fine, by enabling the Court to require the execution of a bond for the attendance of the person fined on the day fixed for the return of the warrant for distress.

Clause 391.—It is proposed to enact that, unless a sentence of imprisonment not less than for three months is passed, a Court shall not be competent to pass an additional sentence of whipping.

Clause 399.—The substitution of "fifteen" for "sixteen" brings this provision into accord with the Reformatory Schools Act, 1897.

Clause 401.—This clause is to enable the different Governments to make rules for respites in emergent cases, so that execution of a sentence, especially one of death, may be suspended until the orders of Government shall have been received on a petition made to it by the convicted person.

Clause 406—The addition here is to provide for an appeal against an order for police supervision.

Clause 423, sub-clause (d).—This is necessary to give effect to the amendment of section 106.

Clause 439, last para.—If the person affected has the right of appeal, he should not be allowed to move a Court of Revision without having previously applied for relief to the Appellate Court. Hence this amendment.

Clause 465.—The object of this amendment is to enable statements of witnesses to be recorded during the incapacity of an accused to stand his trial by reason of unsoundness of mind, as otherwise such evidence may be lost. The procedure (section 512) in the case of an absconding accused has been applied.

Clause 471, para. (3)—This will enable the Governor-General in Council to deal with such matters by general orders instead of requiring specific orders in each case. This is necessary especially in cases of persons whose confinement in a lunatic asylum may have been ordered by a Court in a Province where no lunatic asylum has been established. Para. (4) reproduces section 475-B of the present Code.

Clause 476, last para.—The reported cases show that it is undesirable in the ends of justice that a Court of Revision should interfere in such matters with the discretion of a Court in proceedings before it. Ample opportunity is given to make bonâ fide objections when criminal proceedings have been instituted. Hence this clause.

Clause 480.—The addition of section 174 of the Indian Penal Code will enable a Court to deal summarily as a contempt of Court with the case of a witness who may unlawfully depart from such Court.

Clause 488, para. (2).—This will enable a Magistrate to order maintenance to be paid from the date of the complaint and not only from the date of his order.

Para. 3, proviso—The alteration of the concluding words will give a Magistrate larger discretion in making an order for maintenance This is necessary because under a reported case a wife may be compelled to live with her husband or lose the right to separate maintenance even when the husband may be cohabiting with another woman so long as she is not a married woman so as to constitute the offence of adultery within the terms of the Indian Penal Code—see I. L. R., 17 Mad. 260.

Para. (6).—The proviso here will enable a Magistrate to proceed and pass an ex-parte order for maintenance in the contumacious absence of the person summoned; provision is also made for the re-opening of such a case.

Para (7).—This will enable the person summoned to have himself examined as a witness on his own behalf, and will also enable a Magistrate to pass an order as to cost in a maintenance case.

Para. (8).—This declares the jurisdiction of a Magistrate in such a case. The reported cases are doubtful on this point.

Clause 498.—It is left over for consideration whether, having regard to the provisions of section 426, the words "or Court of Session" should not be omitted.

Clause 514.—These amendments will enable proceedings to be taken against the estate of a deceased surety where his liability accrued before his death.

Clause 517.—The operation of this section has been enlarged so as to enable a Magistrate to pass orders for the disposal of any property produced before him.

Clause 520.—This will enable a Superior Court to give effect to an order setting aside the order of the Court of first instance, if that order has been carried out, by directing the restitution of the property.

Clause 526.—This amendment will enable a High Court to pass an order for the transfer of a case on a reference made by an inferior Court with the consent of the parties concerned without a formal motion or affidavit, and will generally in such cases extend the powers of a High Court.

Clause 526, para. (8).—It has been found necessary to give some discretion to a judicial officer in such a case as the power of requiring postponement or adjournment of an inquiry or trial has not unfrequently been abused.

Clause 528.—This amendment has been made so as to enable a District Magistrate in Madras to transfer a case from a Village Magistrate, as it has been held that under the existing law he cannot do so.

Clause 533.—It is proposed to declare that this section applies to a Court of Appeal or Revision.

Clause 537.—This clause has been enlarged so as to apply to a case which has not been finally disposed of so as to meet the objection raised in I. L. R., 23 Cal. 983.

Clause 555, Explanations and Illustration.—These additions have been made to meet the objections raised in I. L. R., 23 Cal. 328, I. L. R., 19 Mad. 263, and other similar cases.

Clauses 561, 562 and 563.—These clauses are new and enable certain Magistrates in specified cases to abstain from passing sentence on a first offender on conditions. They also provide for the course to be taken on failure to fulfil these conditions.

Clauses 564 and 565.—These clauses are new and provide for police supervision in regard to habitual offenders.

Schedule II.

Sections 263A and 477A.—Offences created by Act III of 1895 for which no provision was made in the Code of Criminal Procedure have been entered.

Offences under sections 409, 417, 418, 419, and 420 have been made cognizable offences by an alteration in column 3 on the recommendation of the Government of Madras.

A similar amendment has been made in respect of forgery, sections 465, et seq., as the necessity in Presidency-towns has been represented.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL GENERAL ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE DACCA DIVISION FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

GENERAL DEPARTMENT—MISCELLANEOUS.

READ—

The Annual General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for the year 1896-97.

THE Division was in charge of Messrs. L. Hare, H. Luttman-Johnson, and G. Toynbee successively during the year. Mr. Hare again took charge after the end of the year, and submits the Report, a part of which was, however, written by Mr. Toynbee. The Dacca and Mymensingh districts were in charge of Mr. L. P. Shirres and Mr. E. B. Harris, respectively, throughout the year; in Backergunge there was one change of Collectors, and in Faridpur there were four. All the subdivisions of Dacca and Backergunge, and the Jamalpur and Kishorganj subdivisions of Mymensingh, were in charge of a single officer throughout the year.

2. Tours and Inspections.—The Commissioners' tours extended over 110 days. The periods spent by Collectors and Subdivisional Officers on tour appear to have been sufficient; but it is not stated whether these were the periods prescribed by the Commissioner and the Collectors, respectively, under the recent orders of Government. This matter should be stated clearly in future Reports. Mr. Beatson-Bell, Collector of Backergunge, spent 130 days on tour, and covered 429 miles by road in a district, which, as the Commissioner remarks, "is generally regarded as unfit for inspection otherwise than by boat." All the prescribed inspections of offices by the Commissioner and Collectors were carried out, except at Goalundo, where the Subdivisional Office and Sub-Treasury were not inspected. It is not reported whether Subdivisional Officers inspected their own offices, nor to what extent Government and Wards' Estates were inspected.

3. Weather and crops: Material condition of the people: Public health.—The average rainfall of the Division was only 59·75 inches, against 62·14 inches in 1895-96, when it was also short, the mean average rainfall for the five years ending with 1894-95 having been 75·33 inches. The rainfall was ill-distributed as well as deficient. There was a heavy storm in Backergunge at the end of June which brought in a flood of salt-water, but is reported to have been less destructive than previous storms. The average outturn of aus rice is estimated to have been about 12½ annas, and that of aman rice about 8½ annas; jute is reported to have yielded about a 12-anna outturn throughout the Division, but there was a full crop in Backergunge. The plague among betel-nut trees in the latter district is reported to be dying out; and the trees which escaped it gave an excellent outturn during the year. As the prices of food-grains were very high, and the crops were not so short as those in other parts of the province, and the inhabitants of this Division are so much more prosperous than their neighbours, the poor crops appear to have had little injurious effect on their material condition during the year, except, perhaps, in the northern parts of Faridpur. The Collector of Backergunge, writing of his own district, describes the year as one of "middling crops and good prices." In the Dacca district the people are reported to be exceedingly well off owing to low rents, waterways throughout the district, and the introduction of jute. In Mymensingh the middle classes who live on fixed incomes suffered from the high prices that prevailed. The wages of labour in the Division are high, and during the year under review were almost the same as in the previous year. Though Local Charitable Committees were formed in all the districts, they did not find it necessary to distribute any relief before the close of the year. A remarkable indication of progress and prosperity in this Division is given by the facts mentioned in paragraph 74 of the Commissioner's report, namely, that kerosine oil is universally used by the people for lighting purposes, that cotton piece-goods of European manufacture are used by the people at large, and that a large quantity of corrugated iron is imported for the purpose of roofing and walling the people's houses.

According to the recorded figures, the year was comparatively healthy, the general death-rate of the Division for 1896 being 32·2 per mille, against 33·04 in 1895. In Backergunge, however, the contrary was the case, the death-rate in in 1896 being 43·8, against 34·2 in 1895. It is difficult to say how far these variations are due to more or less complete registration. The reported death-rate in the areas in which registration is compulsory was again lower than that reported for the whole Division. There was a continued increase in the number of persons vaccinated, and the opposition to vaccination of the Farazi Muhammadans in Backergunge appears to be gradually abating. The question of water-supply continued to occupy the attention of District Boards and Municipalities; the District Board of Mymensingh dug and sank a large number of new tanks and wells. The Dacca District Board sank some tube wells which are reported to answer well in light soil.

4. Manufactures, Trade and Commerce.—As in the previous year, there were 21 steam jute-presses, and 5 hand-presses in Dacca. The steam oil-mill at Jhalokati continued to work, but the value of the outturn was somewhat less than in the previous year. The Dacca weavers' and goldsmiths' industries are declining.

Owing doubtless to the short crops, the exports of food-grains to Calcutta were very considerably less than in the preceding year, being only 29,81,703 maunds, against 45,20,340 maunds, and the imports were much greater, being 16,94,711 maunds against only 2,85,837 maunds in 1895-96. Almost the whole of this traffic is in rice and paddy; the trade in gram and pulses is comparatively small, but it rose from 91,468 maunds in 1895-96 to 2,55,284 maunds in 1896-97. The trade in jute was dull, exports to Calcutta falling from 1,16,83,003 maunds to 1,07,19,430 maunds; and exports from Narayanganj to Chittagong from 893,586 cwts. to 656,622 cwts., owing (Mr. Hare reports) to the high rate of interest that prevailed, which prevented the country mills from making any profit, and to the quarantine imposed on Indian jute in European ports. The export trade of Narayanganj in other articles was heavier than in the previous year, kerosine-oil and tobacco being the most important; but only 308 and 317 vessels entered and cleared from this port, respectively, in 1896-97, against 347 entered and 380 cleared in 1895-96. Only 101 of the vessels that entered brought cargo; the whole trade of Narayanganj port is with Chittagong. Mr. Hare and Mr. Harris point out that the trade of Mymensingh is hampered by the difficulty of communication both within and without the district. The want of roads in this large district is felt the more, now that the Old Brahmaputra and other rivers are silting up; but trade will, no doubt, be greatly facilitated by the opening of the railway from Mymensingh to the Jamuna (the main stream of the Brahmaputra), which is now under construction.

5. Civil Justice.—One hundred and thirty-four thousand and five hundred suits were instituted, and 136,652 disposed of in the Civil Courts in 1896; the number of institutions was slightly less than in 1896. In the superior Courts, 8,333 witnesses were examined and 16·3 per cent. were detained more than two days, against 21·3 per cent. in 1895; but in the Munsif's Court, the proportion rose from 9·5 to 12·3 per cent., though the total number of witnesses examined was slightly less (176,253 against 180,322).

6. Crime: Police: Criminal Justice.—It is stated that cognizable crime (excluding sanitary offences) increased by 21·7 per cent., and non-cognizable crime diminished by 1 per cent. The actual figures are not given; but the aggregate number of cognizable offences reported was 22,636 against 19,179 in 1895. The increase in cognizable crime was chiefly in offences against property and in Backergunge and Mymensingh is attributed partly to better reporting; in other districts it is ascribed to scarcity and high prices. There was a most satisfactory decrease of murders and riots in Backergunge, due, it is reported, to the disarmament of the district which was carried out in September 1896. Proceedings were taken under the preventive sections of the Criminal Procedure Code in an increased number of cases throughout the Division, and, but for these measures, Mr. Hare remarks, the increase in cognizable crime would probably have been greater than it was.

Fifteen thousand three hundred and ninety-eight cases were disposed of by Stipendiary Magistrates, and 68,529 witnesses examined, against 15,225 cases and 62,613 witnesses in 1895. The proportion of witnesses detained over two days to the total number examined was 4·2 per cent., practically the same as in the previous year. The highest district percentage was 6 per cent. in Mymensingh, but here the number of cases disposed of was 10,448—almost twice as great as in any of the other districts. Honorary Magistrates again rendered great assistance, trying as many as 9,380 cases; of the 11,126 witnesses whom they examined, the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to observe that 11·01 per cent. were detained more than two days. The proportion in the previous year was 8·5 per cent. The attendance of Honorary Magistrates was fairly regular, but there is still room for improvement in the matter of absence without notice.

The number of cases declared false was 1,268; only 114 prosecutions were instituted and only 28 persons were convicted of laying false charges; compensation was awarded against 90 persons under the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. The proportion of police cases remanded six times or more to the whole number was reduced from 8·1 per cent. to 6·8 per cent., the improvement being most manifest in Backergunge. Forty-three per cent. of these cases were disposed of at the first hearing. Considering the great bulk of criminal work in the Dacca Division, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to observe that it is performed, on the whole, with commendable promptitude.

Three hundred and eighty-one cases were committed to the Sessions Courts, and 387 were disposed of; 261 cases, or 67·4 per cent. of the latter number, resulted in conviction. The highest proportion was again obtained in Backergunge (though it was less here than in the previous year), but the other districts show a considerable improvement, which doubtless corresponds to the increased care with which committals were made.

Fines to the amount of Rs. 1,18,733 were imposed during the year, and Rs. 97,106 were collected on this account; the balance left outstanding at the end of the year was Rs. 39,775, rather more than the opening balance. There was a marked improvement in the matter of re-convictions of old offenders, the percentage of re-convictions having been 8·1 against 7·1 in the previous year.

The working of the regular police would appear to have been generally satisfactory, and to have been distinctly improved in Backergunge by the appointment of special Inspectors. It is reported that, in Mymensingh, the Muhammadans consider it derogatory to serve as chaukidars, but in Dacca and Backergunge they form the bulk of the rural police. District Officers are alive to the advantage of rewarding chaukidars liberally for good work done, but they have some difficulty in making the rewards granted balance the fines imposed. Sirdars or dafadars have been appointed to all Villages and Unions under the Chaukidari Act in Mymensingh, and arrangements are being made for the same purpose in Backergunge.

7. Land-Revenue.—The total (current and arrear) demand on account of Land-Revenue and Road and Public Works and Zamindari Dâk Cesses was Rs. 49,83,455, of which Rs. 46,75,860 were collected. In all the districts, the collections of land-revenue in permanently-settled estates reached the prescribed standard, the current collections being over 99 per cent. of the current demand. The following were the percentages reached in the other two classes of estates in each district, shown together with the standard percentages:—

	Temporarily-settled Estates.	Estates under direct management.
Standard percentages	95	90
Dacca	84·7	74·2
Mymensingh	96·2	96·2
Faridpur	75·8	84·0
Backergunge	89·8	88·8

In none of the districts except Mymensingh was the standard percentage attained in either class of estates; no explanation of the deficiency is offered. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice the excellence of the collections in Mymensingh; and considering the large demand on account of permanently-settled estates under direct management in Backergunge, the collections in that district cannot be regarded as unsatisfactory; but the large decrease of Rs. 83,097 in the current demand in estates held direct by Government in this district is not sufficiently explained. Further information on the subject should be given, neither is it understood why collections should have been so bad in Faridpur in private estates leased to farmers (15·64 per cent. of the demand), and in Government estates leased to farmers (41·28 per cent.), or in Dacca district, where the collections in these classes of estates reached respectively only 48·40 and 61·61 per cent. of the demand. Three thousand one hundred and forty-three estates and shares of estates became liable to sale for default in the payment of revenue, and 580 were actually sold.

Seventeen thousand, four hundred and seventy-three certificates were filed under the Public Demands Recovery Act, against 11,355 in the previous year. The number pending at the close of the year was 7,116, against 4,284 pending at the beginning of the year; 1,796 cases had been pending more than six months, including no less than 1,664 cases in Backergunge. Mr. Stevens trusts that the Commissioner and Collectors will make strenuous efforts to reduce these large arrears. A large number (192) of partition cases was instituted during the year, and there was a considerable increase in the number of cases left pending. There were at the end of the year 68 cases in the Division that had been pending for more than five years. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that these cases will now be speedily disposed of under the Partition law recently passed, and that effective control will be exercised in regulating the cost of partition proceedings. There can be no sufficient reason for partitions costing Rs. 1-0-6 an acre in Mymensingh and Rs. 0-12-7 in Backergunge, against only Rs. 0-4-3 per acre in Dacca.

A number of applications for the survey and settlement of private as well as of Government estates were filed during the year, but it is reported that, owing to the strain on the district staff caused by the famine in other parts of the Province, District Officers had much difficulty in finding officers qualified to undertake this important work. The number of miscellaneous proceedings under the Bengal Tenancy Act showed a continued decrease. Rupees 16,300 were spent on improvements in Government estates, but the nature of the improvements made is not specified.

8. Wards' Estates.—There were six estates in the charge of the Court of Wards, of which one was released during the year. Surveys and records-of-right have been carried out in all these estates, except Kanakshar in Faridpur, where proceedings of this nature are now pending. Excluding the released estate, the total current demand on account of rent and cesses was Rs. 1,79,807, and the arrear demand Rs. 80,054; of the aggregate demand 73·1 per cent. was realised. A satisfactory reduction was made in the outstanding balance from Rs. 80,054 at the beginning of the year to Rs. 58,532 at the end; but the arrear demand is evidently capable of further reduction, especially in Dakhin Shahbazpur, which has the largest rent-roll of the five estates left in charge of the Court of Wards in this Division. Rupees 10,286 were spent on improvements.

9. Excise Stamps: Income-tax.—There was a decline in the consumption of all exciseable articles, but the excise revenue rose by a slight increase of Rs. 7,801 to Rs. 9,05,161, and was the highest on record. The rate per head of the population was only one anna and five pies.

There was an increase of Rs. 99,980 in the revenue derived from stamps, which amounted to Rs. 29,50,087. The chief causes of the increase appear to have been an increase in the number of documents registered (probably due to the high prices prevailing) and an increase in the number and value of civil suits. Fifty-six prosecutions only were instituted for breaches of the Stamp law, and out of 76 persons tried, 57 were convicted.

The final demand on account of income-tax was Rs. 3,08,898 assessed on 12,086 persons, and was less by Rs. 8,828 than in the previous year. The decrease, which was confined to Dacca, is attributed to the depressed condition of the jute trade. The whole demand was realized in Dacca, 99 per cent. in Mymensingh and Faridpur, and 97·9 in Backergunge with only 118 distraints and 30 actual sales, and at a cost of 4·3 per cent. on the collections.

10. Communications.—As already stated, the extension of the Eastern Bengal State Railway from Mymensingh to the Brahmaputra is in progress, and is likely to be of great value. The Collector thinks that a branch to connect the new line with the Assam-Bengal Railway viâ Netrokona, and another to Kishorganj and Karimganj, which is a centre of the jute trade, are desirable projects. A branch of the Eastern Bengal State Railway from Rajbari to Faridpur is under construction. 31½ miles of new road were added to the District Roads, mostly in the Mymensingh district, and 43½ miles, already open, were embanked and bridged. A large expenditure was incurred on village roads in Backergunge, where the Magistrate is of the opinion, which Mr. Hare shares with him, "that short pieces of village roads, leading to ghâts and marts, and cutting off long distances in bends of rivers" are of great use. Fourteen new public ferries were opened during the year.

11. Education.—The number of schools fell from 13,626 to 12,832, and that of pupils, from 285,293 to 273,789. The decrease is to be regretted and is not explained; it was shared by all the districts except Faridpur, and was heaviest in Backergunge. The proportion of boys at school to the total number of boys of a school-going age was 36·5 per cent., which compares very favourably with most divisions. The total expenditure on Education was Rs. 10,49,221, of which Rs. 5,23,099 were derived from fees, Rs. 1,43,052 contributed by Government, Rs. 1,67,440 by District Boards, and only Rs. 7,417 by Municipalities. There are now 18 boarding-houses and hostels in the Division.

The number of girls in girls' schools rose from 13,452 to 14,132; but the total number of girls at school (including those studying in boys' schools) was 20,837 against 21,785 in the previous year. The number of Muhammadans at school has decreased in all districts except Faridpur; but the number of pupils at the Dacca Madrassa shows an increase. The Lieutenant-Governor has recently had under the consideration the question of promoting Muhammadan education in Backergunge and other districts, and has sanctioned a proposal to retain exclusively for qualified Mussulmans the appointments of four additional Deputy-Inspectors of Schools. The District Boards of the districts of the Dacca Division, and of certain other districts in which the Muhammadans form a large proportion of the total population, have been addressed with a view to their giving preference in the appointment of Sub-Inspectors to suitable Mussulmans in a reasonable proportion to the whole number of such officers.

12. Dispensaries and Hospitals.—Ten new dispensaries were opened in 1896, bringing the whole number in the Division to 79; and 481,863 persons received medical aid against 335,298 in 1895, a most satisfactory increase. At the Mitford Hospital at Dacca, 33,664 patients were treated. Raja Rajendra Narain Roy of Bhowal and Maharaja Surjya Kanta Acharjya gave munificent donations during the year for the extension of the Dacca and Mymensingh hospitals respectively; but the Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice that private subscriptions towards the maintenance of dispensaries and hospitals decreased in the aggregate by about one-third, a decrease of which the cause is not understood and has not been explained.

13. Local Self-Government Institutions.—The District Boards appear to have worked in harmony with their official Chairmen; the work done by these bodies in connection with the improvement of water-supply and of communications has been noticed above. The Local Boards, too, are reported to have taken some interest in their work, but 11 out of the 16 Local Boards failed to meet once a month. There were 17 Municipalities as in the previous year; a general election of Commissioners was held. The income of these bodies was Rs. 3,74,583 and they spent Rs. 3,63,002; but it is not stated how this expenditure was distributed among the different departments of Municipal Administration. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice that the District Magistrates, on inspecting the Dacca and Madaripur Municipalities, found that in both cases the Commissioners were absorbed in party strife, and that consequently almost every branch of their working gave cause for dissatisfaction. His Honour shares in the hope expressed by Mr. Hare that the new Commissioners of Dacca, with their present Chairman, and acting on the advice of the Magistrate, will be able to amend matters without delay. The Municipality of Narayanganj is still the best administered in the Division, and that of Faridpur has earned praise from the District Magistrate. From the remarks made by the District Magistrates and the Commissioner on the subject, there would appear to be room for considerable improvement in the management of pounds by District Boards and Municipalities.

14. Employment of Muhammadans.—Though the percentage of the Muhammadan to the Hindu population in this division is 65·6, yet the percentage of offices held by the former is only 26·4 per cent This result is attributed by the Collector of Dacca to the fact of their religious instruction taking up so much time as to handicap them in the educational race, by the Collector of Faridpur to their failure to move with the times, and by the Collector of Backergunge to "our educational system having been captured by the Hindus." The Commissioner (Mr. Hare), while thinking that the paucity of the numbers of Muhammadans who secure office is generally due to their own want of education and enterprise, still is of opinion that no real and persistent effort has been made to carry out the wishes of Government in this matter, and to distribute appointments more equitably. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes, if this be so, that Mr. Hare will do his best to see that the orders of Government are acted upon in future.

15. Social and Political Institutions.—There were political societies of various kinds in the Division; they do not appear to have done much work of importance, beyond discussing the projects of legislation upon which the opinions of some of them were asked by Government.

There were nine social or philanthropic societies, which appear to have done good work. The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to notice the establishment of a Recreation Club at Barisal, which has arranged frequent football and cricket matches between European and Bengali teams; such an institution, if well managed as this appears to be, cannot fail to exert an excellent influence. Thirteen journals of various kinds were published in the Division.

16. Conduct of Zamindars.—The Division sustained a serious loss during the year in the death of Nawab Bahadur Sir Khwaja Abdul Ghani, K.C.S.I. His son and successor, Nawab Sir Khwaja Ahsanulla Bahadur, K C.I.E., has long been known as a public-spirited and liberal landlord. Other Zamindars, who deserve mention for similar qualities, are—Raja Rajendra Narain Roy Chowdhry Bahadur of Bhowal, Babu Parbati Sankar Roy of Teota, Raja Sreenath Roy of Bhagyakul, Maharaja Surjya Kanta Acharjya of Muktagacha, Babu Jagat Kishore Acharjya, Rai Jogendra Kishore Roy Chaudhuri Bahadur of Ramgopalpur, Babu Bepin Behari Roy, Mr. E. P. Caspersz, and Raja Sir Sourendra Mohun Tagore, Kt., C.I.E. Most of these gentlemen were mentioned in last year's Report and Resolution also.

It is stated that nearly all the Zamindars of Mymensingh district deserve favourable mention for the assistance which they gave their tenants.

Mr. Beatson-Bell notes that there are signs of improved feeling among the landlords of Backergunge with regard to their duties in the matter of crime. There has been no serious rioting in that district during the year, and murders have declined; these are matters of much satisfaction.

17. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Messrs. Toynbee, Luttman-Johnson and Hare for their efficient administration of the Division, and to Mr. Hare for his concise Report, from which the following extracts are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

M. FINUCANE,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

Extracts from the Annual General Administration Report of the Dacca Division for the year 1896-97.

SECTION III.—WEATHER AND CROPS.

13. The average rainfall was only 59·75 inches, against 62·14 in the previous year, the average of five years ending 1895-96 being 61·77 inches. The rainfall of the year was not only insufficient, but was badly distributed.

14. The Collector of Dacca reports that the flood-water during the year was much below the high water level. This and the scanty rainfall from October to January told seriously on the aman crop, which is the staple food-crop of the district. Want of timely rainfall and insufficiency of flood-water also affected to some extent the aus, pulses, jute, and oilseeds.

The Collector of Mymensingh says that the heavy showers of rain in the month of May retarded the growth of aus and jute. The aman crop suffered from want of rain during the time of transplantation, as well as from October to January, when rain was most needed for its growth. The outturn of all crops, especially the aman, was less than that of the previous year.

15. Owing to the want of flood-water and to the scanty rainfall the outturn of aman, jute, pulses, rabi, and oilseeds in Faridpur was worse than that of the previous year.

16. There was a notable storm in Backergunge at the end of June, which brought in a flood of salt-water, but it was less destructive than its predecessors. Middling crops and good prices were the general result of the agricultural operations of this district during the year under review.

SECTION IV.—PUBLIC HEALTH.

17. The general health of the Division was better during the year under review than in the previous year, the death-rate per mille of population being 32·2, against 33·04 in 1895. Of the total number of deaths registered, more than two-thirds were caused by fever. The Division enjoyed comparative immunity from cholera and small-pox.

18. The following table gives the details for each district :—

District.	Death-rate per mille.		Percentage of deaths due to—
	1895.	1896.	Fever.	Cholera.	Bowel complaints.	Injuries.	Small-pox.	Other causes.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Dacca ...	33·3	28·7	1·3	·3	·1	·02	·009	·5
Mymensingh ...	30·9	25·5	1·9	·1	·02	·02	·01	·4
Faridpur ...	35·1	34·3	2·6	·2	·02	·03	·03	·4
Backergunge ...	34·2	43·8	1·9	·4	·02	·06	·002	1·0

Dacca. In the Dacca district, fever was most prevalent during the cold season, owing mainly to the want of drainage and good drinking water in the rural areas.

Mymensingh. In Mymensingh, fever of a very severe and fatal type was prevalent during the months of November and December in the southern portion of the Tangail subdivision, and caused numerous deaths; but, notwithstanding this, the general health of the district was better than it was in the preceding year.

Faridpur. The number of deaths from fever does not, in the opinion of the Civil Surgeon, convey an adequate idea of its prevalence in the district of Faridpur; there was hardly a village which escaped its ravages. Malarial fever is endemic in this district, and it prevailed to an extraordinary extent during the year under report. This fact apparently falsifies the theory that unusual dryness of season is favourable to the public health.

Backergunge. The increase in the number of deaths from fever and cholera in Backergunge is ascribed to short rainfall.

19. Vaccination. The following table compares the number of persons vaccinated in the several districts of this Division during the years 1895 and 1896:—

	1895.	1896.	1895.	1896.
Dacca ...	125,558	140,331	52·4	55·5
Mymensingh ...	148,473	144,251	31·2	41·5
Faridpur ...	83,134	82,660	45·0	45·3
Backergunge ...	61,284	70,571	28·4	32·7
Total ...	418,449	437,813	42·5	44·4

Vaccination from the calf was partially introduced into the rural areas of the district of Dacca during the year under report. In Mymensingh the people are still opposed to vaccination. No attempt was made to obtain lymph direct from calves in the district of Faridpur. The fatwas of the Muhammadan priests in favour of vaccination are not yet very widely known in Backergunge. The Farazi Musalmans of this district are gradually yielding to the influence of vaccination.

20. Sale of quinine. The experiment of selling quinine in pice packets through the agency of shop-keepers and other private persons at rural centres where there are no post-offices (vide the concluding portion of paragraph 14 of the Government Resolution No. 31T.M., dated 7th May 1895,) was not a success in the Division, but no explanation of the failure is forthcoming.

21. Water-supply. Under the impetus given to it by the Resolution of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, the subject of water-supply is specially engaging the attention of all the District Boards and Municipalities of this Division. The total expenditure incurred by them during the year 1896-97 amounted to Rs. 37,729 and Rs. 37,621, against Rs. 16,910 and Rs. 32,655 respectively in the previous year. The number of tanks and wells dug and repaired by the several District Boards is shown below:—

Name of District Board.	Number of new tanks dug.	Number of new wells sunk.	Existing sources of water-supply repaired.
Dacca ...	2	3	4
Mymensingh ...	20	69	34
Faridpur ...	16	1	15
Backergunge ...	14	...	7
Total ...	52	72	60

The Dacca District Board also purchased 30 tube wells, some of which have been sunk. These wells answer well in light soil, and some of them are working satisfactorily, but those tried in the Narainganj Municipality proved a failure.

22. A successful prosecution was instituted against certain persons for throwing remains of a partially burnt body into a stream, the water of which was used for drinking purposes. The accused was convicted under section 290 of the Penal Code and sentenced to a fine of Rs. 20.

V.—MATERIAL CONDITION OF THE PEOPLE.

23. On this subject, owing to my want of personal knowledge of the Division, I have had to allow the Collectors to speak for themselves. Mr. L. P. Shirres, Collector of Dacca, writes :—

"The people of this district are exceedingly well off, chiefly owing to the low rates of rent prevailing, and to the waterways throughout the district. They have also benefited considerably in recent years by the introduction of jute. They were, therefore, able to withstand the high prices of food-grains during the year under review without exhibiting any special signs of distress. The condition of the trading classes and artizans, especially the goldsmiths, carpenters and masons, is prosperous."

Mr. E. B. Harris, Collector of Mymensingh, says :—

"The year under report was also an unfavourable one in respect of food-grains as well as jute. The condition of the agricultural class cannot, therefore, be said to have been prosperous. The middle class, who live on fixed incomes, have suffered owing to the high price of food-grains that ruled throughout the year. The traders and shop-keepers had not, however, much to complain of."

Regarding the district of Faridpur, the Officiating Collector, Mr. J. H. Temple, remarks :—

"Like its predecessor, the year 1896-97 began amidst plenty and prosperity; but, owing to deficient rainfall and an abnormally low flood, the outturn of rice crop was poor, and in some parts of the district people fared badly.

* * * * * * * *

When the year opened, ordinary rice sold at 14 seers per rupee; this price gradually rose, and it was selling at 9 seers when the year closed. This abnormally high price of rice, and the partial failure of the spring crops, have no doubt caused hardship, and in some parts of the district, especially in the Goalundo subdivision, scarcity has been reported."

Mr. N. D. Beatson Bell, Officiating Collector of Backergunge, reports :—

"Rice now sells at 10 seers 8 chitaks per rupee. The great bulk of the population being agricultural is now in great prosperity; at this moment we are probably the best fed district in India. Zamindars are collecting full rents, and raiyats are squandering their money in the trumpery luxuries which abound in every market. I am only afraid that the high prices have tempted the peasantry into excessive sale of food-grains. A few months on they may find themselves with insufficient grain for feeding themselves and sowing their fields, while their money will be mostly spent, and the price of grain perhaps higher than ever. The people of this district are delightfully imprudent. Blessed with a luxuriant soil, they live from hand to mouth as confident as Mr. Micawber that something will turn up."

IX.—TRADE AND COMMERCE.

41. The trade of this Division, as reported last year, is carried on by rail, rivers, and canals. Bullock-carts and pack-ponies are employed in the interior of the Mymensingh district, where communication by boat is impossible. The existing line of railway in that district is short, and serves only to connect Mymensingh with other districts. The extension of the line from Mymensingh to Jamalpur and Jamalpur to Jagannathganj on the Jamuna has been taken in hand, and will when opened greatly facilitate trade in the western parts of the district. In the district of Backergunge there is now steam-boat communication with Calcutta and the neighbouring districts of Dacca, Faridpur, Noakhali, and Khulna; but the service is necessarily limited, and the bulk of the trade in that district is carried on by means of large country boats, which are available throughout the district all the year round.

42. The old Brahmaputra river, which runs a great length of its course throughout the district of Mymensingh and connects several important places of trade, is gradually silting up and is not navigable now by big country boats in the dry season. Most of the smaller streams of the district are also drying up and are navigable only during the rains.

43. The want of feeder roads and bridges is still felt in the district of Mymensingh. The District Board is doing every year what it can, but some parts of this big district yet remain to be opened out to trade, and this is a work of time. The pontoon bridge over the Brahmaputra below Mymensingh has not been taken in hand.

44. Information on the total import and export traffic in each of the 24 staples carried by rail and along the Nadia rivers and the Calcutta canals will be submitted as soon as the prescribed statements are received from the district officers.

45. As a very considerable portion of the trade of this Division is carried on by means of country boats not passing through any registering centres, it is difficult to arrive at any correct estimate of its extent.

46. The principal articles of export from this district are jute and Dacca-made piece-goods, such as plain and striped muslins; kasida, jamdani, and plain dhutis and chadars; and the chief articles of import are fringed piece-goods, cotton thread, lime, timber, rice, paddy, mustard, kerosine oil, ghee, oilseeds, tobacco, sugar, molasses, salt, wheat, gram, pulses, conch-shells and fancy articles. Some of these articles are also exported from this district.

Dacca

47. The most important centre of trade in this district is the port of Narainganj. During the year under report, 308 vessels of 41,324 tonnage entered the port as against 347 vessels of 46,506 tonnage in 1895-96. The number of vessels cleared also fell from 380 of 50,669 tonnage in 1895-96 to 317 of39,294 tonnage during the year under report. The decrease is said to be due to the jute trade being paralysed towards the close of the season by the high rate of discounts and to general dulness of trade owing to plague and famine.

48. Of the vessels that entered the port, 101 with cargo were from Chittagong, and the rest which were in ballast, were 190 from Chittagong, 14 from Coconada, 1 from Coringa, and 2 from Masulipatam. Of those cleared, only 2 were in ballast and 315 with cargo, and all went to Chittagong.

49. The total trade of the port is compared with that of the previous year in the following statement:—

Exports	66,50,480	53,18,523
Total ...	69,46,920	55,88,341

Thus there has been a falling off in both imports and exports.

50. The statistics of the import trade of the port for the last two years are given below :—

The increase in salt is due to the dulness of trade. Salt is mostly brought as ballast from Chittagong, and when other cargo is not available more salt is brought.

The decrease in cotton and kerosine oil is attributed to high prices at Chittagong, while on the other hand the increase in rice and paddy is alleged to be due to the high prices at Naraingani.

51. The export trade of the port during 1896-97 as compared with 1895-96 is shown in the following statement:—

The decrease in jute is due to the high rate of interest, which prevented the country mills from making any profit and practically paralysed the trade.

The other variations are attributed to differences in the prices ruling at Chittagong and at Narainganj.

Mymensingh.

52. The most important article of export from this district is jute. The quarantine imposed on Indian jute in European ports affected the trade considerably during the year under report. Of the total exports of 6,50,163 maunds from this to the western districts by the East Indian and Eastern Bengal Railways, 6,07,501 maunds were of jute. From April to December 1896, for which period only figures have been supplied by the Collector, 9,60,349 maunds of jute was exported to Calcutta, the quantities exported during the years 1895-96 and 1894-95 having been 11,93,079 and 11,35,241 maunds respectively. As reported in the previous year, these registered figures only represent the exports partially, a large quantity of the jute grown in the western part of the district along the east bank of the Jamuna going to Sirajganj by country boats and selling there as Sirajganj jute. On the whole, the trade in jute during the year under report was dull, and the leading firms in the district, of Messrs. Ralli Brothers & Co., David & Co., &c., closed their business earlier than usual.

53. Of the other articles of export from this district, gunny-bags, linseed, and mustard seed deserve notice.

54. There has been an increase in the export of gunny-bags, the number exported during the nine months of the year having been 22,670 against 15,165 and 10,360 respectively during the whole years 1895-96 and 1894-95. This steady increase is expected to continue, and the trade in gunny-bags will, it is reported, become considerable at no distant date.

55. A larger quantity of linseed and mustard seed was exported during the year than in 1895-96. A large quantity of these articles is carried to other districts by country boats and escapes registration.

56. As reported last year, hides are exported from this district to Dacca. Dried fish is exported from the Kishoreganj and Netrokona subdivisions to Dacca and Calcutta. Cheese manufactured in Kishoreganj is exported to Dacca, while ghee is exported from certain portions of the Jamalpur, Netrokona, and Kishoreganj subdivisions to Dacca and elsewhere. In the Kishoreganj subdivision country-made cloth of a fine quality, viz., tanjib and muslin, is manufactured on a small scale and exported to Dacca and the districts of the Chittagong Division. The cloth is used chiefly by Muhammadans of position and wealth.

57. The principal articles of import are rice, gram and pulses, European piece-goods, cotton twist, salt and kerosine oil.

During the year under report 74,731 maunds of rice was imported from Burdwan, Murshidabad and Calcutta, &c., and 39,824 maunds of gram and pulse from Murshidabad and Hooghly, &c.

58. The total value of European piece-goods imported into the district during the nine months of the year under report amounted to Rs. 18,69,266. There can be no doubt that the use of European piece-goods is gradually and steadily on the increase, and they have almost completely replaced the Indian texture, which is dearer. The trade in European cotton twist is also rising, with a corresponding decline in the Indian produce.

59. The import of kerosine oil shows a very large increase. The quantity imported during the nine months of the year under report was 46,405 maunds against 17,209 maunds in 1895-96. The price of this article has risen.

60. Of the other articles of import, lime from Sylhet is very important. A large quantity of it passes through Bhairab Bazar and is sold in this district. Timber is imported from Dhubri and Jalpaiguri. Dhuties (cloth) and saris (cloth) made in Dacca and Pabna are also imported into the district to a limited extent. Of articles of food, betelnuts and cocoanuts are imported largely from Backergunge and Narainganj. Tobacco is imported from Rangpur and Cooch Behar.

61. The only station which registers traffic in the district is Bhairab Bazar, and the registration office there is under the Government of Assam.

62. The following figures have been taken from a statement showing the up and down traffic between Assam and Bengal carried on vid Bhairab Bazar, during the years 1895-96 and 1896-97:—

Do. (unrefined) ...	2,11,222	2,60,191	...	...
Tobacco (unmanufactured)	76,960	88,751	...	...

It will appear from the above figures that trade between Bengal and Assam through Bhairab Bazar was steady.

63. With regard to the trade and commerce of this district, the Collector, Mr. E. B. Harris, states:—

"The district is not very favourably situated from a commercial point of view. The want of roads and silting up of rivers in the district has already been commented upon. The means of conveyance of goods between Calcutta and Mymensingh is not so quick as it ought to be. The steamer service between Narainganj and Goalundo often proves insufficient for the punctual transmission of goods, and the delay caused to traffic is often complained of by the traders. The result of these disadvantages and drawbacks is that the imports into the district from Calcutta and other places sell dearer here than in more advantageously situated districts. The only favourable circumstance in connection with the trade of this district is that the traffic in the principal export, jute, is at its height during the rains, when the rivers and canals in the district become all navigable."

Faridpur.

64. Rice, paddy, jute, gram and pulses, linseed, molasses, mustard seed and fish are the chief articles of export from this district. The chief articles of import are rice, paddy, tobacco, sugar, salt, kerosine oil, coal and coke, corrugated iron, European piece-goods, ghee, oranges, potatoes, tejpat and lime.

65. The following table shows the total import and export traffic in some of these articles carried by rail and along the Nadia rivers and the Calcutta canals during 1896-97 as compared with those of the previous year:—

66. The Faridpur Loan Office continues to command public confidence. It is reported that, owing to the prevailing scarcity in the district, the income of the office has been heavily affected, as realization of debts is almost at a stand-still. The Company paid a dividend of Rs. 8-14-6 per cent. only during the year, against Rs. 24-13-6 in the previous year, and had to borrow about Rs. 2,218 from its reserve fund to meet expenditure in office expenses and interest to depositors during the last two quarters of the year under report.

Backergunge.

67. The principal articles of export from this district in order of importance are rice, betelnuts, cocoanuts, timber, pulses, jute, molasses, chillies, linseed and mustard seed.

68. Rice grows all over the district, and is exported in large country boats to Calcutta and the neighbouring districts of Dacca and Faridpur. The outturn this year was about 1,73,25,800 maunds, against 1,33,56,000 maunds in the previous year. The price rose to Rs. 4-6 in 1896-97 from Rs. 3-13 in 1895-96.

69. Betelnuts grow in the homestead land of almost all classes of people in this district, especially in the subdivision of Bhola and in the Mehendiganj thana of the Sadar subdivision. They are exported to Calcutta and elsewhere in large country boats and steamers. The bulk of the export, however, goes to Burmah, where it is highly esteemed by the Mugs. The total outturn during the year under report was a little short, owing to the plague, which attacked the betelnut trees, but the trees which escaped gave an excellent crop. The prices rose to Rs. 8-8 per maund in 1896-97 from Rs. 7-10 per maund in 1895-96. The plague is reported to be dying out.

70. Cocoanuts grow all over the district and are largely exported to other parts of Bengal. The crop was an average one, and the export about 500,000. Prices rose slightly.

71. The next article of export is sundari wood, which is obtained from the Sundarbans in the Patuakhali and Pirojpur subdivisions. It is used in building houses and also as fuel. It is estimated that about Rs. 25,000 worth of timber was exported from the district to the neighbouring districts of Khulna, Jessore and Faridpur during the year under report.

72. There was no appreciable change in the export of other articles, and they do not seem to call for any remark.

73. Among the articles of import, the most important are salt, kerosine oil, cotton piece-goods, corrugated-iron and china-wares. These are imported from Calcutta direct by means of boats and steamers.

74. There was no marked increase or decrease in the import of salt during the year under report. Kerosine is now universally used in this district for lighting purposes. Cotton piece-goods of European manufacture are now used by the people at large. A large quantity of corrugated-iron is imported into the district every year for the purpose of roofing and walling. China-wares are being largely used by the Muhammadans, but, as reported last year, delft pottery has begun to be used by all classes of people, replacing the English plates which are less durable, and the Hindu "thalas," which are more costly and heavy.

75. The Loan Company at Barisal is prospering and commanding public confidence. It declared a dividend of 24 per cent. at the end of the year, against the same in the preceding year. It has a capital of about 2 lakhs and 30 thousand.

76. There were several provident funds in the district, some of which were registered under the Act, but all of them have collapsed.

The Dacca District Board improved 1½ miles of the feeder road from Tangi to Kaliganj; completed the last 2 miles of the fairweather road from Kadda to Simulia, which is a continuation of the feeder road from Joydebpur to Kadda: the necessary lands were obtained free of cost from the Raja of Bhawal; constructed a fairweather road of about 1½ miles from Navagram to Andharmanik, which connects the third section of the Goalundo road from Navagram to Jhitka; and on the 31st mile of the Dacca-Mymensingh road constructed a masonry culvert in place of a wooden one, which gave way.

The total length of the district roads in Mymensingh increased by 30 miles. This length was added to some of the feeder roads to the East Bengal State Railway and steamer stations which were under construction since the previous year. Only one new road from Durgapur to Nazirpur was taken up during the year, and about a mile of it was constructed. A length of five miles was added to the important road from Jamalpur to Madanganj, which will also serve as a very important feeder to the railway extension which is now under construction. Over two miles of district roads were metalled, and this has been added to the total length of metalled roads. The proposal to construct a pontoon bridge over the river Brahmaputra has been dropped, as being too expensive a project for the District Board to undertake.

In Backergunge 16 miles of metalled and unmetalled roads were newly constructed. Improvements were also made to existing roads.

166. The expenditure on repair works is shown below:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.
	Rs.	Rs.
Dacca	25,379	25,578

Faridpur	23,389	10,086
Backergunge ...	32,399	27,747
Total ...	1,19,564	1,01,592

The roads are said to have been kept generally in fair order. The Magistrate of Backergunge observes:—

"The contractors have not been properly watched in recent years. They have got into the habit of throwing earth on in lumps without breaking it or consolidating it. I found new earth being heaped on roads where all that was necessary was a little smoothing."

167. The following statement shows the expenditure on village roads:—

District.	1895-96.			1896-97.
	Original works.	Repairs.	Total.	Original works.	Repairs.	Total.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7

Total ...	29,370	34,028	63,398	34,463	38,723	73,186

The expenditure was largest in Backergunge, the Magistrate being of opinion that to popularise the road cess, village roads should be consistently encouraged. He has shown by statistics that though it is a water district roads are much used. I am also of opinion that short pieces of village road leading to ghâts and marts and cutting off long distances in bends of rivers are of great local use in this district, and should be encouraged.

In Dacca a sum of Rs. 198 was also spent in the excavation of village khals 1½ miles in length by the Local Board of Narainganj. A further sum of Rs. 82 was also spent by that Board in cleaning the silt and jungle from a village khal half a mile in length.

168. The statement below shows the number of ferries managed by the different bodies in each district:—

The steam ferry between Narainganj and Munshiganj continued to be managed by the Dacca District Board. The system of farming that was carried out in the preceding years was successfully continued. The receipts received from the ferry were Rs. 2,637, and the working expenses Rs. 2,474. There was thus a surplus of Rs. 163 only to meet the cost of depreciation.

Arboriculture.

169. In Dacca an expenditure of Rs. 729 was incurred in the maintenance of trees on the sides of the district roads.

In Mymensingh the expenditure under this head amounted to Rs. 3,141.

In Faridpur the young trees on the Rajbari road were maintained in good order, and gaps caused by dead trees were filled in by about 200 new Sisu trees.

In Backergunge there was an expenditure of Rs. 200-8 under this head for planting 117 new trees; 2,082 old trees were also maintained at a cost of Rs. 636.

Steam-boat communication.

170. The following steamer services plied during the year:—

(1) I. G. S. N. Co.'s daily steamer service, up and down, viâ Padma and Megna between Goalundo, Narainganj and Cachar, carrying mails.

(2) I. G. S. N. Co.'s daily steamer service, up and down, viâ Padma and Megna between Goalundo, Narainganj and Sylhet, carrying mails.

(3) I. G. S. N. Co.'s daily steamer service, up and down, between Narainganj, Chandpur and Barisal carrying mails.

(4) I. G. S. N. Co.'s steamer service, viâ Dhaleswari between Sabhar and Goalundo, during the rains only.

(5) I. G. S. N. Co.'s steamer service between Faridpur and Madaripur.

(6) B. C F. Co.'s daily steamer service between Barisal and Khulna, carrying mails.

(7) B. C. F. Co.'s steamer service between Barisal and Noakhali, four times a week.

(8) B. C. F. Co.'s steamer service between Barisal and Amtali, running on week days.

(9) I. G. S. N. Co.'s steamer service between Muladi and Madaripur, meeting the Barisal to Narainganj steamer at Muladi.

The subsidies paid to Steamer Companies by the District Board of Backergunge amounted to Rs. 6,900 against Rs. 7,500 in the previous year, but have been stopped from 1st April 1897. The I. G. S. N. Co. and R. S. N. Co. have purchased the services of the B. C. F. Co. with lines and steamers from 1st April 1897.

Tow-path.

171. In Dacca a new tow-path from Kapasia to Lakhypura, a length of about 4½ miles, was constructed at a cost of Rs. 417 along the right bank of the Lakhya river.

A further sum of Rs. 150 was expended in repairing the tow-path from Kapasia to Barami.

In Mymensingh the expenditure under this head amounted to Rs. 30 only, against Rs. 2,536 in the previous year.

In Faridpur a sum of Rs. 225 was spent in clearing 26 miles of tow-paths along the bank of the Chandana river in the Goalundo subdivision.

In Backergunge a tow-path from Jhalakati to Rajapur was constructed at a cost of Rs. 889, and Rs. 45 was spent in improving other tow-paths.

172. For the improvement of the Buriganga river, three spurs were constructed on the south bank in addition to the one made in the preceding year. The spurs have done their work well. Some bandels were also constructed both at Dacca and Phulbaria.

Eleven out of 16 Local Boards failed to meet once a month. None of the Dacca Boards held more than nine meetings during the year.

192. The District Boards of Dacca and Faridpur were reconstituted during the year under report. The fourth general election of members of the Local Boards in Mymensingh and Backergunge took place during the latter part of the year.

193. There was only one bye-election to fill up a vacancy in the Goalundo Local Board in the district of Faridpur.

194. On the subject of the working of the Boards, Mr. Shirres, the Magistrate of Dacca, writes :—

"The Dacca District Board worked well and intelligently, and most of the members took great interest in the transaction of the business laid before them. The members always worked harmoniously with their official Chairman, and work was carried on smoothly. The Local Boards continued to take considerable interest in their duties. The construction and repairs of village roads were supervised by the members, Chairmen and Vice-Chairmen of the respective Local Boards. Some of them were also inspected by the District Engineer and his subordinates."

Mr. Harris, the Magistrate of Mymensingh, writes :—

"The members of the Mymensingh District Board continued to take an intelligent interest in the business brought before them for discussion. The members of the Local Boards may also be said generally to take an interest in local administration."

Mr. Beatson Bell, the Magistrate of Backergunge, writes :—

"The District Board worked in a business-like way. The majority of the members know almost nothing of the interior, and wisely refrained from opposing the plans of the executive. The Local Boards suffered from want of funds, but I tried to help them from District Board savings. The Bhola Local Board has perhaps done more than any other."

Mr. Temple has no remarks to make, as he joined the district of Faridpur only two weeks before the end of the year.

195. Union Committees under the Local Self-Government Act have not yet been established in any of the districts of this Division.

196. The number of municipalities remained unchanged during the year under report. The report on the proposal of establishing a municipality at the Goalundo ghat has, after the close of the year, been submitted to Government in this office No. 878G., dated 21st June 1897. The Magistrate of Faridpur (Mr. Temple) considers the proposal to be an impracticable one, and my predecessor (Mr. Toynbee) was also of the same opinion.

Municipalities.

197. The general election of Municipal Commissioners took place in March 1897. The Chairman of the Madaripur Municipality, under whose supervision the election was conducted, committed some grave irregularities in his proceedings. Objections were filed against the elections of Wards Nos. 3, 4 and 7. After a full and careful enquiry, the Magistrate ordered a fresh election for those wards. The 5th July 1897 has been fixed as the date for fresh election, which will be conducted under the supervision of the Subdivisional Officer.

198. The constitution of the Municipal Committees of this Division is shown below:—

Profession or occupation.	Dacca.	Mymensingh.	Faridpur.	Backergunge.	Total.
1	2	3	4	5	6
1. Government servants	6	18	5	9	38

199. The table below shows the incidence of taxation per head of population (excluding the taxes paid by Government) in the several municipalities:—

Name of Municipality.	Incidence.
	Rs. A. P.
Dacca	1 8 1
Narainganj	2 5 6

Nalchiti	1 [illegible] 10
Jhalakati	1 [illegible] 11

Compared with the previous year, there was an appreciable increase in the incidence, Rs. 2-3-3 against Rs. 1-12-2 at Nasirabad owing to increase of water-rate. The slight difference in other municipalities does not call for any remarks.

200. The following table shows the financial position of the municipalities, district by district, during the year under report, as compared with that of the previous year:—

The above figures do not show the debt of the Dacca Municipality on account of current expenses, which at the close of the year amounted to Rs. 25,000. This debt has been accumulating from the beginning of the time of the late Chairman. It is hoped that the new Commissioners with their present Chairman, and acting on the advice of the Magistrate, will be able to amend matters.

Name of District.	Number of prosecutions.	Amount of fines realised.
		Rs. A. P.
Dacca	3	4 0 0
Mymensingh	95	222 3 0
Faridpur	2	10 2 0
Backergunge	8	7 2 0
Total ...	108	243 7 0

202. Almost all the municipalities were inspected during the year by the respective District Magistrates. Mr. Shirres, the Magistrate of Dacca, and Mr. Ransom, the late Officiating Magistrate of Faridpur, made thorough inspections of the Dacca and Madaripur Municipalities respectively, and had to express their dissatisfaction at the working of the municipalities almost in all their branches. In both cases the Commissioners were engaged in party faction, and did not look to the improvement of their municipalities.

203. Naraingan j is unquestionably the best administered municipality in this Division. As to the working of the municipalities in Mymensingh, Mr. Harris writes:—

"The work done by the municipalities of the district in respect of town conservancy is very fair. They work under difficulties in the way of shortness of funds and popular prejudices. We have to be satisfied with small results."

As regards the Faridpur Municipality, Mr. Temple, the Magistrate of Faridpur, says:—

"So far as external appearances go, I am glad to be able to say that it appears to be carefully looked after and is in pleasing contrast with many municipalities in which I have lived."

204. About the municipalities in the district of Backergunge, Mr. Beatson Bell writes:—

"On the whole, the municipalities have worked away in a quite useful manner."

Dacca.

233. Mr. L. P. Shirres, the Collector of Dacca, writes:—

"During the year the Nawab Sir Abdul Gani Mia, K.C.S.I., who owns a considerable amount of property in this and adjoining districts, died. He was succeeded by his son, Nawab Ashanullah Bahadur, C.I.E., who has had the management of affairs in his own hands for some years. The present Nawab is a public-spirited and liberal landlord, and avoids litigation as much as possible. He is always ready to put his hand in his pocket or to use his influence when it is required.

"Rajah Rajendra Narain Rai Bahadur of Joydebpur is a good landlord, and manages to get on with his tenants without the intervention of the courts. He has been spending money in opening out water-works at Joydebpur, where the water-supply is very bad, and also in excavating tanks for the use of his tenants. He is at present erecting a new ward for the Mitford Hospital, and has given a large sum for the improvement of the Buckland bund in Dacca.

Raja Sreo Nath Rai of Bhagyakool and his brothers, known as the Kundu Babus, have given a certain amount of trouble regarding chur disputes, and they are also fighting among themselves. The Raja himself has, however, always been anxious to avoid these chur disputes, and is the originator of the proposal that Government should in all cases take possession of re-formations, &c., and should after summary enquiry make over possession to the person having primâ facie the best right. Babu Parbati Sankar Rai of Teota is a law-abiding zamindar.

Mymensingh.

234. Mr. E. B. Harris, Collector of Mymensingh, reports as follows:—

"Raja Surja Kanta Acharjee resides for the greater part of the year in Calcutta. There were various boundary disputes between him and Babu Jagat Kishore Acharjee, his co-sharer which occasionally threatened to cause a breach of the peace. The Raja deserves honourable mention for a donation of Rs. 7,600 to build an eye ward in the local hospital, in commemoration of Sir Alexander Mackenzie's visit to Mymensingh in August 1896. He also gave Rs. 2,000 to the local Famine Relief Committee. Several of the minor Muktagacha zamindars had disputes about land from time to time, and some of them have been bound over to keep the peace. The pargana Mymensingh zamindars rarely appear in the criminal courts. Ray Jogendra Kishore Ray Chaudhuri is a good landlord and a good man of business. He looks into the affairs of his estate with his own eyes, receives complaints and petitions from his raiyats direct, and does not depend on amla for his information. In commemoration of Sir Alexander Mackenzie's visit to Mymensingh he made a donation of Rs. 10,000 to the District Board for the excavation of tanks, to be called 'Mackenzie Tanks.' He also gave a further sum of Rs. 4,000 for water-supply, and contributed Rs. 2,000 to the local Famine Relief Committee. The dispute regarding the Karatia succession led to a riot with murder last May, and to other riots of a less serious character, in consequence of which police were quartered in the disturbed villages. Affairs are tolerably quiet now. Wajid Ali Khan has won his case for mutation before the Deputy Collector, and the case is now pending before me on appeal. The dispute between Rani Hemanta Kumari and Maharaja Jagadindra Nath Roy still continues, but no breach of the peace took place during the year.

The Maharaja of Susang has settled the dispute between himself and his Hajang tenants."

Faridpur.

235. Mr. J. H. Temple, Officiating Collector of Faridpur, says:—

"I have no personal knowledge on this subject, but I am informed that Babu Bipin Behari Roy, who was noticed last year for his liberality and good management of his estate, continues to deserve the same praise.

Backergunge.

236. Mr. N. D. Beatson Bell, Officiating Collector of Backergunge, makes the following remarks under this head:—

"I need not here set out at length the state of matters which generally exists among landlords and tenants in this district. Between Government and the cultivator is an intricate maze of tenancies spreading out both vertically and horizontally until the rent which one man can legally realise from another is represented by a vulgar fraction of an anna with 10 or 12 figures in the numerator and rather more in the denominator. In actual practice each man (unless he be a fool or a philanthropist or afraid of assassination) takes as much as he can from the man below him, and gives as little as he can to the man above him. When the Lieutenant-Governor came here last autumn, he appealed to the landlords of all grades to rally to his side in stamping out crime. The appeal was followed up by Government letter No. 4770J., dated 22nd August 1896, which was published at pages 1534 to 1537 of the Supplement to Calcutta Gazette of 2nd September 1896. I am glad to state that there are signs of improved feeling among the landlords on the subject of their duties in the matter of crime. Murders are declining, and rioting is now nowhere serious. The tension in parganna Haturia, however, which was referred to by Mr. Le Mesurier last year, still continues. One of the noticeable features in zamindari affairs in this district is the expansion of Messrs. Garth and Weatherall. These gentlemen have now in their hands some land in every part of the district except Bhola. Backed by a Land Bank they advance money to involved estates on condition that they receive a lease for a fixed term of years. During the term of the lease they pay off the debts of the estate, pay themselves the cost of management, and pay the proprietors a maintenance allowance. Whatever else they collect is their profit. The system generally results in friction. Some member of the involved family, thinking himself or herself badly treated, (generally owing to the machinations of some naib or gumashta) repudiates the bargain and tries to resume the direction of affairs. The mufassal agents of the firm are also far from perfect, and are inclined to become the creatures of one branch of the family, instead of working impartially for their new masters. In short, the system has little to commend it in the eyes of the authorities, however anxious the firm may be to do justice to all concerned. A system of temporary leases granted to absentee ijaradars for the purpose of raising as much money as possible can never be better than a modified evil. I would prefer to see these involved estates fall under the hammer of Act XI of 1859, to be managed by a solvent proprietor with a permanent interest in the estate. Many of the families who deal with Messrs. Garth and Weatherall are not worth saving from ruin. * * * * * * . I have much pleasure in renewing the commendation which my predecessors have expressed regarding the management of Nawab Ahsanullah Bahadur, C.I.E., Raja Sir Sourindra Mohan Tagore, and Mr. Caspersz."

XXXVII.—GENERAL REMARKS.

237. In view of the prevailing scarcity and high prices, local Committees were formed in all the districts for the collection of funds and for their distribution in local gratuitous relief Branch Committees were also formed at the subdivisions. No relief was, however, given up to the end of the year. Nearly all the resident and non-resident zamindars of the Mymensingh district deserve favourable mention for their action in assisting their tenants.

238. In Dacca an interesting enquiry was made by the Collector, Mr. L. P. Shirres, as to the prevalence of the custom of taking salami in lieu of enhanced rent and its exemption from road-cess. The matter was reported to the Board for orders.

239. Happily the plague did not reach this Division, though measures were concerted to combat it. The Collector of Faridpur reports that the Subdivisional Officer of Goalundo did his best to get up a scare by reporting a large number of cases of plague, but the Civil Surgeon, after personal investigation, found that no such case of plague had occurred.

240. The life-boat establishment at Goalundo continues to do good work. The India General Steam Navigation Company bear the charges for annual repairs to the boat and furnish all its equipment. The boat saved 96 lives during the year under review, against 120 in 1895-96.

241. In commemoration of the visit of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor to the town of Mymensingh, Rai Jogendra Kishore Ray Chaudhuri Bahadur, zamindar of Ram Gopalpur, gave Rs. 10,000 to the District Board to be spent on tanks, to be named "Mackenzie Tanks," and Rs. 1,000 to extend Dacca water-works. Raja Surja Kanta Acharjee gave Rs. 7,600 for the construction of an eye ward in the compound of the Nasirabad dispensary, and Babu Jagat Kishore Acharjee gave Rs. 1,500 for the construction of a moribund ward in accordance with a suggestion made by His Honour in his reply to the addresses of welcome at the Town Hall.

In Dacca the following donations were made in honour of the Lieutenant-Governor's visit, viz., Raja Rajendra Narain Ray Bahadur of Bhowal gave Rs. 40,000, of which Rs. 20,000 is for extending the Buckland Bund, Rs. 5,000 for a ward in Mitford Hospital, and the remainder, Rs. 15,000, for tanks and wells in Bhowal. Raja Srinath Ray and Babu Janaki Nath Ray of Bhagyakul placed Rs. 5,000 in the hands of the District Board of Dacca to excavate two tanks for drinking water on the side of the Srinagar road. Babu Pran Sanker Rai Chaudhuri of Teota gave Rs. 1,000 for re-excavating an old tank at Manikganj with pucka ghât.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE ROAD AND PUBLIC WORKS CESS OPERATIONS FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—ROAD & P. W. CESS.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Road and Public Works Cess Operations for the year 1896-97.

IN all the districts where the Bengal Cess Act, IX of 1880, is in force, the Road and Public Works Cesses were levied at the maximum rate of one anna in the rupee during the year under review. The following statement exhibits the main results of the working of the Act during the last two years:—

	1895-96.	1896-97.
(1) Current demand	Rs. 84,88,612	Rs. 86,61,682
(2) Arrear ,, ...	,, 14,80,123	,, 17,24,415

(8) Percentage of current collections on current demand	82·1	82·8
(9) Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand ...	78·0	82·2
(10) Number of revenue-paying estates assessed	230,637	234,835
(11) Number of revenue-free estates and rent-free tenures assessed ...	129,373	140,775
(12) Number of tenures assessed ...	1,451,837	1,476,126
(13) Number of recorded share-holders in estates	1,410,487	1,433,810
(14) Number of recorded hare-holders in tenures	2,535,943	2,546,100
(15) Current demand of land-revenue	Rs. 3,82,73,908	Rs. 3,83,83,326

The total collections show an increase of Rs. 3,57,311 over the figures of the previous year, but owiug to the enhanced demand, the balance outstanding at the close of the year increased by Rs. 63,905. Considering that the past year was affected by bad harvests, the result for the Province, as a whole, was very satisfactory.

2. The following districts succeeded in attaining the accepted standard of cess administration for the first class, that is to say, showed a percentage of current collections above 90, and of arrear collections above 80, during the year:—

DISTRICT.	Percentage of current collections on net current demand.			Percentage of arrear collections on net arrear demand.

Mymensingh ...	90·1	93·2	93·5	87·6	95·7	96·8

All of these, except Purnea, Rajshahi and Nadia, showed equally good results in the previous two years. In current collections, Rajshahi and Nadia failed to attain the standard in one year, and Purnea in two years; while, in arrear collections, the standard was attained by all the districts save Purnea, which showed deficient collections for one year. The results are creditable to the officers concerned.

4 The districts which fall into the second class, i.e., collected more than 90 per cent. of the current demand and less than 80 per cent. of the arrear demand, are the following:—

District.	Percentage of current collections on net current demand			Percentage of arrear collections on net arrear demand.

Pabna ...	90·1	90·4	86·4	72·1	84 0	88·2

Khulna and Pabna descended during the year from the first to the second class, the falling off in the arrear collections in the former district being ascribed to deficient harvests, and in the latter to the fact that notices of certificates for sums less than Rs. 5 for the last kist of the previous year were not issued till December 1896. Burdwan and Balasore stood in the second class in the previous year also. The arrear collections in Balasore are stationary, but in Burdwan they show a slight improvement.

5. In the districts of the third class mentioned below, the current collections fell short of 90 per cent., but the arrear collections rose above 80 per cent:—

District.	Percentage of current collections on net current demand.			Percentage of arrear collections on net arrear demand.

* There is no March kist in this district.
† The percentage for column 1 has not been furnished by the Collector of this district.

The figures in the first column of the above statement represent the percentages of collections on the net current demands of the districts against which they are noted, after eliminating the sums affected by the period of grace which ended after the close of the year, and for the realization of which no coercive measures could be taken within the year. The balance thus arrived at is the true arrear, for the collection of which the District Officer is held responsible. The only districts which have not invariably reached the prescribed standard for arrear collections in the three years are, Darbhanga, Cuttack, Patna, Gaya, Muzaffarpur and Monghyr, while in current collections, all the districts show short percentages throughout the period, except Bhagalpur for one year. Eliminating the amounts affected by the 15 days' grace, Lohardaga, Palamau, Backergunge, Bhagalpur and Monghyr reached the prescribed standard in the case of current collections during the year under review. Failure of crops is the cause generally assigned by the local officers for bad results during the year, but the Board accept this explanation only in the case of Darbhanga, Muzaffarpur, Champaran, Lohardaga and Palamau. To these districts Manbhum, where distress has been somewhat severe and persistent, may fairly be added. The collections of the current demand in Cuttack and Gaya have been persistently bad, and the personal attention of the District Officers should be given to the matter, though the Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice that there has been a considerable improvement during the year in Gaya. In Backergunge, large payments were made during the period of 15 days' grace after the close of the year, which raised the percentage of current collections to 93·3. In Tippera, Jessore, the 24-Parganas, and Bhagalpur, the short percentages are ascribed to delay in the issue and execution of certificates which, as the Board remark, cannot be accepted as an explanation. Habitual recusancy on the part of the landholders is assigned as the cause of short collections in Faridpur and Midnapore: the Collector of the latter district is reported to have issued certificates freely, and sent special notices to the chief landholders, in order to improve the collections. In Patna, the Cess Collection Office is said to be short-handed and unable to cope with the tauzi system recently introduced. Evasion of payment by the proprietors of petty estates, in the hope of their dues being paid by their co-sharers, combined with the unsatisfactory state of land registration and the want of sufficient establishment, is said to have occasioned the poor results in Monghyr.

6. The districts of the fourth or lowest class, in which both the current and arrear collections fell short of the standards prescribed, were the following. It is satisfactory to find that the number has fallen to six, against nine in the preceding year.

The figures in the first column give the same information as the figures in the statement for third-class districts. Except Chittagong, all these districts have, during the three years, failed to collect up to the standards. The poor results in Murshidabad and Bankura are attributed to heavy arrears due from rent-free tenures, in consequence of the difficulty experienced in tracing the owners and their property. In Shahabad, the Dumraon and Surajpara estates failed to pay their cesses within the year, and the plea of scarcity is also put forward, which the Board refuse to accept in view of the results attained in the more severely afflicted districts of Darbhanga and Champaran. The falling off in Chittagong is explained as due, partly to scarcity and partly to delay in issuing and executing certificates. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board that neither explanation can be considered as satisfactory. The short collections in Hooghly are ascribed to a change in the method of realizing cesses from rent-free holdings, and also, His Honour regrets to observe, to some want of supervision on the part of the district staff. In Saran, the explanation given is a heavy arrear balance, the subdivision of estates and the general indebtedness of the zamindars, added to the failure of the crops. In all the above districts, it is evident that there is much room for improvement in the work of cess collections, and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the District Officers will not relax their efforts to secure better results.

7. Arrears to the sum of Rs. 12,891 became barred by limitation in nine districts, the largest amount, Rs. 5,052, being shown by Murshidabad, followed by Gaya with Rs. 4,250. The reason assigned in the case of Murshidabad is that coercive measures could not be taken in time owing to the non-receipt of correct information in the cess office regarding the boundaries of rent-free lands and the names of the owners. The Board are enquiring further into the matter. No explanation is furnished with regard to Gaya.

8. The following statement illustrates the working of the Certificate Procedure in the realization of the cesses during the last two years:—

Certificates pending from the previous year ...	40,960	36,033
Filed during the year	66,571	104,645
Total for disposal	107,531	140,678
Cancelled on objection	1,258	1,781
Struck off	4,943	3,246
Fully discharged	65,318	83,164
Pending at close of year	36,022	52,487
Sales effected	1,526	2,353
Sales set aside	29	50

The number of cases was greater than in the previous year, and though the number disposed of was also greater, numerous cases were instituted late in the year, and the number pending at its close shows a considerable increase. The largest number of certificates was filed in the Patna and Burdwan Divisions, 43,776 and 17,597 respectively.

The introduction, in 1895-96, of the new tauzi system, delayed the recovery of arrears, which ran on into the succeeding year; and since then, certain changes of procedure have led to arreas being more promptly dealt with. These causes have swelled the number of certificates during the past year, but the increase is, for the most part, temporary, and will be followed by a decline as arrears are worked off.

9. The complete re-valuation of the districts of Midnapore, Jessore, Monghyr and Bhagalpur was brought to a close during the year. The re-valuation operations have resulted in an increase of Rs. 66,149 on the previous demand in Midnapore, of Rs. 20,008 in Jessore, of Rs. 12,324 in Monghyr, and of Rs. 34,855 in Bhagalpur. In Midnapore, the proceedings were commenced on 1st June 1888, though they were not finished till 31st March 1897. The Collector's final report has been circulated to all District Officers for information, in order that the mistakes committed on this occasion may not be repeated in future. Partial valuations and revaluations were completed in the districts of Bankura, Khulna, Murshidabad, Bogra, Dacca, Tippera, Shahabad and Singbhum. Valuation and revaluation work was in progress in several districts when the year closed.

10. Statement VI, appended to the Report, compares the gross rental in each district for 1896-97, calculated from the returns under the Cess Act, with the gross rental ascertained on the same basis when the road-cess was first introduced, and the gross rental of the preceding year. The results for the Province are as follow:—

	Rs.
Gross rental at first assessment	13,11,68,432
Ditto ditto in 1895-96	15,63,28,446
Ditto ditto in 1896-97	15,94,99,305

The increase up to date amounts to Rs. 2,83,30,873, or 21·5 per cent on the rental when the road-cess was introduced. Only four districts show a decrease of gross rental in 1896-97, as compared with the gross rental at the first assessment, the decrease being due to the transfer of portions of these districts to others.

11. The names of the Deputy Collectors, whose work is favourably noticed by the Board, will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRTATION REPORT OF THE ORISSA PORTS FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

No. 1820Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL—MARINE DEPARTMENT.

The 2nd November 1897.

READ—

THE Administration Report of the Orissa Ports for the year 1896-97.

The following statement shows the receipts of the year under review as compared with those of the preceding year:—

Particulars.	1895-96.	1896 97.	Increase.	Decrease.
1	2	3	4	5
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Port dues on vessels	3,515	1,772	.....	1,743
Port dues on mail steamers	16,477	14,914	.....	1,563
Miscellaneous	170	110	.....	60
Total receipts ...	20,162*	16,796	.....	3,366

* Note—Excludes Rs. 12,000 on account of contribution from Government to the Balasore Port Fund.

The above figures show a decrease at all the ports. The decrease in the receipts on account of port dues was due to a falling off in the export trade as compared with that of the previous year.

2. The expenditure during 1896-97 as compared with that during 1895-96 is exhibited in the subjoined table.

Particulars.	1895-96.	1896-97.	Increase.	Decrease.
1	2	3	4	5
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Establishment ...	8,978	9,353	375	.....
Light-house establishment	4,274	4,534	260	.....
Vessels and boats establishment ...	2,135	1,990	.....	145
Dockyard services and supplies ...	7,695	4,941	.....	2,754
Miscellaneous	791	657	.....	134
Other charges	144	2,378	2,234	.....
Total charges ...	24 017	23,853	.....	164

3. As in previous years, the expenditure has exceeded the receipts, though by rather less than in 1895-96. Of the items in which there has been an increase during the year, the largest is on account of "Pension" at Cuttack, but it is stated that no pension charges were shown in the report for 1895-96 for this port. The largest item of decreased expenditure is on account of "Dockyard Services and Supplies" at Cuttack, but this, it is stated, is due to the bills from the Examiner of Marine Accounts not having been received.

4. The following table shows the number and tonnage of vessels that entered and cleared during the year as compared with those of 1895-96.

	Year	Entered. No.	Entered. Tonnage.	Cleared. No.	Cleared. Tonnage.
False Point	1895-96	54	97,459	54	97,459
	1896-97	45	74,640	45	74,640
Balasore	1895-96	373	1,13,012	387	1,12,989
	1896-97	492	1,12,881	493	1,13,951
	1896-97	22	27,937	23	30,094

Five hundred-and-fifty-nine vessels in all entered the ports during the year, of which 457 were steamers, and of these all except one were engaged in the coasting trade. Of the 102 sailing vessels, four were engaged in foreign and 98 in the coasting-trade. There was a decrease at all the other ports excepting Balasore in both the number and the tonnage of vessels which entered and cleared. At Balasore there was a considerable increase in the number of vessels, but the tonnage remained almost the same.

5. The following figures show the value of the trade of the ports during the years 1895-96 and 1896-97.

	Private trade.		Government stores.		Total.
	1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.	1895-96.	1896-97.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Exports	90,02,970	90,20,905	7,282	3,160	90,10,252	90,24,065
Imports	62,93,114	65,09,290	2,61,807	97,177	65,54,921	66,06,467
Total	1,52,96,084	1,55,30,195	2,69,089	1,00,337	1,55,65,173	1,56,30,532

There was a total increase in the value of both exports and imports. The increase in exports at Balasore is said to be due to the stimulus given to the rice trade with Calcutta and other Indian ports by the high prices ruling outside the district, and the increase in imports to the importation of machinery and hardware for the railway under construction, and also to larger imports of kerosine oil owing to its popularity in the interior of the district.

6. A steam service was maintained throughout the year between Calcutta and Chandbally by the India General Steam Navigation Company and Messrs. Macneill & Co. Communication between Chandbally and Balasore was kept up throughout the year.

7. The eastern limit of the port of False Point was extended in March 1897 to a line drawn from Prince Arthur's beacon to the fairway buoy.

No. 1965Agri.—(Fam.).—The 2nd November 1897.—The following is published for general information.

M. FINUCANE,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 876T.R.—(Fam.), dated Darjeeling, the 26th October 1897.

From—M. FINUCANE, Esq., Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal, Revenue Dept.,
To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Dept.

IN continuation of this Government's letter No. 751 $\frac{T.R.}{Fam.}$, dated the 17th September 1897, I am directed to submit, under section 29 of the Bengal Famine Code, the following report on relief operations and the condition of affected tracts in this Province during the four weeks ending the 25th September 1897. A statement of rainfall and the usual famine Statements A and B are hereto appended. I am also to submit copies of the two half-monthly reports* of the Commissioner of the Patna Division for the period above mentioned. Famine maps of the districts noted on the margin† are also enclosed. As relief works were open at the end of the period embraced by this report in the district of Champaran only, a map of that district is submitted, and it is not considered necessary to submit the maps of the other districts of the Patna Division in which all relief operations have been closed.

2. PATNA DIVISION.—Rainfall, prospect of crops, prices, &c.—Copious rain fell at the beginning of September, and enabled the transplantation of winter rice to be completed throughout the Division. It was followed by fine weather varied by occasional showers. This weather, which continued till about the end of the period under report, was exactly what was required for the growth of the winter rice and the maturing and harvesting of the bhadoi crops. The rainfall was heavier in those parts of Champaran (western part of the Bettiah subdivision), Muzaffarpur (Sitamarhi subdivision), and Darbhanga (Madhubani subdivision) in which the previous rainfall had been insufficient. The heavy rain of the first week of September was followed by floods in the northern part of the trans-Gangetic districts, but they did much less harm to the bhadoi than good to the winter rice. The Hathiya asterism, which is the critical period for the great winter rice crop, commenced on the 25th September and closed on the 7th October. Towards the latter end of this period, from the 2nd to the 6th October, copious rain fell all over the Division in varying but sufficient volume. The Commissioner, writing on 14th October, says:—"In these circumstances nothing could be more prosperous than the present agricultural outlook. The bhadoi crop has proved more than an average all over the Division (except perhaps in the district of Patna), even though it was damaged by floods in South Bihar; the aghani rice bids fair to be well above the average, if not a bumper crop, everywhere, and the moisture for the rabi is everywhere ample and sowings have already begun." The heavy rain which has fallen since Mr. Bourdillon wrote may, however, have the effect of delaying the rabi sowings to some extent. On the whole, the climatic conditions and prospects of the crops are as good as they can well be, and far better than could have been reasonably anticipated.

Prices fell steadily, and on the 14th October the Commissioner wrote:—"Instead of being from 85 to 100 per cent. above the normal rate, they are now from 25 to 35 per cent. above the average. The coarser grains are cheap and plentiful, and the rise in exports in many districts shows that the bhadoi has been more than the people require for present consumption."

The following table shows the improvement in prices since the second half of August, the figures shown representing the quantity obtainable for a rupee:—

3. The figures in the above statement show that except in a few places prices fell considerably, and since the rainfall during the Hathiya asterism there has been a further improvement in certain parts of the Division. The figures as to imports and exports for the two half-months, including the districts of Patna and Gaya, are given on the margin. Imports have fallen off, while exports from every district except Saran have begun to increase. This turn of affairs was most marked in the district of Champaran, which has at last resumed its normal state of being an exporting district, having

	Imports. Mds.	Exports. Mds
First half-month ...	2,54,165	67,054
Second „ ...	2,24,401	97,001
Total ...	4,78,566	1,64,055

The figures for July and August are—

	Imports.	Exports.
July	9,79,105	3,01,628
August	7,82,602	1,47,270

imported only 504 maunds in the first half of the month and nothing in the second half, while it exported 1,992 maunds during the former and 4,969 maunds during the latter period.

4. Area and population affected, and numbers on relief.—During the period under report Government relief operations were at first contracted and afterwards finally closed throughout the Division, except in certain parts of Saran and in the western part of the Bettiah subdivision of Champaran, where four sections of the Tribeni Canal were kept open for a few days. In this tract the crops were very backward. The Commissioner, who visited it recently, writes that he saw winter rice being transplanted there as late as the 12th September, and that what bhadoi there was other than bhadoi rice, was at least a fortnight behind that in the south of the district.

The following table shows the numbers in receipt of relief on the 11th and 25th of September in comparison with previous figures:—

The percentages for the period now under report have been calculated on the population of the area previously shown as affected.

5. Relief Works.—Relief works in the district of Shahabad had been closed before the commencement of the period now under report. The following table shows the number of works open at the end of August in the four northern districts, and the dates when they were closed:—

District.	Total number of works open on 28th August.	When the works were closed.		Number of works left open.

As already stated, the four works kept open in Champaran consisted of four sections of the Tribeni Canal intended to afford relief to the needy in a backward tract in the Bettiah subdivision, from which distress had not yet disappeared. In order, however, to accelerate the departure of relief workers, the rate was reduced from Rs. 2-8 per 1,000 cubic feet to Rs. 2-3 from the 15th September. A further reduction of 5 annas was made with effect from the 1st instant. As is shown by the telegraphic report for the week ending 11th October, all Government relief operations have since been closed in this Division.

6. Piece-work system.—With regard to the Tribeni Canal in Champaran, recently visited by him, Mr. Bourdillon writes:—"I found the piece-work system on the Tribeni Canal working admirably, whether among the full task people, the weakly gangs, or the intermediates. All were satisfied, the work was easily controlled and checked, and the cost was less than it would have been under similar conditions by the task-work system."

7. Private relief works.—The two Hatwa Raj works in Saran were closed on the 3rd September. The Darbhanga Raj relief works in the district of Darbhanga employed a daily average of 670 persons in the first week of the period under report, and 149 persons in the second: by that time in four of the seven circles of the Raj, works had been closed; and the remaining circles have since been closed. Although there have been no relief works in the district of Shahabad since the week ending 7th August, the numbers* employed on the Moghalsarai Railway have not risen considerably.

8. Poor-houses and kitchens.—The following table shows the number of poor-houses open at the end of August, with the dates on which they were closed:—

District.	Number of poor-houses open at the end of August.	Dates of closure.
Shahabad ...	2	Sasaram poor-house closed on 11th September. Bhabhua poor-house transferred to the Charitable Fund on 22nd September.

Darbhanga ...	8	Four at the end of the first half of the month, three by 18th September, and one on 25th September.
Total ...	25

The numbers of inmates had gradually dwindled, and were very small when the poor-houses were closed. Those who remained up to the last moment received valedictory donations from the Charitable Relief Fund generally at Rs. 2 per adult and Re. 1 per child.

The following statement gives the figures of kitchen relief and the numbers who received gratuitous relief in other ways:—

Kitchen relief was finally closed in all the districts in the last week of the period under report.

9. Gratuitous relief.—The average daily numbers gratuitously relieved during the week ending 25th September have been shown in column 10 of the table given in the preceding paragraph. Most of them were persons relieved in kitchens. The distribution of dry doles was practically closed in Shahabad before the commencement of the period under report, while in Darbhanga no relief of this kind was given after the 18th September. In Champaran and Muzaffarpur all gratuitous relief ceased on the 25th idem. The only tracts in which the distribution of doles continued beyond that date are two circles near Darauli in the Siwan subdivision, and in the flooded tract and the Narwar circle in the Gopalganj subdivision of the district of Saran. All relief operations in this district were closed at the end of September.

10. Public health and condition of cattle.—Public health during August was not so good as in previous months. In the Bhabhua subdivision of Shahabad fever prevailed in a severe form. In Champaran a bad type of diarrhœa was prevalent, as well as dysentery reported to be due to the consumption of unripe fruit and raw grain. In Darbhanga fever prevailed in the south of the district. The condition of cattle was normal.

11. Closing of relief operations.—With the close of active relief operations, the special establishments entertained for famine relief have been for the most part discharged. The only work now in progress is that of adjusting the accounts and of preparing final reports for the preparation and submission of which full instructions have been issued by the Lieutenant-Governor. With regard to the work of the Charitable Relief Committees, Mr. Bourdillon writes:—

"The operations of the District and Local Committees of the Charitable Relief Fund are almost complete, and they have been specially busy during the past fortnight in distributing valedictory doles in the shape of money, clothing and blankets, to those who were the very latest recipients of Government relief at kitchens and poor-houses, &c. This work is now almost done, and their accounts will soon be closed."

12. General remarks by the Lieutenant-Governor on administration of famine relief in the Patna Division.—As the Commissioner, with the Lieutenant-Governor's consent, does not intend to submit any more fortnightly famine reports, and his final report will probably not be completed before the end of December, Mr. Stevens takes this opportunity to express his concurrence in the opinion already expressed on more than one occasion by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, namely, that the administration of famine relief in the Patna Division (whch is in this respect out of all comparison the most important of all the Divisions in these Provinces) has been eminently satisfactory.

The salient points of the present famine relief administration and the more important conclusions suggested by it may be summed up here.

(1) That while it was made cause for reproach to this Government by the Famine Commissioners that the extent and intensity of distress were not gauged or foreseen with anything like approximate accuracy in the previous famines of 1866 and 1874, on the present occasion the areas likely to be affected, the extent and intensity of distress, were all forecasted with a very near approach to correctness. The cost of alleviating the distress has been well within the estimates.

Vide paragraphs 92 and 94 of the Report of the Indian Famine Commissioners, Part I.

The following table compares the forecasts of the numbers likely to require Government relief in the Patna Division, submitted to the Government of India in my letter No. 447Agri.—(Fam.), dated the 16th February 1897, with the actuals so far as now known :—

N.B.—The figures in column 3 are taken from the Commissioner's fortnightly reports, and those in column 2 from paragraph 6 of my letter No. 447Agri., dated the 16th February 1897.

(2) That though the rainfall was very nearly as short in 1895-96, and even worse distributed than in 1873 74, and though the failure of crops was consequently as great as in that year, yet the total cost of relief operations in the whole Province to Government to the end of September, as reported by the Accountant-General and the Examiner of Public Works Accounts, Bengal, has been less than one-sixth part of that incurred in the famine of 1873-74.

(3) That there has been no mortality from starvation, and the people have been kept in such good case that they were able to return, and did return, to their normal pursuits of their own accord, and without compulsory closing of works, as soon as the bhadoi harvest was reaped, and the prospects of the coming winter rice harvest were assured.

(4) That the greatly reduced cost of the present famine relief operations compared with that of the operations of 1874 is due primarily to the policy wisely adopted, and courageously persevered in, of absolute non-interference with private trade (which has thus been proved, for the first time and beyond question, to be capable of meeting any emergency that is ever likely to arise), and in a secondary degree to greatly improved methods and knowledge of famine relief administration, both in the exaction of adequate tasks on relief works as tests of distress, and in the careful selection of fit objects of gratuitous relief.

(5) That it has also been shown as one of the results of the operations now brought to a close, that by the extension of railways and the general advance in material prosperity during the past quarter of a century, the power of the people, even in Bihar, to resist calamities of season has greatly increased since 1874-75. Not only was the failure of local crops as great as any on record, but the general distress throughout India was unprecedentedly extensive, and prices were higher than had ever previously been known. The power of resistance in these unfavourable conditions was surprising to those who knew the people best.

(6) That the zamindars of Bihar, the indigo-planters and other persons of affluence, and especially the Maharaja of Darbhanga, have been conspicuous for their unbounded liberality and charity, and willing co-operation with the officers of Government in meeting distress.

13. There has necessarily been much suffering among the people during the past year, which they have borne with most praiseworthy patience, but they have now emerged from the battle against starvation, if not without wounds, at least without deaths, and returned to their normal pursuits. They have the prospects of a bumper harvest before them, and, as the Commissioner of Patna remarks, "the strain, stress and anxiety of the last year will very soon be (if it is not already) no more than a dark dream almost obliterated by the pleasanter recollection of an ideal monsoon closed by a magnificent final downpour."

14. The hearty thanks of the Bengal Government are due to the Commissioner of Patna, to each and every one of the District Officers of the famine districts, to their subordinates, to the officers of the Public Works and Medical Departments and of the District Boards, to the indigo-planters and zamindars and other men of affluence in Bihar, who have all in their several degrees performed their duties under trying circumstances to the entire satisfaction of Government.

15. CHOTA NAGPUR DIVISION.—During the whole of the period under report the weather throughout the Chota Nagpur Division was all that could be desired, except that the rain which fell in the week ending 25th September was insufficient in Palamau and Singhbhum. In the rest of the Division the fall during that week was exactly what was wanted for the winter rice. In the two districts mentioned, however, there were heavy* falls of rain during the weeks ending 2nd and 9th October, and the prospects of the winter rice are now everywhere favourable. The bhadoi has been a full crop in all the districts of the Division, except Manbhum, where breaks in the rains in June and July had a very injurious effect, and some damage is also reported to have been done by insects in certain parts of the district. The Deputy Commissioner, Mr. Maguire, is of opinion that the outturn of the bhadoi harvest has been generally good, and estimates the outturn of early rice at 15 annas over an area of 149,400 acres out of a total cultivable area of 1,347,118 acres in the district. The outturn of the ordinary bhadoi crops is estimated by him at 14⅔ annas over an area of 198,800 acres. The Commissioner doubts the correctness of these estimates, which he thinks to be far above the truth. Mr. Forbes, the Commissioner, draws attention to the fact that the bhadoi crop represents but a comparatively small portion of the total food-supply of the Manbhum district. While in the Hazaribagh and Lohardaga districts, the areas under bhadoi crops were approximately 4·5 and 6·1 annas of the whole cultivated area, in Manbhum the bhadoi area came to only 2 annas.

There was a further steady improvement in prices throughout the Division. According to the telegraphic report for the week ending 25th September, the price of rice was 6 to 10½ seers the rupee in Palamau, 8½ seers in Manbhum, 7 to 7½ seers in Hazaribagh, and 8 seers at Ranchi, and 5½ to 16 seers in the interior of the district of Lohardaga. The prices (in seers per rupee) of the new bhadoi food-grains quoted for the 25th September are—

There was a very heavy increase in the death-rate in all the districts in the month of August, especially in Hazaribagh and Lohardaga, as shown in the following table:—

Districts.	Total deaths from Cholera.			Total death-rate per 1,000 of the districts.

The increased mortality was chiefly due to an epidemic of cholera which was very severe in the districts of Hazaribagh and Lohardaga. The Commissioner has reported by telegram that the epidemic and high mortality have now abated, and that remedial measures have been duly taken by the deputation of special medical officers, by the disinfection of wells, and by the distribution of medicines. Mr. Forbes, writes—"Independently, however, of cholera there has been a marked increase, as in Manbhum, for instance, where, although the deaths from cholera have notably fallen off since June, the death-rate has still been increasing. This is no doubt due in a great measure to the general lowering of system amongst the labouring classes owing to want of proper food, and the consequent diminished power of resistance against attacks of fever and other ordinary diseases. I fear that the effects of this will continue to be felt for some time to come."

Palamau, Hazaribagh and Lohardaga.

It was reported in paragraph 12 of my letter No. 751$\frac{T.-R}{Fam.}$, dated the 17th September 1897, that Government relief operations in the district of Palamau had been closed on the 31st August. The Commissioner reports that no bad results ensued. In Lohardaga and Hazaribagh relief works and gratuitous relief by doles were closed on the 31st August and 4th September respectively In the district of Hazaribagh two kitchens were kept open at Giridih and at Barhi on the Grand Trunk Road, and a poor-house at Hazaribagh. The kitchen at Giridih has now been closed, some 165 persons still continuing to receive cooked food at the other two places. In Lohardaga some kitchens were likewise left open, of which eight supported by Government and four from charitable funds were still open on the 25th September, attended by 1,022 and 1,093 persons respectively; but the Deputy Commissioner intended to close these on the 30th idem.

Manbhum.

Relief works in Manbhum were tentatively closed by the Deputy Commissioner on the 31st August, but the principal works had to be reopened under the orders of the Commissioner. On the 11th September 4,647 labourers (including 649 on daily wages) were employed on 26 works which had been reopened at reduced piece-work rates amounting to Re. 1-4 per 1,000 cubic feet for soft and medium soil, and Re. 1-9 for hard soil, in place of Re. 1-14 and Rs. 2-3 in force previously. On the 25th September there were altogether 36 works open with 13,891 labourers, and on 31 of these the lower rate of Re. 1-4 per 1,000 cubic feet was in force The rates have since been further reduced to an initial rate of 15 annas per 1,000 cubic feet, and the Commissioner writes that he cannot conceive that the people will continue to take work in large numbers at this rate any longer than they are forced by urgent necessity to do so. It is stated that the reduced rate was in force generally on the 29th September; the numbers on the works since that date have been—

2nd October	8,804
9th October	7,347

Mr. Forbes has thought it necessary to keep the works open until the upland rice harvest is in full operation, and new rice is available about the end of the third week of the present month. The distribution of doles of gratuitous relief was discontinued generally on the 31st August, but kitchens were kept open and were attended by 3,287 persons on the 25th September. The Lieutenant-Governor was at first doubtful regarding the necessity of keeping relief works open in Manbhum after they had been closed in other districts, and requested the Commissioner to visit the district and report on the subject after personal enquiry on the spot. The Commissioner accordingly reports thus—

"There is the broad fact that the bhadoi crop represents but a comparatively small portion of the total food-supply of the Manbhum district. This was pointed out in paragraph 21 of my last Annual General Administration Report for the Chota Nagpur Division, where I showed that while in the neighbouring districts of Hazaribagh and Lohardaga, the areas under bhadoi in 1896 were approximately 4·6 annas and 6·1 annas of the whole cultivated areas in those two districts, the bhadoi area in Manbhum came to only about 2 annas, and had been even less than this (viz., 1·7 annas) during the three preceding years. In other words, the bhadoi in Manbhum, as a means of support to the people, goes less than one-half as far as in Hazaribagh, and not one-third as far as in Lohardaga.

"Taking these facts in conjunction with the shrinkage in the coal trade and the late great depression in the important lac industry in Manbhum (see paragraphs 46 and 49 of my last General Administration Report), I do not think that the large demand for work at this moment in that district is at all a matter for surprise; and I cannot agree with Mr. Maguire's diagnosis of the present situation, nor do I think with him that the relief operations in that district can be peremptorily stopped with safety. As I have already informed Government, the rates have now been still further reduced to an initial rate of 15 annas per 1,000 cubic feet, and I cannot conceive that the people will continue to take work in large numbers at this rate any longer than they are forced by urgent necessity to do so. I may also mention that, in order to remove the possible expectation of a further grant of valedictory doles, I telegraphed to the Deputy Commissioner on the 30th ultimo to say that no more doles would be allowed (except to persons on the kitchen lists and in the Pokhria Circle, where none have yet been given).

"The latest detailed reports that I have received from the Deputy Commissioner are for Monday, the 27th ultimo. They show that the reduced rate (of 15 annas) was introduced on that date at 8 out of the 36 works. There were then 12,657 persons (=11,412 male units) at work, showing a falling off of 1,234 persons (=1,107 male units) since the 25th idem. The reduced rate was probably in force everywhere by the 29th ultimo, and the opinion to which I still hold is that we must await the further result of this practically starvation wage before deciding on what date all operations can safely be closed. * * * * To my mind the only reliable index to the necessities of the case is whether the people will accept work or not at a lower rate than has probably ever before been known in this district. I am fully aware of the desirability of not continuing relief measures a day longer than absolutely necessary, and of the responsibility I incur of now doing so in opposition to the expressed opinion of the District Officer, but I cannot shut my eyes to stubborn facts. What these during the past month have been is shown by the large attendance, on the reduced rates which have been in force during that month. For the present we can only await the result of the still further reduction. It is possible that, as suggested by Mr. Maguire, the works will have to be kept open until the end of the third week of the current month. If I find that I can close them safely sooner, I will of course do so."

In view of the fact that large numbers have sought employment and remained on the works at the very low rate allowed of 15 annas per 1,000 cubic feet for earthwork, the Lieutenant-Governor cannot any longer doubt that Mr. Forbes was right in keeping them open as he did. As, however, the early rice is now being reaped, relief works are no longer required, and it has been ascertained by telegram they were closed on the 23rd instant

16. PRESIDENCY DIVISION.—Throughout the Presidency Division the rainfall has been sufficient and well distributed, and the prospects of winter rice are excellent, while the outturn of the bhadoi has been generally good. New aus rice has come into the market and prices have fallen. Public health was generally good. Relief operations were closed in the district of Murshidabad on the 31st August, and in Jessore on the 4th September.

Nadia.

In the district of Nadia, famine had practically disappeared at the end of August. Only one relief work was kept open after the beginning of September, and this was closed on the 11th of that month, when the number attending it had dwindled to 25. Except at four poor-houses, gratuitous relief was also closed on that date. It was considered safe not to close the poor-houses until it was certain that the stopping of the doles would not lead to cases of starvation. It was, however, soon found that there was no marked increase in the numbers in the poor-houses, and they were accordingly closed on the 18th September, when the total number of inmates was only 23.

Khulna.

The outturn of the aus and jute has been good, but, as stated in previous reports, these crops are not of much importance in this district. The price of new aus rice is reported to have been 10 to 11 seers the rupee. The importation of Burma rice decreased, but there was no want of food-grains in the affected area, which at the close of the period under report stood at 367 square miles, with a population of 210,000. There were only two relief works open in the beginning of September, and these were not largely attended, and were finally closed at the end of the first fortnight. Gratuitous relief was continued, the average daily number gratuitously relieved in the week ending 25th September being 2,870; this number includes the inmates of six poor-houses which were kept open during the month mentioned On that date the number of inmates of the poor-houses was 46 men, 293 women, and 521 children. Poor-houses were closed on the 30th instant.

17. Bhagalpur Division.—The bhadoi has been a good crop in the Bhagalpur and Sonthal Parganas districts, and the rain which fell in September and in the beginning of October has rendered the prospects of the winter rice secure. Prices have fallen considerably. In Madhipura and Supaul in the district of Bhagulpur, the price of marua on the 25th September was 25 seers the rupee, and the Deputy Commissioner of the Sonthal Parganas, reporting on the 29th idem, says that Indian corn is now selling at 24 seers the rupee at Dumka, 17 to 22 seers at Deoghur, and 14 to 16 seers at Jamtara. Government relief operations had been closed before the beginning of the period now under report commenced; but during the period some relief from the Indian Famine Charitable Relief Fund was given in both districts.

18. Burdwan Division.—With good and general rainfall the prospects of the aman or winter rice in the district of Bankura were good, and the price of common rice fell from 8 seers 8 chittaks the rupee at the end of August to 10 seers 3 chittaks on the 25th September. Gratuitous relief from Government funds was closed in all the affected tracts on the 15th September, but relief works were continued in order to afford employment to needy labourers Relief operations in the Sonamukhi charge, with an area of 141 square miles and a population of 75,489 persons, were closed altogether on the 24th September, and all relief works in the remainder of the district were closed on the 29th idem. There was then still a large number (7,817) of labourers on the works, but a colliery proprietor, Babu Ram Bandhu Chatterji of Kenchka in the Laltora outpost, who had spent over Rs. 5,000 upon works of relief, undertook to spend Rs. 6,000 more (either in cash or its value in rice) in carrying out further works during October and November, and thus rendering it possible for the Collector to close the Government relief works.

19. Orissa Division.—The prospects of winter rice in all the districts of the Orissa Division are good, and prices have fallen. The telegraphic report for the week ending 18th October shows that the prices of common rice in that week were—

Cuttack	...	...	...	13 13	to 15 12	per rupee.
Puri	...	...	...	9 0	to 13 0	„
Balasore	...	...	...	12 0	to 17 0	„
Angul	...	...	...	18 0	to 20 0	„

Puri.

In Puri there was heavy and general rain, and crop prospects are excellent in all parts of the district. Eight relief works which were open in the beginning of the month were closed between the 10th and 13th September. On the 11th September the total number of relief workers was 2,082, but it appears that this comparatively large number was due to unnecessarily high rates of wages paid by the Collector, in spite of orders from the Commissioner and Government to reduce them. On that date the total number on gratuitous relief was 1,354. This form of relief was continued for another week, the number in receipt of doles on the 18th being 582, and was then stopped.

20. RAJSHAHI, DACCA AND CHITTAGONG DIVISIONS.—There is nothing of importance to report with regard to these Divisions. The rainfall has been generally sufficient, and prospects of winter rice are good.

21. General remarks by the Lieutenant-Governor on administration of famine relief in Bengal, Bihar and Orissa.—As famine relief operations are now everywhere closed, the Government of Bengal does not propose, unless the Government of India direct otherwise, to submit any more monthly reports. All the final reports reviewing famine operations for their several Divisions are not expected from Commissioners before the end of the current calendar year, so that the final Provincial Report cannot in all probability be submitted to the Government of India before the end of January next.

By that time Mr. Stevens will have relinquished charge of the administration of these Provinces to the permanent Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Alexander Mackenzie. He therefore deems it his duty to say here that, as Member of the Board of Revenue, he had no share in initiating the administration of famine relief by Government, which, under the Famine Code, lies outside of the Board's functions. The organisation was full and complete and the greater part of the work had been done when he assumed charge of the administration. He has at the same time had exceptional opportunities of forming an unbiassed judgment both before and after he assumed charge of the office of Lieutenant-Governor; and he has no hesitation in recording his emphatic and decided opinion, that the administration of famine relief in these Provinces has been eminently successful. In operations of such vast extent, and with an agency hurriedly got together to meet a widespread calamity of the kind, it was inevitable that mistakes should be made, but, in Mr. Stevens' opinion, the mistakes made in the operations now brought to a close have been wonderfully few, and such as there have been were promptly rectified by the controlling authorities.

If the perfection of famine relief administration consists, as His Honour thinks it does, in saving life at a minimum of cost to the State, without demoralisation of the people, and without rendering them unwilling or unable to resume their normal occupations on the earliest advent of favourable seasons, Mr. Stevens believes that it has been attained in a high degree in the operations now brought to a close.

In paragraph 14 above the Lieutenant-Governor has specially recorded his high appreciation of the services rendered by the Commissioner of the Patna Division and of the officers who served under him, because it was in that Division that the calamity now tided over was most severely felt, and it was there that the strain of labour and anxiety was greatest; but His Honour desires me to say that the remarks made in that paragraph apply likewise to the other Commissioners and Collectors of districts in which relief operations were undertaken and to their subordinates, and that they too are entitled to the cordial thanks of Government for the ability, zeal and devotion with which they have performed their anxious duties in their respective charges. Sir Alexander Mackenzie, having laid down the general policy and plan of operations to be followed in meeting distress, left the execution in details largely to local officers, who reported progress in full fortnightly to Government. Their reports were carefully scrutinised by Government; when necessary attention was promptly called to defects, and instructions were issued to meet various contingencies as they arose.

Much reliance, however, was necessarily placed on the local officers, since it is obviously impossible that the central authority of a Province can adequately direct all the details of operations at once so vast and so minute as those of general famine relief. Under such circumstances, it is inevitable that some allowances must be made for the idiosyncrasies of individual officers. Making such allowances the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the results have conclusively established the wisdom of the policy adopted by the Government. Zamindars and persons of wealth and influence in nearly all of the affected districts have been conspicuous by their charity and by their active co-operation with Government in meeting distress.

The amount imported from Burma was 77,460 cwts., and that from the Straits Settlements 19,295 cwts., both against nil in the corresponding period of last year. Imports of paddy fell from 19,910 cwts. to 3,298 cwts. owing to the receipt of smaller consignments from Chandbali and Balasore. The decrease under the head of gram and pulses amounted to 8,031 cwts., the amount imported from Cocanada and Madras, being 3,452 cwts. against 10,017 cwts., while 185 cwts. were received from the Straits Settlements, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896.

Exports.—In the following statement the total quantity of each kind of food-grain exported by sea during the second week of October 1897 is compared with that for the corresponding period of 1896 :—

Foreign ports.

The exports of rice from Calcutta to foreign ports rose from 45,900 cwts. in the second week of October 1896 to 58,306 cwts. in the period under report. The port of Mauritius is credited with 28,957 cwts., against nil in the week ending 14th October 1896, but there were no exports to Natal and Muscat, which took 9,617 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The despatches to Ceylon showed a decrease of 14,717 cwts., and those to the United Kingdom an increase of 10,244 cwts. The exports of gram and pulses rose from 1,731 cwts. to 10,232 cwts., and those of miscellaneous food-grains from 162 cwts. to 1,137 cwts. owing chiefly to larger shipments to Mauritius.

Indian ports.

As regards Indian ports, the exports of rice during the second week of October 1897 amounted to only 116 cwts., against 9,240 cwts. in the corresponding period of last year. The decline was chiefly due to the absence in 1897 of shipments to Bombay, to which place 8,219 cwts. were exported during the week ending 14th October 1896. The exports of gram and pulse declined from 9,194 cwts. to 2,744 cwts., the decrease being due to the cessation of exports to Bombay and to a decline in the quantities sent to Madras and Rangoon.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The total imports of rice into Chittagong during the two weeks under report amounted to 2,773 cwts., the whole of which came from Burma, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896. Owing to larger receipts of wheat, gram and pulse and other food-grains from Calcutta, the import trade of the Balasore ports improved by 339 cwts., and the remarkable decline of 64,203 cwts., in the export trade of those ports was due to smaller despatches of rice, paddy, and gram and pulse to Calcutta; however 1,011 cwts. of rice, were despatched to Mauritius, against nil in the corresponding period of 1896. Colombo, Mauritius and Galle, which received 28,845 cwts. of rice from False Point and Puri during the two weeks ending 14th October 1896, imported nothing from those ports in the corresponding period of 1897.

Detailed statements showing the sources of supply and the places of destination, both as regards Foreign and Indian ports, are given below:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h., 10h., 16h., and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF REVENUE ON THE LAND REVENUE ADMINISTRATION OF THE LOWER PROVINCES FOR THE YEAR 1896-97.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT,—LAND REVENUE.

Darjeeling, the 1st November 1897.

READ—

The Report of the Board of Revenue on the Land Revenue Administration of the Lower Provinces for the year 1896-97.

The Report was due to Government on the 15th August 1897, but was submitted on the 2nd September. The delay is due partly to the non-receipt of complete Returns from the district of Patna, and partly to the extra work thrown on the Collectors of North Bihar and Shahabad by famine relief operations.

Collection of the Land Revenue.

2. Financial results.—The current demand of the Land Revenue in Bengal for the past five years is shown in the following comparative table:—

Class of Estates.	1892-93.	1893-94.	1894-95.	1895-96.	1896-97.
1	2	3	4	5	6
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
I. Permanently-settled estates.	3,22,63,793	3,22,65,896	3,22,61,833	3,22,82,525	3,23,02,286
II. Temporarily-settled estates.	27,10,912	28,10,713	28,21,520	28,35,046	28,94,880
III. Estates held direct by Government.	33,97,627	34,08,777	34,84,498	35,25,890	35,55,897
Total ...	3,83,72,332	3,84,85,386	3,85,67,851	3,86,43,461	3,87,53,063

The total current demand shows an increase of Rs. 1,09,602. There wa an increase in all three classes of estates, the largest being in class II and mainly due to new settlements and resettlements of land in the Sunderbans and of tea estates in Jalpaiguri. The increase in class III is caused by new settlements, resettlements and revision of khas mahal rent-rolls in the districts of the Chittagong Division, as well as to the re-adjustment of the accounts of the Panchannogram Estate in the 24-Parganas.

3. The demands, collections and balances of Land Revenue for the same period of five years are shown below:—

4. Collections, balances, and remissions.—While the current demand shows an increase of Rs. 1,09,602 over that of the previous year, there was a decrease of Rs. 87,510 in the current collections. The percentage of current collections on current demand decreased slightly from 97·23 in 1895-96 to 96·73, but was still higher than in any other year of the quinquennial period. The decrease was mainly in Government estates, and was due to the bad harvests. The arrear collections amounted to Rs. 9,96,831, representing 76·55 per cent. of the arrear demand (Rs. 13,02,152), against 78·55 in the previous year. The arrear balances have fallen from Rs. 2,10,620 to Rs. 1,85,644. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that the results of the year are, on the whole, very satisfactory, considering the abnormally deficient harvests.

As the Board remark, the punctuality shown in the payment of Government revenue during the year in spite of general shortness, and in extensive areas almost total failure of crops, is a satisfactory indication of large reserve resources in these Provinces.

The total amount of Land Revenue remitted during the year was Rs. 1,73,202, Rs. 1,62,239 of which was due from estates held direct by Government. The remissions of grace amounted to Rs. 88,151, and were chiefly granted in the districts of Midnapore (Rs. 50,352), the 24-Parganas (Rs. 17,362), Shahabad (Rs. (6,328), Cuttack (Rs. 6,109) and Backergunge (Rs. 3,741), to the tenants of Government estates on account of failure of crops and poverty of some of the raiyats. The remissions of right amounted to Rs. 38,603. Rupees 12,926 were remitted in Puri mostly on account of loss of crops, but this sum is shown under remissions of right partly because in some cases the leases provide that remissions are to be granted for loss of crops. The nominal remissions amounted to Rs. 46,448, the largest, amounting to Rs. 33,612, having been granted in Gaya. The amount of remissions and suspensions of revenue found to be necessary was remarkably small.

5. Permanently-settled estates.— The total demand, current and arrear, from estates in class I was Rs. 3,26,99,161, of which Rs. 3,23,82,148 were collected. The percentage of the collections on the demand, after excluding from the demand sums the recovery of which was in suspense, and adding to the collections sums realised but not credited during the year, was 99·21 per cent. as against 98·91 in the preceding year and 98·32 in 1894-95. The current collections fell short of the standard of 99 per cent. in 13 districts, but 7 of these collected more than 98 per cent. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that collections in Purnea show much improvement, the percentage of current collections during the year being 99·94 per cent. as against 97·57 in 1895-96. The collections in Saran and Muzaffarpur (98 20 and 97·68 per cent.) were good, considering that those districts suffered severely from famine. The districts which collected less than 98 per cent. of the current demand were Muzaffarpur, Lohardaga, Shahabad, Palamau, Puri and Darjeeling. In Darjeeling the demand is fictitious ; a sum of Rs. 474 was as usual remitted, leaving no balance. In Puri the collection of the balance of Rs. 1,456 was suspended, with the sanction of the Board, owing to the loss of crops by flood and drought. In Palamau, out of a balance of Rs. 2,392, due from certain jagirdari tenures, which have recently been raised to the status of estates, Rs. 765 have been realised since the close of the year, certificates have been filed for sums of Rs. 5 and upwards, and the remainder is in course of realisation. The balance in Muzaffarpur amounted to Rs. 22,204, of which Rs. 7,665 were collected during the year, but could not be credited into the treasury before its close, and Rs. 1,763 have been since realised. In Shahabad, the percentage of current collections was 91·79, against 96·09 and 86·76 in the two preceding years. In parts of this district, also, the rice harvest failed, but the failure was not so complete or widespread as to justify the heavy outstanding balances in it.

In 13 districts less than 99 per cent. were realised on the arrear balances. Among these, the collections in Noakhali exceeded 98 per cent., and the arrears in the 24-Parganas, Dacca, Mymensingh, Faridpur, Patna, Bhagalpur and Darbhanga were each less than Rs. 1,000. The whole of the arrears in Backergunge were remitted. The arrear collections in Muzaffarpur were good considering the circumstances of the year. The Lieutenant-Governor trusts that, as the prospects of the crops are now excellent, the arrear balances in that district, and in Shahabad, Saran and Champaran, which are reported to be in process of realization, will be collected in the course of the current year.

The total amount due from Wards' estates at the close of the year was Rs. 7,192 as against Rs. 12,243 in 1895-96 and Rs. 7,579 in 1894-95. The largest amounts were due from estates in Muzaffarpur, Shahabad and Midnapore, but are all satisfactorily explained. In Muzaffarpur Rs. 1,763 out of a balance of Rs. 2,393 has been realised since the close of the year, and steps have been taken for the recovery of the remainder. The sum of Rs. 1,989 outstanding in Shahabad was due from the Mahula Ward's estate, the manager of which has been called upon to pay the amount due. In Midnapore the sum of Rs. 1,674 remained due from the Malighati estate for want of sufficient funds. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe the increased punctuality in the payment of Government revenue by Wards' estates.

6. Temporarily-settled estates.—The estates in class II are temporarily-settled estates consisting of (a) estates settled for certain periods with the proprietors, (b) private estates leased to farmers for certain periods, and (c) Government estates leased to farmers for certain periods. The total demand, current and arrear, of these estates amounted to Rs. 31,31,078 against Rs. 31,11,110, and the total collections to Rs. 28,51,637 against Rs. 29,03,555 in 1895-96. The percentage of total collections on the total demand was 91·08 against 93·32 in the previous year and 91·06 in 1894-95. The table below shows the results of collections in each subdivision of this class for the year under report as well as for the preceding year:—

1	2	3	4	5
	1896-97	94·99	81·84	94 38
(b)
	1896-97	81·73	90·51	83·44
(c)
Government estates leased to farmers for periods.	1895-96	83 51	71·56	81·75
	1896-97	82 62	75·18	81·48
Total ...	1895-96	94·15	84·85	93·32
	1896-97	92·01	79·67	91·08

The current and arrear collections in class II (b) show some improvement, but the results are poorer than in the preceding year in all respects for classes II (a) and II (c), except as regards the arrear collections in class II (c). The standard prescribed for collections of all three sub-classes is 95 per cent. This was reached or exceeded in 17 districts, and of these 7, namely, Birbhum, Rajshahi, Jalpaiguri, Darjeeling, Chittagong, Sonthal Parganas and Manbhum, realised the demand in full. In respect of private estates leased to farmers, the current collections were exceedingly bad in Burdwan, Hooghly, Dacca, Faridpur, Gaya and Muzaffarpur, being less than 30 per cent. of the current demand in all these districts, except in Dacca, where they were 48·40 per cent. The percentage was so low as 12·17 in Muzaffarpur, 15·83 in Faridpur and 18·50 in Hooghly. The results of the collections of the Government estates leased to farmers in these districts were also decidedly bad. The amounts due from estates of this class are, it is true, not very large, but this is no excuse for want of punctuality in payment of them. The Lieutenant-Governor desires again to call the special attention of the Board to this matter. As remarked in last year's Resolution, the farming system ceases to have any merits whatever, if it fails to secure the punctual realisation of revenue. Steps should therefore be taken to cancel the leases of farmers who habitually default.

7. Estates held direct.—The estates in class III are held direct by Government and include (a) estates managed by Government for proprietors, and (b) estates owned by Government as proprietor. During the year under report there were altogether 2,653 estates held direct by Government, of which 2,411 were Government estates and 242 were private estates managed by Government. Though the total number of estates decreased from 2,833 to 2,653, the current demand increased from Rs. 35,25,890 to Rs. 35,55,897, and the total demand from Rs. 41,68,987 to Rs. 42,24,976. The total collections, however, fell off from Rs. 34,41,669 to Rs. 32,49,152, that is, from 82·55 to 76·90 per cent. An unrealised balance of Rs. 8,13,585 was left after remissions to the extent of Rs. 1,62,239 as against Rs. 6,44,462 in the previous year, showing an increase of Rs. 1,69,123. The percentage of current collections on the current demand was 79 34 against 85·01 in 1895-96 and 85·74 in 1894-95.

The following statement compares the results with those of the previous year in each subdivision of this class:—

Classification of Estates.	Years.	Percentage of current collections on current demand.	Percentage of arrear collections on arrear demand.	Percentage of total collections on total demand.
1	2	3	4	5
(a) Managed for proprietors ...	1895-96	67·28	66·62	67·07
	1896-97	80 27	53·29	72·12
(b) Owned by Government as proprietor	1895-96	89·29	70·87	86 35
	1896-97	79·12	69 24	77·91
	1896-97	79·34	63·92	76 90

There was an improvement in current collections in estates managed for proprietors, but current and arrear collections in Government estates and arrear collections in both classes of estates show a falling off. These results are due to the bad harvest. The standard of 90 per cent. for current collections in both classes was reached or exceeded in 12 districts, while in five other districts it was reached or exceeded in one class of estates only. The results were exceedingly poor in Muzaffarpur, where the percentage of current collections on the current demand was only 21·99 in the estates managed for proprietors, and so low as 2·52 in the Government estates. It is stated that in the principal estate the raiyats have combined to refuse payment in order to resist the assessment of fair rent in the settlement proceedings, while in the second estate the balance is due to an over-assessment of the bhaoli lands which had to be revised after the close of the year. In Midnapore there was a considerable and most satisfactory improvement, 79·52 per cent. of the current demand having been collected in estates managed for proprietors and 73·49 per cent. in Government estates as against 49·11 and 71·13 per cent. respectively in the previous year. In Jalpaiguri only 50·73 per cent. of the current demand in Government estates was collected against 87·32 in 1895-96, leaving a balance of Rs. 1,84,406, out of which Rs. 43,159 has been realised since the close of the year. The current collections in these estates were between 41·52 and 59·90 per cent. in Murshidabad, Jessore, Khulna, Shahabad, Balasore and Palamau. Having regard to the depressed condition of the raiyats owing to short crops, the Lieutenant-Governor considers the results on the whole to be very satisfactory, and has no doubt that the outstanding balances will be very materially reduced during the current year.

8. Sale of Government lands.—Out of 941 petty Government estates which it was, in 1894-95, decided to sell, 29 were sold in that year and 451 in 1895-96 at a revenue fixed in perpetuity equal to the annual rental. In addition to these, 48 estates were sold during the year under report with an area of 1,489 acres and an annual rental of Rs. 3,592. The price realised was Rs. 32,713, or more than nine times the annual rental.

9. Particulars of estates held direct.—As has been stated already, there were 2,653 estates held direct by Government, against 2,833 in the previous year Of these, 2,411 were Government estates and 242 private estates managed by Government. The following statement exhibits the number of these estates by Divisions, the demands, cost of management, and total collections during the year:—

Division.	Government Estates		Private Estates.		Total.		Cost of management.	Percentage of cost on current demand.	Current collections.	Percentage of current collections on current demand.

In ten districts, namely, Birbhum, Darjeeling, Bogra, Pabna, Noakhali, Chittagong, Patna, Gaya, Shahabad and Darbhanga, against eight in the previous year, the cost of management exceeded 10 per cent. on the current demand. The Board have carefully scrutinized the establishments, and are doing all that is possible to reduce their cost to the minimum consistent with efficiency.

10. Road and Public Works Cesses.—As requested by Government in last year's Resolution, the Board have submitted a brief summary of the Road and Public Works Cess operations. The subjoined statement shows the figures of the year under report, as compared with those of the two preceding years.

Year.	Net demand after excluding reductions and remissions.			Collections (including advance collections).	Percentage of collections on current demand.	Balances.	Percentage of balances on gross demand	Remissions.
	Current.	Arrear.	Total.
1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.		Rs.		Rs.
1894-95 ...	83,21,903	14,58,413	97,80,406	82,58 755	99·2	15,17.286	15·5	27,571
1895-96 ...	84,88,612	14,80,123	99,68,735	82,58 761	97·2	17,27,671	17·3	84,869
1896-97 ...	86,61,682	17,24,415	1,03,86,097	86,16,072	99·4	17,91,676	17·2	63,283

There has been an increase of Rs. 3,39,689 in the current demand in two years, due chiefly to the revaluation of the district of Darbhanga and the partial revaluation of the districts of Jalpaiguri, Rangpur, Patna, Backergunge and Monghyr. Both the cesses were levied at the maximum rate of one anna in the rupee in the 13 districts in which Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 is in force: 99·4 per cent. of the current demand were realised during the year under report, as against 97·2 in the previous year. The percentage of balances on the gross demand shows a slight reduction from 17·3 to 17·2. It is satisfactory that the total collections and the percentage of collections on the current demand were higher than in the two preceding years.

11. Revenue and rent money-orders.—The number of money-orders for the payment of revenue and cess increased from 188,019 to 189,366, and the amount covered by them from Rs. 17,17,084 to Rs. 17,21,882. The average value of each order was Rs. 9-1 5, against Rs. 9-2 in the previous year.

The system of payment of rent by money-orders is in force throughout the Lower Provinces, except in the districts of Cuttack and Balasore and in the Chota Nagpur Division. The number of payments by money-order and the amounts remitted by them are gradually though slowly increasing. Revised rules of the Postal Department relating to these money-orders were published in the Calcutta Gazette during the year.

The following table gives the available statistics of the working of the system since 1st July 1891:—

Year.	Number of money-orders issued for rent.	Amount.	Number of such orders refused.	Amount.

1896-97	20,272	1,114	492	1	1,607	7·9	2,00,650	85,003	9,59,406

Out of 20,272 estates, shares and interests which became liable to sale for non-payment of revenue, 1,607, or only 7·9 per cent., were actually sold as against 9·3 per cent. in 1895-96. The amount realised by sale was 4·9 times the revenue demand on the properties sold. Two hundred and sixty-eight appeals against sales were made to the Commissioners, by whom 78 sales were annulled. Recommendations for the annulment of sales were made to Government in 25 cases on the ground of hardship. The Board remark and the Lieutenant-Governor agrees that the law was administered with moderation and leniency.

Defaults were most numerous in Shahabad (4,817), Patna (1,358), Muzaffarpur (1,221), Mymensingh (1,220), Saran (1,102) and Cuttack (1,049). Shahabad again had the largest number of defaults, larger even than in the previous year when the number was 3,330; the proportion of sales to defaults was again very low, being 1·5 per cent., the same as in 1895-96. The increase in defaults is attributed by the Commissioner to the bad harvest, but the Board consider that the law has been worked with undue leniency in this district, and that its Tauzi Department demands the closest attention of the local officers; the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board. Regarding the Patna Division as a whole, the Commissioner thinks that the leniency shown may be one of the causes of the large number of defaults, but that a change of policy cannot be carried out without hardship. No doubt the year under report was not a fitting one for the rigid enforcement of the sale law in the Patna Division, but in ordinary years there is no excuse for unpunctual payment of revenue in that Division, where revenue is so low compared with rents. In the realisation of revenue as in that of rent, if the demand is fair and moderate, unnecessary leniency in the realisation of it is in the opinion of Government misplaced kindness. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to observe that in Midnapore, where vigorous measures were taken in 1895-96 to enforce punctuality, the number of defaults has fallen from 1,298 to 455. The numbers have, however, increased in all other districts, except the 24-Parganas and Gaya. The proportion of sales to defaults was largest in Backergunge, where it was 40 as against 18·1 in the previous year; the increase was due to the sale procedure of Act VII (B.C.) of 1868 being applied to tenures. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice that the repeated orders of Government enjoining that the sales for one kist should be effected before the date of the next were not carried out in many districts. In Patna and Burdwan no sale took place after the March kist till February and January 1897, respectively. There was also very great delay in Shahabad, Saran, Champaran, Bhagalpur, Purnea, Chittagong, Cuttack and Balasore, which is generally attributed to the difficulty felt in preparing the acounts according to the new tauzi system. The Board do not accept this explanation as sufficient; as they remark, the rules of the Tauzi Manual have been in force for two years and are working smoothly in most districts, and there need be no more difficulty in following them in some districts than in others. His Honour agrees with the Board, and trusts that the great delays observed will not be allowed to recur. A Special Deputy Collector, Babu Bhupati Chakravarti, was appointed to audit the district accounts. He completed the audit of accounts in three districts within the year, and in four more after the 1st April, but no material defects have been detected.

13. Working of the Public Demands Recovery Act I (B.C.) of 1895.—The Certificate Act, I of 1895, was amended by Act I (B.C.) of 1897, which came into force on the 31st of March 1897.

The annexed statement shows the number of certificate cases instituted and disposed of during the year under the different classes of demands.

NOTE.—The number of cases shown in column 2 as pending from the previous year does not correspond with the number in column 5 of that year's report, owing to alterations found necessary since the submission of that report.

There was an increase of 48,633 in the number of certificates filed, the increase being most marked under class V, "Cesses" (104,822 as against 66,984) and class VII, "All other demands" (32,815 as against 20,377). The increase is due to (1) certificates being filed during the year under report for the arrears of 1895-96, when the preparation of the arrear lists was delayed by the introduction of the new tauzi system; 2) the improved working of the Arrear Collection Department, and greater regularity in filing certificates after each kist; and (3) the issue of orders by the Board that certificates for petty arrears should not be deferred until they are about to be barred by limitation, but should be filed after the March kist, in each year, whatever their amount. The percentage of certificates disposed of to the total number for disposal shows a decrease, being 66·3 against 69·0 of the previous year. This is said to be due to the large number of institutions towards the close of the year. The Burdwan Division shows the lowest proportion of disposals, namely, 54 per cent., a fact which is attributed chiefly to bad work in the Certificate Department in Hooghly, where, out of 13,193 certificates, only 4,729 or 35 per cent. were disposed of. In Burdwan, out of 5,749 cases, only 2,494 were disposed of, or considerably less than one-half.

The results in this Division are equally unsatisfactory as regards the duration of pending cases; 48 per cent. were pending more than six months, while in no other Division was the percentage higher than 26 per cent. In Bankura over 79 per cent. of the cases had been pending for over six months at the end of the year. These results are attributed to the scarcity and consequent leniency in realising advances, but scarcity was less in Burdwan than elsewhere. The Lieutenant-Governor desires to draw the serious attention of the local officers to the bad state of the certificate work in this Division.

Mr. Stevens is glad to notice that there has been a further decrease in the certificates filed on account of water-rate, which is no doubt due to an improvement in the working of the Irrigation Department. The figures given below show the institutions in the Orissa, Patna and Burdwan Divisions during the year under report, as compared with the two preceding years:—

	Filed in 1894-95.	Filed in 1895-96.	Filed in 1896-97.
Districts of the Orissa Division	5,683	2,497	1,989
Ditto Patna ditto	2,506	1,253	1,111
Ditto Burdwan ditto	651	410	657
Total ...	8,840	4,160	3,757

The number of certificates filed for the realisation of embankment dues decreased from 7,022 to 4,533, the fluctuations being most marked in Midnapore with an increase of 695, and in Muzaffarpur and Darbhanga with a decrease of 1,745 and 1,337 respectively. The certificates filed for recovery of cesses rose by 37,838. The institutions exceeded 5,000, in Hooghly (7,839), Midnapore (5,073), Gaya (13,081), Shahabad (6,404), Saran (8,954), Muzaffarpur (5,383) and Darbhanga (6,171). The number of certificates filed for the recovery of demands of the Court of Wards rose from 8,613 to 8,999, showing an increase of 386. The number of cases in which demands were paid upon mere service of notice showed a satisfactory increase from 35,585 to 50,542; this number was 21·5 per cent. of the whole number of cases filed, but the Board show that in 1882-83 the proportion was so high as 31·5 per cent., and they observe that the effect of the preliminary notice tends to become weaker. The figures given in paragraph 60 of their report do not, however, appear to fully warrant that conclusion.

14. Compulsory measures for realisation.—The number of cases in which it was found necessary actually to sell property rose from 3,266 to 4,814, the increase being most marked in the Dacca (905 as against 314) and the Patna Divisions (1,917 as against 1,179). The Collector of Backergunge reports that the provisions of section 19 of Act I (B.C.) of 1895 have been largely taken advantage of by judgment-debtors and have rendered certificate sales unpopular. He writes:—

"It was always difficult to induce people to attend such sales, and in many cases an attempt at realisation by such a procedure had to be given up for want of bids and bidders. People argue that estates sold go back to their owners within 30 days, and they have to spend money and to hang about the Courts to receive back purchase-money paid by them."

The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board in the opinion that it is too early to pronounce a judgment on the working of that section.

The number of persons imprisoned for non-payment of public demands decreased from 58 to 37, and the number of persons released without payment of the debt from 40 to 27. The number of persons imprisoned for non-payment of Government demands proper (i.e., exclusive of amounts due to wards' estates, cesses, &c.) was 21 against 9 in the preceding year. In 7 cases only was the debt realised. In the Presidency Division the Commissioner has advised Collectors that in cases of fraudulent transfer or concealment of property by defaulters it should be considered whether, instead of being imprisoned in the civil jail, they should not be prosecuted under section 206 of the Indian Penal Code.

Administration of Land Revenue.

15. Management of Government Estates.—In Government estates a grant of one per cent. of collections is made for education and is administered by the Director of Public Instruction; and a grant of 1½ per cent. for communications is administered by District Boards; 9½ per cent. of the collections is allotted to (a) management proper, (b) sanitary improvements and (c) agricultural and miscellaneous improvements; this latter grant amounted to Rs. 4,20,000 during the year under report, and the expenditure against it is shown below:—

	Allotment, 1896-97.	Expenditure, 1896-97.	Allotment, 1895-96.	Expenditure, 1895-96.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Grant for (a) management proper, (b) sanitary improvements, and (c) miscellaneous and agricultural improvements.	4,20,000	2,36,646(a) 35,633(b) 1,11,236(c)	4,12,600	2,33,668(a) 53,989(b) 1,06,895(c)
Total ...	4,20,000	3,83,515	4,12,600	3,94,552

The Lieutenant-Governor again observes that the allotments made were not fully utilised, and that even less use was made of them than in the previous year. Deducting Rs. 2,36,646 from the grants of Rs. 4,20,000 on account of the costs of management, Rs. 1,83,354 was left available for miscellaneous and sanitary improvements, out of which the Board made allotments for the purpose which ultimately amounted to Rs. 1,63,889. The amount expended, however, was only Rs. 1,46,869. The Board remark that it is not possible to ensure full advantage being taken of the grants throughout the province, as allotments are made to divisions and in some cases they are exceeded, and in others are not fully spent, so that they have subsequently to be adjusted by transfers. The Lieutenant-Governor does not think that this explanation is sufficient. When allotments are made to particular District Officers which they do not require or are unable to spend, they should at once inform the Board of the fact, so that the surplus over and above their requirements may be transferred to other districts. It is reported for example that in the Rajshahi Division Rs. 12,739 and in the Patna Division Rs. 6,453 were left unspent, and no explanation is given; and it seems that there ought to have been no difficulty in a year of distress in spending these or larger sums in suitable improvements.

The Board have given details, as requested in last year's Resolution, of the administration of the grants for education and maintenance of roads. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Board in thinking that the allotment for education, which is chiefly spent in grants-in-aid to schools on or near Government estates, is properly spent for the advantage of the tenants. The Board, however, remark that there is a want of personal interest in the administration of this grant among District Officers. As regards the grant of 1½ per cent. for communications made over to District Boards the Board have had some difficulty in ascertaining whether any return is made for the money in the shape of special works on the Government estates, and in distinguishing between the expenditure on roads made from the 1½ per cent. grant and that made from the grants for miscellaneous sanitary and agricultural improvements.

The Board intend to request Commissioners to distinguish more clearly between these classes of expenditure in future. His Honour trusts that Collectors will see in future that the sums allotted are spent with due regard to the purpose for which they are allotted.

16. Inspection of accounts.—Among the Commissioners, Messrs. Westmacott, Nolan and Oldham, and among the Collectors, Messrs. Shirres, Beatson Bell, Inglis and Savage made the largest number of inspections of the registers and accounts of the Government estates. No material irregularities or discrepancies were brought to light except at Kalimpong, where it was found that the manager had been in the habit of realising money from raiyats in commutation of service without crediting it in any form capable of check. The matter is under enquiry. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that the Board have issued a revised set of rules for the management of Government estates, drafted by Mr. Westmacott, which it is hoped will conduce to their more efficient administration.

17. Condition of the raiyats.—The condition of the raiyats in the Government estates was generally less satisfactory than in ordinary years owing to the failure of the crops. In Birbhum and Midnapore the tenants of Government are said to be better off than those of private zamindars. In the 24-Parganas the raiyats suffered from successive failures of crops in the last four years, and large remissions of rent had to be made. In Tippera the raiyats were compensated to some extent for the poor outturn of grain by the high prices they obtained for their jute and for any surplus of paddy that they could spare for sale. In Monghyr and Purnea the raiyats are said to have been generally well off. In Cuttack, Balasore and Puri the poorer classes suffered considerably from loss of crops by floods and drought. They suffered also from failure of crops in the Chota Nagpur Division and in the Shahabad, Saran, Darbhanga, and Muzaffarpur districts.

18. Survey and settlements.—The survey and settlement work in Bengal for the survey year ending the 30th September 1896 was reviewed at length in the Government Resolution No. 1207, dated the 18th March 1897, and, as usual, only the principal figures of the financial year under review are reproduced in this Resolution. The annexed table exhibits the progress made in the settlement of Government and temporarily-settled and private estates under the control of the Director of Land Records during the year.

The current settlement of the Majnamutha and Jalamutha temporarily-settled estates in Midnapore will expire in the year 1900, and a test survey was held during the year in order to determine whether, instead of incurring the expense of a complete survey and record of rights with a settlement of rents, it would not be sufficient to make a revision survey and a correction of the records, with perhaps some readjustment of rents. As a result of this survey, the Board have recommended a resurvey of the estates and a revision of rents where necessary; and this recommendation has been approved by Government.

Mr. Craven completed during the year the settlement of the Kolhan Government Estate in Singhbhum, the only work remaining to be done at the end of the year being the issue of the pattas and of copies of the record of rights. A considerable increase of rent is reported to have been obtained by the settlement, but the amount has not been definitely ascertained. In the Palāmau Government Estate the settlement of rents was completed, the existing rents having increased from Rs. 57,070 to Rs. 74,482, or by 30 per cent. An additional assessment of Rs. 3,296 has been made on mahua trees and a temporary settlement for one year of Rs. 10,070 on palas and kusum lac-bearing trees. Collections have been made amounting to 70 per cent. of the new demand, but the realisation of the balance has been retarded by the failure of crops.

As regards the ghatwali lands in Bankura, which are being resumed and settled, up to the close of the year rents had been settled for 67 square miles, and the measurement of a further area of 181 square miles had been completed.

The following table shows the progress made in smaller settlements under the Bengal Tenancy Act under the supervision of the Commissioners of Divisions:—

In the forecast of increases of revenue expected from revision of settlement and other causes, a total increase of Rs. 1,54,039 was anticipated, but the actual increase obtained was Rs. 1,09,602 against an increase of Rs. 75,610 in the previous year.

The Board report that several instances have come to their notice during the past year of settlements having been seriously delayed by the want of supervision on the part of the District Officer and by the inexperience of the Settlement Officer, and in other cases mistakes made in previous years have delayed the conclusion of settlements; but they believe that both District and Settlement Officers are paying greater attention to settlement work than they have hitherto done. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that District Officers and Commissioners will continue to give sustained attention to this subject. Avoidable delay in completing settlements not only adds to the cost of them, but deprives the State for some time of that increase of revenue to which it may be entitled on the expiration of the term of an existing settlement.

The percentage of mutations on initial registrations shows an increase from 6·9 to 7·3 per cent. This is reported to be due partly to the measures to secure registration taken by District Officers, who were prompted thereto by special causes, such as settlement and revaluation proceedings. In last year's Resolution it was pointed out that if 6 per cent. of the interests registered change hands in a year, it would follow that all proprietary interests pass into fresh hands by succession and transfer in the course of 16 or 17 years. The Board's attention was specially invited to this subject and they were asked to report what these percentages really represented. The Board have consulted the Commissioners and are of opinion that no accurate conclusion can be based upon these percentages as to the number of years in which a proprietary interest changes hands. In some cases the number of interests has increased greatly since the initial registration, while in others interests were incorrectly recorded at first, and the mistakes have been brought to light by cess revaluation proceedings. As regards the number of applications, it is pointed out that many are either unsuccessful or are for the subdivision of interests. The Lieutenant-Governor awaits the special report promised by the Board on this subject.
